By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Four thousand U.S. paratroopers from the 82nd Airborne Division have arrived in Vietnam to bolster allied defenses against new Communist attacks and pressure, the American Command announced today.

Part of the 10,500

The new arrivals, the 82nd's 3rd Brigade, are part of the 10,500 men President Johnson ordered from the United States two weeks ago in response to Gen. William C. Westmoreland's urgent request because of North Vietnamese pressure on Khe Sanh and the prospect of new Communist attacks on South Vietnam's cities and towns.

The brigade of paratroopers raised U.S. troop strength in Vietnam to an estimated 504,000, still 21,000 short of the 525,000-man ceiling now planned. But Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, left Saigon Sunday with a request from Westmoreland that Johnson raise that ceiling.

Eighty per cent of the 4,000 paratroopers are veterans of at least one tour of combat duty in Vietnam. They have been assigned, at least temporarily, to the U.S. Americal Division, a grouping of infantry brigades and other units that is responsible for a 100-mile stretch of coastal lowlands south of Da Nang.

Will Free Another 4,000

The infusion of the paratroopers into the Amercal Division will free another brigade of 4,000 men from the division for duty closer to the critical northern frontier, where the U.S. Command believes it faces its strongest potential pressure, particularly at Khe Sanh. An estimated 40,000 North Vietnamese troops are menacing Khe Sanh, the big Marine fortress in the northwest corner of the country.

Along with the constant threat to Khe Sanh and the other U.S. Marine posts along the northern frontier, fear of another big Viet Cong drive into Saigon grew today as Communist gunners shelled the nearby Bien Hoa air base and other military targets around the South Vietnamese capital.

Planes and helicopters criss-crossed the night sky over Saigon and flares lighted the outskirts.

Forty rounds of 122mm rockets streaked into the big allied base at Bien Hoa, 15 miles north of Saigon, before dawn. More Communist shells hit the headquarters of a U.S. Special Forces unit, and 25 rounds of 82mm mortars hit a South Vietnamese army unit.

The U.S. Command said casualties and damages were light, but AP photographer Al Chang, after a tour of the base, reported one rocket made a direct hit on a sandbagged bunker and killed all 12 Americans inside.

Saigon's Ton Son Nhut air base took two enemy rounds during the night in the general flurry of shelling around the capital, but no casualties were reported there and damage was negligible.

Five miles northeast of Saigon, 30 mortar rounds hit the South Vietnamese military school at Thu Duc, killing one man and wounding 10 others, Vietnamese headquarters said.

The Communists also unleashed a 45-minute rocket and automatic weapons barrage on a compound of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division 25 miles southwest of Saigon. Four infantrymen were killed and nine were wounded, the U.S. Command said, but damage to facilities was minor.

A unit of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division clashed with a Communist force of unknown size eight miles north of Saigon Tuesday and reported that five Communists and five Americans were killed, while 20 U.S. infantrymen were wounded.

S. Viet Lacking On Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have been sharply disappointed by South Vietnam's failure to launch fast follow-up attacks on Communist forces weakened by severe losses during their offensive against South Vietnamese cities.

The Viet Cong, according to all the information available here, is now working through much of the countryside of South Vietnam to press new recruits into service and to train and reorganize units for further offensive operations. For the time being they are considered vulnerable to vigorous military action by South Vietnamese forces.

Publicly, Johnson administration authorities speak only good of the South Vietnamese allies and are usually quick to deny criticial reports. In the present case, however, officials privately don't conceal their concern about the lack so far of powerful follow-up action.

The situation is acute for two reasons:

1. President Johnson will have to decide in a few days, after hearing reports from Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, whether to send another 100,000 or so American troops to South Vietnam beyond the 525,000 force level already scheduled.

The performance of South Vietnamese forces will inevitably be brought up in congressional debate for comparison with the burden of fighting to be carried by U.S. forces.

2. The conflict has entered a very critical and possibly decisive phase. The new phase opened at the end of January with coordinated Communist attacks on 100 South Vietnamese communities. The Communists have declared this is a drive to win decisive victories and it will certainly have a vital effect on the war's future course.

Johnson and the U.S. commander in South Vietnam, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, both have claimed that in the first wave of the offensive against the cities the enemy suffered a complete military defeat.

County Budget Signed

Ulster County's much-delayed $15 million budget for 1968 was legalized late Tuesday with the signing of the validation bill by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Another bill which will legalize the extension of deadline for payment of taxes is on the governor's desk and in all probability will be signed before the end of the week. Most of the county taxes have already been collected. When the extension bill is signed, taxpayers who paid penalties for late payment after Jan. 31 but before Feb. 10 will be entitled to a refund of the 1 per cent interest. The bill will legalize extension of the deadline for payment without penalty to Feb. 10.

Extension Bill on Desk

Attorney Sherwood E. Davis, executive assistant to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, R-Ulster, said this morning that the governor signed the validation bill late yesterday and that the extension bill was on the governor's desk for signature.

Validation by the State Legislature was necessary because the budget was delayed in preparation beyond the deadline for publication of a public hearing. As no copies of the preliminary budget were available prior to the public hearing, the old Board of Supervisors postponed the hearing one week. It was finally approved Dec. 28. The mandatory state deadline for adoption was Dec. 20. Validation was required to avoid the possibility of a taxpayer's suit.

Many Headaches

The 1968 budget ran into many problems. Assemblyman Wilson's bill in the Assembly was delayed because organizing of the Assembly was lagging and committees were not set up to handle bills.

State Sen. Jay P. Rolison Jr., R-Ulster-Dutchess, prefiled Senate Bill 939 which was approved by the GOP-controlled Senate on a strict party vote and moved to the Assembly where it passed unanimously. The Assembly is Democrat-controlled.

High Seas Drama, Escape Thwarted

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Three Cubans lost a wild gamble to win asylum in the United States when a 292-foot Cuban ship from which they fled in a lifeboat rammed their small craft in international waters off Virginia.

The captain of the Cuban ship messaged U.S. Coast Guardsmen on the scene that the three were his crewmen and were picked up from the water. The Coast Guard said it did not see what happened to the three after the ramming incidence.

Seize Ship

Earlier the Cubans seized the ship, the 26 de Julio, but failed in an attempt to bring her into Norfolk when they could not get the anchor up, Coast Guardsmen said.

A Coast Guard vessel stood by but did not interfere because the incident occurred well beyond the 3-mile limit. The ship's captain radioed later that "The trouble is settled now. We go back to Cuba."

The episode, covering 15 hours, reached its climax off the coast of Virginia Tuesday afternoon. This was the sequence of events as related by the Coast Guard:

At 2 a. m. Tuesday the Cuban ship radioed that the crew sought political asylum. She was instructed to head for Hampton Roads and the cutter Point Brown was dispatched to meet her with Master Boatswain's Mate P. W. Caviness, 43, of Silver City, N.C., in command.

Caviness said he watched the ship anchor 10 miles east-northeast of Cape Henry Tuesday morning. He said he had instructions not to board the vessel but to try to get it into inland waters—inside the U.S. territorial limit.

"But they were having trouble getting their anchor up," he related, and about 1:30 p.m. he saw three men lower a lifeboat, climb into it and start rowing away.

Rams Lifeboat Twice

Soon, he said, a number of men appeared on the deck, the ship got under way, dragging its anchor, and rammed the lifeboat twice.

On a third pass, Caviness said, the ship stopped between the cutter and the lifeboat and "I didn't see them (the three men) anymore."

He didn't interfere, Caviness said, because he was awaiting orders and "I wasn't prepared to go out there and take action that might involve the whole nation and might be over my head."

He said that by the time of the third pass he had received orders to "take all necessary steps to see that this Cuban vessel did not run over this boat a third time. . .my guns were uncovered."

Coast Guard sources said the armament of the Point Brown included a .50-caliber machine gun and an .81mm mortar. Crewmen leaving the craft upon its return to port carried M1 rifles and submachine guns.

Lt. Cmdr. R. H. Elkins, 43, of North Cape May, N.J., was aboard the Coast Guard tug Chock which arrived later and pulled alongside the 26 de Julio.

Elkins talked through an interpreter to the master of the Cuban vessel, Ricardo Puri, whom he described as "anxious to apologize and explain what happened."

Elkins, executive officer of Group Norfolk, said Puri told him four men, using a gun, seized the ship at 10 p.m. Monday, locking 17 other persons

Johnson and Wheeler Meet on Troop Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to Washington today for a White House meeting at which Chairman Earle G. Wheeler of the Joint Chiefs of Staff was expected to seek more U.S. troops for Vietnam.

Cabinet Session Later

Gen. Wheeler, who just visited the battle zone, was to meet at breakfast with Johnson and the President's top-level military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers. A full-scale Cabinet meeting, described as a regular session, was set for later in the day.

There was no indication the Wheeler-Johnson conference would produce any immediate announcement that more fighting men will be sent to Vietnam. Johnson aides continued to insist, as recently as Tuesday night, that no formal request for reinforcements had been presented to the President.

However, Johnson said last week more men will be dispatched if needed. And Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, told The Associated Press that "with additional troops, we could more effectively deny the enemy his objective, capitalize on his recent defeats to a greater degree in both time and place, and clearly demonstrate to Hanoi our firm determination to prevent him from taking over any part of South Vietnam."

Others Participating

Those scheduled to join Johnson and Wheeler included Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Director Richard Helms of the Central Intelligence Agency, Secretary of Defense-designate Clark Clifford, special assistant Walt W. Rostow and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who will succeed Clifford as chairman of the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board.

Johnson returned to the capital after a six-day stay at his Texas ranch, where he got a good bit of sun and considerable relaxation. He seemed in an energetic, buoyant mood on his return.

New Paltz Voters Pass Bond Issue

New Paltz District voters went to the polls yesterday and voted favorably on a $100,000 bond issue for the purchase of seven school buses and the construction of a school bus service garage.

Light Voting

The vote, a light one, was 278 yes and 165, no. There are 2,300 registered voters in the district according to business manager Frank Hamilton.

Plans call for acquiring one 70 passenger bus at $10,800 and six 60-passenger vehicles at $8,700 each.

The garage, which is estimated at $37,000 will be located on present school property. It will be used exclusively for servicing the buses.

The school system, which has in the past contracted for its bus runs will continue this practice for the 14 routes which the new buses will not be able to accommodate.

$26,000 Yearly Saving

Hamilton said that the purchase of the new buses will enable the school district to save about $26,000 each year in transportation costs.

District purchasing of school buses has been found to be expedient by many school systems in th state in recent years.

Little opposition to the New Paltz proposal was expressed at a public hearing held prior to yesterday's vote, Hamilton said.

Freeman to Broadcast Live News

What's So Great? Now it can be told.

Live news broadcasts direct from the city room of The Freeman will become six-day a week fare on radio station WGHQ starting Monday.

Broadcasts will be heard each day 2 p. m. with Peter Barrecchia, managing editor at the microphone Monday through Friday and Ed Palladino, assistant city editor manning the Saturday beat.

Joint announcement of the news media venture was made today by Richard L. Treat, vice president and general manager of The Freeman and Harry M. Thayer, president of WGHQ. Both expressed their pleasure with the new arrangement which will provide readers and listeners with a "new plus in information."

The Freeman broadcasts will be in addition to the regular news broadcasts on WGHQ and will give a preview of the news and views appearing in print that evening. Highlights of each day's edition will be given, touching on news, sports, society, features and editorials.

In commenting on the news adventure, both Treat and Thayer were enthusiastic about extended coverage now offered to readers and listeners. They cited it as a move in keeping with the ever growing Mid-Hudson area.

An added feature is the immediacy of on-the-spot reports direct from the humming newsgathering center of Ulster County's only daily newspaper.

Assisting with technical details are veteran newscaster Jim Thompson and WGHQ chief engineer, Roy Fuller.

Neighbors Name Officers

Organization of the Kingston Neighbors Association for solution of housing problems in the city took another positive step last night as officers were elected and four new member churches were announced.

Elected chairman was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph McIntyre, pastor of St. Mary's Church. Also serving are the Rev. John H. Gilmore, pastor of Riverview Baptist Church, vice chairman; Harold Van Allen, secretary and Alexander J .McKittrick Jr., treasurer.

Four More

The new groups which joined the association since it was formed on Feb. 6 are St. Joseph's Church, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Franklin Street AME Zion Church and First Baptist Church. A total of 12 churches and organizations are now affiliated with "Neighbors."

Joseph Qualtere presented information on legal means of incorporation. The information will be presented to the member churches and organizations for their sanction prior to actual incorporation and subsequent organization of the group which would be involved in the actual buying and selling of houses. The financing will be done through FHA to qualified persons of low to middle income.

A workshop meeting on community development, housing problems and code enforcement will be held in Kingston April 19-20 according to announcement made by Stanley Leyton of the Ulster County Community Action Committee.

Clifford Henze, a member of the community action committee served as temporary chairman at the meeting which was held at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets.

The next meeting will be at the Urban Renewal Relocation office March 5 at 4:30 p. m. Robert J. Wolf of the Chief Underwriting Insurance Office, FHA, Albany will be guest speaker.

The organization grew out of joint concern of several groups for low and middle income families who faced housing problems in the city.

The Neighbors, made up of church and community organizations, seeks to solve these problems through a non-profit corporation which would buy and sell homes.

Two Nabbed on Thruway, Will Face Drug Charges

Two upstate men were in the Albany County jail today facing preliminary examination on charges of criminally possessing dangerous drugs, as the result of their arrest by State Trooper M. J. Reichert of the Selkirk sub-station of Troop T.

In recent weeks state troopers on the Thruway have made several arrests of persons found in the possession of various drugs.

Arrested early this morning on the superhighway at the Selkirk interchange were Ephlis Washington, 34, of Hudson Avenue, and Richard Jones, 30, of Clinton Street, both of Albany. They were arraigned before a Town of Coeymans justice and committed pending disposition of the charges.

Thruway BCI investigators said Trooper Reichert was on patrol early this morning, when he spotted a car driven by Washington and owned by his sister. The vehicle was stopped and examined by the trooper disclosed about 98 glassine packets in four decks containing salts or alkaloids of heroin.

The drugs were found under the front seat of the car during a routine traffic check by the arresting officer. The Associated Press said State Police estimated the value of the heroin at $3,000. The seizure was turned over to the State Police laboratory for analysis.

In recent weeks Thruway troopers in conducting routine traffic checks of motorists and their vehicles traveling along the superhighway during the early hours of the day, have arrested several persons on narcotics charges.

Last week Trooper John Turck of the Kingston Troop T detail took four Massachusetts residents, including a 20-year-old woman, in custody near Saugerties after they were allegedly found in possession of a quantity of alkaloids and/or salts of heroin, cannabis and opium.

Kessler Trial Ends, Mino Dismisses Case

The trial of David Kessler, Long Beach, L. I., businessman, who faced grand larceny and issuing of fradulent check charges in trial term of county court, ended abruptly Tuesday when a motion to dismiss was upheld by Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Defense Attorney Howard C. St. John, after the jury was removed from the court room, asked for dismissal as the bill of particulars, a supplement to the original indictment failed to show criminal intent in the charges.

Judge Mino in his ruling said on the first count in the indictment, grand larceny, first degree, as supplemented by the bill of particulars failed to indicate the crime. On the second count, issuing a fradulent check, Judge Mino said the court finds the bill of particulars failed to state any facts sufficient to constitute a crime and allowed the defendant's demurrer to the indictment with provision that the district attorney, if he sees fit, may submit the entire matter to another grand jury. Bail was continued and the jury dismissed.

The opening statement of Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein indicated that the case stems back to Aug. 6, 1965 when the defendant is allegd to have given a check of $6,000 to David Levinson, operator of Tamarack Lodge, Greenfield Park, as security for some paintings held by Levinson to secure some other checks. According to the prosecution all checks were returned by the bank involved because of no account.

The defense contended that the $6,000 check was given with the understanding that it was not to be cashed but held as a note for security.

CP PRESENTATION — Volunteer of the Year citation for "unselfish and devoted personal effort" for the United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County is presented to Mrs. Martin Oberkirch Jr. by Edward deGroff, president. A member of the local board for 12 years and of the state association board for six years, Mrs. Oberkirch is currently vice president of the Ulster County unit and secretary of the state board. Other posts include chairman of the special fund raising committee, past volunteer drive chairman, campaign chairman and special events chairman. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Neighbors Name Officers

Organization of the Kingston Neighbors Association for solution of housing problems in the city took another positive step last night as officers were elected and four new member churches were announced.

Elected chairman was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph McIntyre, pastor of St. Mary's Church. Also serving are the Rev. John H. Gilmore, pastor of Riverview Baptist Church, vice chairman; Harold Van Allen, secretary and Alexander J .McKittrick Jr., treasurer.

Four More

The new groups which joined the association since it was formed on Feb. 6 are St. Joseph's Church, Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Franklin Street AME Zion Church and First Baptist Church. A total of 12 churches and organizations are now affiliated with "Neighbors."

Joseph Qualtere presented information on legal means of incorporation. The information will be presented to the member churches and organizations for their sanction prior to actual incorporation and subsequent organization of the group which would be involved in the actual buying and selling of houses. The financing will be done through FHA to qualified persons of low to middle income.

A workshop meeting on community development, housing problems and code enforcement will be held in Kingston April 19-20 according to announcement made by Stanley Leyton of the Ulster County Community Action Committee.

Clifford Henze, a member of the community action committee served as temporary chairman at the meeting which was held at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets.

The next meeting will be at the Urban Renewal Relocation office March 5 at 4:30 p. m. Robert J. Wolf of the Chief Underwriting Insurance Office, FHA, Albany will be guest speaker.

The organization grew out of joint concern of several groups for low and middle income families who faced housing problems in the city.

The Neighbors, made up of church and community organizations, seeks to solve these problems through a non-profit corporation which would buy and sell homes.

VICTOR — Negro leader Charles Evers, who clinched place on Mississippi ballot for March 12 runoff, laughs with Negro voters outside Fayette, Miss., courthouse after voting yesterday. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Mississippi First-- Evers Is Confident

By JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)— Negro leader Charles Evers prepared today for his uphill runoff battle against white conservative Charles Griffin for the congressional seat vacated by Gov. John Bell Williams.

"We're going to win this election," Evers told his followers after clinching a place against Griffin, Williams 'key Washington aide for almost two decades, in the March 12 runoff.

Almost 30 Pct.

Evers, the first Negro to become a serious rhallenger for a Mississippi congressional post this centhry, took advantage of a six-way split in the white vote to lead the first round of balloting Tuesday.

In the final unofficial tabulation he had almost 30 per cent of the vote with 33,645 to 28,792 for Griffin. Five losing white candidates had 52,188.

State Sen. Ellis Bodron of Vicksburg had 22,829, Troy Watkins of Natchez 10,446, Dist. Atty. Joe Pigott of McComb 8,284, and David Perkins of Jackson 2,649. Republican Hagan Thompson of Jackson had 7,980.

All six of the white candidates campaigned as conservatives.

Vote About 115,5000

A heavy Negro turnout in many areas pushed the vote total to about 115,000, or 15,000 more than had been predicted.

The celebration at Griffin's headquarters matched that at Evers'—most observers said winning a runoff spot against Evers was tantamount to winning the congressional seat Williams held for 21 years.

"The time has come for concerned citizens of this district to unite behind Charles Griffin to insure a solid victory for responsible government," the 41-year-old Griffin said.

Evers, on leave as state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had been expected to enter the runoff because the district's 195,000 voters includes about 70,000 Negroes.

A civil rights leader in the state for almost five years, the 44-year-old Evers helped register many of the Negroes who turned out to vote for him. He was a physical education instructor in Chicago schools until 1963, when he returned to succeed his brother, Medgar Evers, in the NAACP post. A sniper shot Medgar to death from ambush.

Drafted by Leaders

Although Charles Evers had said he had no political ambitions, he announced when he entered the campaign he had been drafted by Negro leaders.

His campaign was highly organized, with television appearances, bumper stickers and tours of the 12 counties in the district.

Evers congratulated his followers on winning a runoff spot "the American way, with the vote." He contended many whites voted for him and said he would go to Washington to represent both races.

"This is the beginning of the end for racism in Mississippi," he said.

Flag Enshrined

The last 48-star United States flag to fly over the Capitol in Washington, D.C., has been enshrined in the Flag House at Baltimore, Md.

Urges Mobilization for Eugene

Allard Lowenstein, a lawyer and college teacher by trade, and a professional liberal and "shaker" in almost every liberal cause, spoke to an audience of more than 200 persons at New Paltz last night.

Appearing before a meeting of the Student-Faculty Coalition for a Democratic Alternative in the CUB Lounge on the State University campus there, he urged all-out and total support of Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota in his campaign for President.

'Courageous Decision'

He hailed the work of CDA and McCarthy's "courageous decision" to run as a "politically viable effort to reverse the course of a country that desperately needs its course reversed." It was Lowenstein's contention that Americans have "an admirable alternative in Sen. McCarthy," an alternative not possible in a three-way choice between Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon and George Wallace.

The visiting speaker, who recently emerged as a co-chairman of the Conference of Concerned Democrats (a national group seeking to deny Johnson the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1968), told his enthusiastic audience that "McCarthy is in the best tradition of the heroes of history . . . He will do this because it is what he has to do, and there is no honor left unless he does it." For this reason, Lowenstein believes the people of this country have a "debt and obligation" to him.

Liberal-Moderate Views

In other comments on the domestic and foreign scenes, Lowenstein generated applause by a combination of arch-liberal views and a determined moderate stance on political change. Among his more succinct remarks:

The problem is not just Vietnam. It is the whole thing added up—Vietnam, poverty, lack of educational excellence, crime in the streets, a society that does not give people decent homes in which to live any more than it did in the 1950's. Society does not care enough to know that it is not doing anything. Words mean nothing any more. 1984 is here, not in the Soviet Union, and double talk is the order of the day.

Lowenstein also emphasized that the American people do not have to "pay homage to the Pedernales," and urged "persuasion and mobilization for McCarthy's cause." Otherwise, he said, "The erosion of what America believes in will continue with Johnson." It is, in fact, his strong conviction that "the direction, honor and lives of the country — and maybe the world — are at stake in this year's campaign and McCarthy's candidacy allows us to face the basic question of American democracy."

Prior to the guest speaker's address, David Krikun, a leader in the Student-Faculty CDA on the area campus, noted that his organization, in affiliation with others in Woodstock, Kingston and Poughkeepsie in the 28th Congressional District, will "nominate and elect three delegates to the Democratic National Convention this August." He said they would be pledged to attend the convention on an anti - Johnson, pro - McCarthy basis.

Krikun also referred to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's "hawkish and slavish record" and said the present representative in this district "deserves a beating and must be beaten, one way or another."

Troopers Probing Crash

While driving his car along Route 52 near Walker Valley at 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, George Blackham, 32, of Pine Bush, was injured when the vehicle went out of control and crashed into guard rails. Ellenville State Police said the driver told investigators the car went from one side of the highway to the other and back again before hitting the rails.

Blackham was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital in the Walker Valley First Aid and Rescue squad ambulance. His injuries were not immediately determined. Troopers are continuing investigation of the mishap.

Trooper W. E. Hubert said cars of William Depuy, 20, and Morris Levine, 66, both of Ellenville, were involved in a collision on Cape Road one mile north of Route 52 at 5:10 p. m. yesterday. Depuy was driving south when his right front wheel went to a rut and as he turned sharply he over-corrected the course of the vehicle and it was in collision with the Levine car. No injuries were reported and Hubert said no police action was taken.

By JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)— Negro leader Charles Evers prepared today for his uphill runoff battle against white conservative Charles Griffin for the congressional seat vacated by Gov. John Bell Williams.

"We're going to win this election," Evers told his followers after clinching a place against Griffin, Williams 'key Washington aide for almost two decades, in the March 12 runoff.

Almost 30 Pct.

Evers, the first Negro to become a serious rhallenger for a Mississippi congressional post this centhry, took advantage of a six-way split in the white vote to lead the first round of balloting Tuesday.

In the final unofficial tabulation he had almost 30 per cent of the vote with 33,645 to 28,792 for Griffin. Five losing white candidates had 52,188.

State Sen. Ellis Bodron of Vicksburg had 22,829, Troy Watkins of Natchez 10,446, Dist. Atty. Joe Pigott of McComb 8,284, and David Perkins of Jackson 2,649. Republican Hagan Thompson of Jackson had 7,980.

All six of the white candidates campaigned as conservatives.

Vote About 115,5000

A heavy Negro turnout in many areas pushed the vote total to about 115,000, or 15,000 more than had been predicted.

The celebration at Griffin's headquarters matched that at Evers'—most observers said winning a runoff spot against Evers was tantamount to winning the congressional seat Williams held for 21 years.

"The time has come for concerned citizens of this district to unite behind Charles Griffin to insure a solid victory for responsible government," the 41-year-old Griffin said.

Evers, on leave as state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had been expected to enter the runoff because the district's 195,000 voters includes about 70,000 Negroes.

A civil rights leader in the state for almost five years, the 44-year-old Evers helped register many of the Negroes who turned out to vote for him. He was a physical education instructor in Chicago schools until 1963, when he returned to succeed his brother, Medgar Evers, in the NAACP post. A sniper shot Medgar to death from ambush.

Drafted by Leaders

Although Charles Evers had said he had no political ambitions, he announced when he entered the campaign he had been drafted by Negro leaders.

His campaign was highly organized, with television appearances, bumper stickers and tours of the 12 counties in the district.

Evers congratulated his followers on winning a runoff spot "the American way, with the vote." He contended many whites voted for him and said he would go to Washington to represent both races.

"This is the beginning of the end for racism in Mississippi," he said.

Urges Mobilization for Eugene

Allard Lowenstein, a lawyer and college teacher by trade, and a professional liberal and "shaker" in almost every liberal cause, spoke to an audience of more than 200 persons at New Paltz last night.

Appearing before a meeting of the Student-Faculty Coalition for a Democratic Alternative in the CUB Lounge on the State University campus there, he urged all-out and total support of Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota in his campaign for President.

'Courageous Decision'

He hailed the work of CDA and McCarthy's "courageous decision" to run as a "politically viable effort to reverse the course of a country that desperately needs its course reversed." It was Lowenstein's contention that Americans have "an admirable alternative in Sen. McCarthy," an alternative not possible in a three-way choice between Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon and George Wallace.

The visiting speaker, who recently emerged as a co-chairman of the Conference of Concerned Democrats (a national group seeking to deny Johnson the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1968), told his enthusiastic audience that "McCarthy is in the best tradition of the heroes of history . . . He will do this because it is what he has to do, and there is no honor left unless he does it." For this reason, Lowenstein believes the people of this country have a "debt and obligation" to him.

Liberal-Moderate Views

In other comments on the domestic and foreign scenes, Lowenstein generated applause by a combination of arch-liberal views and a determined moderate stance on political change. Among his more succinct remarks:

The problem is not just Vietnam. It is the whole thing added up—Vietnam, poverty, lack of educational excellence, crime in the streets, a society that does not give people decent homes in which to live any more than it did in the 1950's. Society does not care enough to know that it is not doing anything. Words mean nothing any more. 1984 is here, not in the Soviet Union, and double talk is the order of the day.

Lowenstein also emphasized that the American people do not have to "pay homage to the Pedernales," and urged "persuasion and mobilization for McCarthy's cause." Otherwise, he said, "The erosion of what America believes in will continue with Johnson." It is, in fact, his strong conviction that "the direction, honor and lives of the country — and maybe the world — are at stake in this year's campaign and McCarthy's candidacy allows us to face the basic question of American democracy."

Prior to the guest speaker's address, David Krikun, a leader in the Student-Faculty CDA on the area campus, noted that his organization, in affiliation with others in Woodstock, Kingston and Poughkeepsie in the 28th Congressional District, will "nominate and elect three delegates to the Democratic National Convention this August." He said they would be pledged to attend the convention on an anti - Johnson, pro - McCarthy basis.

Krikun also referred to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's "hawkish and slavish record" and said the present representative in this district "deserves a beating and must be beaten, one way or another."

Troopers Probing Crash

While driving his car along Route 52 near Walker Valley at 10:30 p. m. Tuesday, George Blackham, 32, of Pine Bush, was injured when the vehicle went out of control and crashed into guard rails. Ellenville State Police said the driver told investigators the car went from one side of the highway to the other and back again before hitting the rails.

Blackham was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital in the Walker Valley First Aid and Rescue squad ambulance. His injuries were not immediately determined. Troopers are continuing investigation of the mishap.

Trooper W. E. Hubert said cars of William Depuy, 20, and Morris Levine, 66, both of Ellenville, were involved in a collision on Cape Road one mile north of Route 52 at 5:10 p. m. yesterday. Depuy was driving south when his right front wheel went to a rut and as he turned sharply he over-corrected the course of the vehicle and it was in collision with the Levine car. No injuries were reported and Hubert said no police action was taken.

Decisive Women's Vote

With a vote potential of four million more than men, the women's vote can be decisive in the national election this fall. Richard M. Nixon has set out to capture it.

From Whittier, Calif., Nixon's home town, Mrs. Robert J. Hitt came to Washington last week to take charge of getting out the women's vote for Nixon. She comes with imposing credentials.

A former California Republican national committeewoman, Mrs. Hitt has been a Nixon campaigner since his first race for Congress. Her most recent accomplishment was as women's director of the California campaign in which Lieut. Gov. Robert H. Finch polled more votes than Ronald Reagan, the successful candidate for Governor. She said that Reagan conceded the women's campaign made the difference.

In the 1960 campaign, the women's vote was wooed by the John F. Kennedy and Nixon cohorts. The Kennedys, mother and sisters, were particularly effective as Mrs. Kennedy accompanied her husband on the campaign trail.

However, Mrs. Hitt claims that the women for Nixon campaigners brought in 51 per cent of the vote then. This year, she has set a goal of 54 to 55 per cent of the women's vote for Nixon. She will be disappointed if the ratio fell lower than that.

President Johnson had Lady Bird campaigning for him in 1964. His two daughters, Lynda and Lucy, were also a big help. No doubt all three will join the campaign this year with the President's movements circumscribed by his responsibility as commander-in-chief of the war.

Nixon's wife Pat is already on the trail with him. So are his daughters Patricia and Julie. And Julie's fiance, David Eisenhower, President Eisenhower's grandson, has even made an appearance with her.

Women outnumber men but their voting record is poorer. The party that gets them out to vote in greater numbers has a good chance of winning the election.

Half a Century of What?

The propaganda about Soviet Union's first 50 years has blinded men of reason. The blindfold's being lifted this week, as the Young Americans for Freedom conduct their trial of the Communists' "half century of crimes against humanity."

This belated trial is being held in Washington, before the court of public opinion. The allegations range over the murder of many millions in captive lands, imprisonment and enslavement of millions more, persecution and crushing of all religion, their own and those of captive nations—Jewish, Moslem, Orthodox, Roman Catholic and others—and the theft of scientific works and inventions of other nations.

The Young Americans for Freedom are bringing out the fact that Communism alone is responsible for the wars and disrupting of the peace everywhere on the globe since World War II; and, excepting for Hitler's, Tojo's and Mussolini's combined machinations in the 40s, since World War I.

These charges have been documented again and again in the last 50 years, but the Johnson and other likeminded Administrations have preferred to overlook them in the unrealistic hope that "keeping on good terms with the enemy" is the way to keep the peace. It has been the way to bring war.

The "golden years" of Communism have been bloody years for the world. They have brought nothing but sacrifice, agony, chaos and high taxes to maintain an active defense to meet them. The Young Americans for Freedom will have done us a great service if their trial accomplishes no more than to point the finger at the real evil which bedevils the world today.

The Need for Spying

Even if the United States and the Soviet Union agree on a completely effective disarmament treaty, there still will be need for intelligence "as a necessary check on Soviet veracity," says Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Doubting that talks at Geneva will produce an arms inspection agreement — the stumbling block to all disarmament negotiations since the nuclear age began—Dulles nevertheless feels that an exchange of arms information "would mean we'd put ourselves in their hands."

For example, they would hand us a blueprint of their missile situation. How would we know that is correct? It could only be by testing it out, by finding out, that we would know whether any such disposition was true, any such showing was factual. To find that out will need intelligence.

Dulles recalled that the Soviet rejected President Eisenhower's open skies proposal. That would have permitted both the United States and the Soviet Union to look down and see what the other fellow is doing. Dulles favors the open skies idea over any other inspection agreement that might come out of Geneva. We must agree that reasons he gives are persuasive.

"Diplomacy Is a Very Trying Profession!"

David Lawrence Says

Era of Unrest Due To Lack of Courage

WASHINGTON — Missing hereabouts is something that can be expressed in a single word—courage. Politicians in the government have come to believe it is expedient to avoid dealing with the very factors which are producing the biggest era of unrest and fear in the nation's history.

For, as the summer approaches, the country is being told that more riots and civil disorders are to break out in many cities. But very little is being done about it. The President's Commission on Civil Disorders, which was appointed to make a thorough study of the whole problem and offer some recommendations, will issue its report next weekend. Already it is becoming known that, aside from the usual bromides about sociological inequities and injustices, the central issue isn't being tackled at all.

The simple truth is that the politically minded individuals who run the states and cities as well as the federal government, including the Congress, are aware that a large-sized Negro vote may be cast this year. Hence, many feel that any drastic measures which even remotely appear to be aimed at Negroes must be repressed.

Riots, however, are participated in by whites as well as Negroes, and anyone who creates a disorder is punishable by state law. There are persons who conspire to bring about disorders, but they go scot-free. Proposals are pending in Congress to amend the civil-rights statutes to provide for the punishment of those who cross state lines with the intent to instigate disorders. Many plots and conspiracies are planned outside the boundaries of a state where the riots break out.

But while such legislation would help, the federal government already has the power to punish anybody who incites any form of insurrection in this country. The newspaper dispatches have for several months now been telling of the plans of the leaders of "demonstrations," some of whom have used threatening language. Others have made speeches saying, in effect, that unless certain steps are taken, there will be trouble ahead as a result of a number of organized "demonstations" or "marches" in what are known as "target cities."

The President's commission in its forthcoming report is expected to explain the riots that occurred in Detroit last year. But already it is being intimated that there was no "conspiracy." In fact, the commission shortly after it began its study issued a statement quoting J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, as saying he had no evidence of a "conspiracy." This was undoubtedly intended in a technical sense. It was widely broadcast, however, as indicating that the riots were of spontaneous origin.

The leaders of the "demonstrations," on the other hand, came from outside the State of Michigan, and many of them were quoted in speeches which plainly indicated that they expected and looked for violence as a result of their rallies in different cities.

The U. S. Department of Justice, which has no difficulty finding a basis for prosecuting those who discriminate in housing or in restaurants—even though the individual involved may not have travelled in interstate commerce — appears to have abandoned any idea of bringing to court the persons who incite riots by their public speeches.

It is argued that this comes under the heading of "free speech," but, oddly enough, comments or statements that are made in various public discussions related to instances of racial discrimination are regularly offered in evidence in the courts.

The real question is whether public officials will have the courage to ask grand juries to indict individuals who make speeches that lead to riots when the flames of racial friction have been fanned in certain areas under previously arranged schedules of "demonstrations."

Someday perhaps the electorate will get an explanation of why there has been an absence of courage to use the nation's law enforcement apparatus to punish any individuals or organizations which deliberately incite disorder by their "demonstrations." Maybe many tragic occurrences will have to take place before the politically minded discover how accurate was the analysis of present conditions by the Republican governors when they said the other day that crime—and not the Vietnam War—is the principal issue before the American people.

South Vietnamese Have Lost Faith in President Thieu

SAIGON—Angry resentment is boiling up here against President Nguyen Van Thieu who, less than six months after his election, is in deep political trouble. The betting in this coup-conscious country is that he will never finish his four-year term.

The muttering against Thieu has been heightened by the jarring Viet Cong attacks on several key South Vietnamese cities right under the nose of his government. But there is also growing disillusion over his failure to carry out social reforms. The anti-Thieu talk comes from four general sources:

1. The Young Turks in the South Vietnamese army, most of them officers of middle rank, are restive under the leadership of commanders who continue to be selected more for their political connections than their military ability. A promised streamlining, which would reduce the power of the top generals, has never materialized. The army remains under the thumbs of the four top corps commanders who are virtual warlords in their areas. Together they form Thieu's political base.

2. The public also has become increasingly cynical over Thieu's failure to clean up corruption and introduce reforms. Many Vietnamese who voted for Thieu have given up hope that he will be any better than his predecessors who seized power. As one explained to this column: "The dung heap is the same. Only the flies are different."

3. American Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has pressed President Thieu to adopt a socio-political program that will present the Vietnamese people with an alternative to the revolution offered by the communists. But the results have been discouraging. Thieu seems more preoccupied with petty rivalries than with solving his country's problems.

4. Thieu has also lost the respect of other Asian leaders. I have talked to several of Free Asia's foremost statesmen, including three heads of state. For obvious diplomatic reasons, they will not speak for publication about the head of another nation. But, privately, almost all of them described Thieu as a "lightweight." One president, who has participated in international conferences with Thieu, called his "a procrastinator."

Thieu Talks But Doesn't Act

South Vietnam's officialdom increasingly is choosing sides between President Thieu and Vice President Ky. As front man for the four warlords, Thieu has become the defender of the present order. He gives lip service to reforms but never puts them into effect.

Ky's guarrel with Thieu is probably more personal than ideological. Periodically he storms off in a pique over some presidential affront, real or imagined, sometimes staying away from his office for days at a time. As Thieu's leading opponent, however, Ky has suddenly become the champion of reform.

Inevitably, the top Americans in South Vietnam have become drawn into the feud. The American generals, having developed a close working relationship with the South Vietnamese generals, side with the Thieu clique. Behind the scenes, they have helped to sabotage reforms, particularly reforms that would alter the South Vietnamese military structure and curb the four warlords.

The U. S. generals, for example, are suspicious of Ky's efforts to shake up the South Vietnamese army. They are responsible, after all, for organizing and training the South Vietnamese army along conventional lines. Ky and the reformers contend that the army should be overhauled and whipped into a mobile, swift-striking, counter-insurgency force.

One skeptical American general, referring to Ky's background in the air force, dismissed his ideas with the gruff coment: "Ky has never commanded infantry."

No Match For Guerrillas

However, several top civilians in General William Westmoreland's command vigorously agree with the reformers. They point out that a conventional army, following the tactics taught at West Point, has been unable to cope with the elusive guerrilla style of warfare.

"We have assembled more firepower in Vietnam," one contended, "than we used to crush Germany in World War II. Yet the Viet Cong slipped around our great military compounds, crept in the back door, shot up Saigon and, for a few hours, occupied part of the American embassy."

This was evidence, he suggested, that we are "fighting the wrong war at the wrong time in the wrong place." He pleaded that mobility was more important than firepower in seeking out and destroying the guerrillas.

"The Special Forces," he said, "have learned how to fight the guerrillas, but they are treated like outcasts by our Army."

Defending the conventional strategy, a general insisted to this column that a small group of desperate men can shoot up any capital in the world, including Washington. This would not mean, he argued, that they could conquer the United States. It is more important to hold the centers and control the transportation. This takes a conventional military force, he said. He also contended that North Vietnam, not the ragtag Viet Cong guerrillas, poses the greatest threat to South Vietnam. Again, a conventional army is needed to hold off a possible invasion.

Whatever the merits of the opposing arguments, Thieu's failure to push reforms has caused widespread unrest, and whispers are spreading of a coup against his lackadaisical government.

TV, 3rd Parent, Key Crime Cause

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Our public's defense against the Neanderthal standards of the TV network fast-buck money - making machines known as NBC, CBS and ABC offers three powerful opportunities—if outraged people will use them.

TV is the third parent in your home. Millions of impressionable children spend more time at the feet of this third parent, TV, than they do listening to their actual parents. When you realize the repetition, repetition, repetition of the TV diet of murder, violence, mayhem, criminal action and dramatized filth, morning, noon and night, years on end, how can parents safely permit this third parent to take over?

Every parent knows children imitate what they see and hear. The third parent in the home is teaching them by repetition, repetition, repetition to expect violence and seek it. The FBI, the mayors of our major cities, juvenile delinquency judges from coast-to-coast and other such authorities agree that television is a prime cause of crime. And what's happened? The current FBI Crime Report officially states that 40 per cent of all serious crimes now involve boys and girls under 18.

The villainy TV is teaching them and they are performing— while the network fast-buck money machines pocket the cash.

The network moguls have the gall to claim that only unstable children will be adversely affected by TV. May I ask: What child is born "stable"? What, if not the frequent sights and sounds of violence, will make him unstable?

The first defense against NBC, CBS and ABC's Neanderthal standards, as this column has previously urged, is to switch off all violetnt TV—the third parent in your home—until the moguls of these fast-buck money machines show some conscience.

The children may fuss. The moguls make the programs of violence, the horror shows, etc., as dramatic and mind-gripping as possible. That's what makes the third parent so dangerous. But we parents who love our children are entitled to put up a fight for their minds and dreams. Keep murder out of your home.

Combined with this switch-off, the second defense is to write the sponsor of every program you see that teaches violence. Apparently the only way to lift the Neanderthal standards is to hit these networks where it hurts — in their pocketbooks.

Blessings be, the sponsors can and will change the TV picture if clearly told they are building bad will. Do you belong to a women's club, parent - teacher association, civic group or community service organization? Enlist the members to write the sponsors. The fast-buck moguls will get your protest message — and howl — from the sponsors who pay for the violence and vulgarity.

The public's third defense is not so much a defense as it is the achievement of long-overdue justice.

Why not tax the TV-radio networks for their use of the public airwaves?? The airwaves belong to the public. NBC, CBS and ABC are merely immensely profitable corporations riding — free — the biggest gravy chain in the history of the United States

Years ago land - grant abuses by some railroads, and the railroads' lobbies that protected the abuses, became a national scandal — once it was exposed. Public indignation can expose the scale and character of today's politicians inside tie-ups that allow TV- radio's free ride.

Shocking numbers of Representatives, Senators and White House people own, partly own or receive fees from TV-radio stations. Why does the government give the incredibly valuable licenses to the publi's air channels free?? What's the matter with the toll-bridge principle? Closing this loophole in the 1934 Federal Communications Act by a Congress that's talking about increasing people's taxes is all that is required.

Our public hasn't fallen helpless. The bamboozle only makes it look that way. If each outraged parent, along with disgusted groups everywhere, does his part the roaring writings to the sponsors can change NBC, CBS and ABC's Neanderthal standards and the same shout to Congress can also mean billions across the years to the benefit of us taxpaying peasants.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

In the winter, I think summer. The winds sound like a pitchpipe and the white flakes whip into the corner of the windsills to hide. It's good to think warm...

Marty Knight had a farm in Piscataway Township. There was a white two-story house with a lot of escalloped gingerbread on the eaves and a front porch. The house was back off a red clay road which moved in two directions to nowhere. One day he had a photographer come and he got his little wife Katie and the whole family posed on the porch.

Katie is laughing and slapping her knees on the steps, and Marty is the tall thin one with the big Adam's apple with the secret smile. There is Bessie Cullen, a soft brown Indian of a girl with twin jet buns behind her ears, and Jennie Tier, plump and young in pince-nez glasses, and all the mop-haired kids, the boys tan and dopey in knickers and the girls bright and eager in their Sunday frocks.

Theyr'e all gone. The picture is chewed up but the faces are there. Everybody had a Marty Knight and a Katie long ago. They were never seen in winter. In the summer, city people came for a couple of weeks and helped with the chores.

Behind the house was an array of bee nests with old bricks on the top board. There was an orchard of apple trees, a few black cherries and a peach tree. Late August was the best time, because Mr. Knight allowed the kids to pick anything off the grass. Some of the green apples would break your teeth, among other things.

There was a long bungalow called the "Summer House." This is where everybody ate breakfast. Bessie cooked and you could have cereal and toast and a lot of bacon and eggs and a rasher of home fries. At dawn, blue smoke came out of the Summer House. The door was an alarm clock.

Further down the lane was the barn. It looked like it had a dislocated shoulder, but it was strong. There was a block and fall to bring the hay up to the loft. Inside was a placid brown horse named Dick. He minded his own business and made a noise swishing his tail against his flanks. There was a wonderful odor of hay and oats and a chunk of rock salt and manure and old leather harness.

Sometimes, when the afternoon sun filtered in, the bees came in and they made their busy sounds. Outside was a skinny hound dog named Leed. At night he would point his neck up to the sky and bark as though he was in mourning. Far off, the Lehigh Valley freight trains were rolling toward New York with the morning milk and the steam locomotives blew their whistles and made a lonely echo.

You could watch the corn grow, like sissy soldiers all in rows with their arms flapping at their sides. The black birds used to sit on the wires, watching Mr. Knight sweat over the beans. When he left, they worked the beans.

He never seemed to get angry. If you were a kid, he'd run that big skinny hand over your hair and he'd say: "Keep away from Reilly." Reilly was Leed's brother, and he was chained to the Summer House. Leed would let you wrestle him, but Reilly would see you coming and he would crouch and peel his upper lip back from his teeth and he sounded like he was gargling.

In the big house, they had feather beds and you had to climb up after you said your prayers and fall in. You went down, down, down in the feathers until you were lost. They had a white chamber pot under the bed with a pink rose on it. There was a bureau with a big pitcher filled with well water. A basin sat under it like a saucer. There were spiders on the ceiling.

Katie was strict. When the sun went down, she turned to all the children, no matter who they belonged to, and she clapped her hands together and said: "March!" That was bedtime. Some kids cried, but their mothers were helpless. Katie ran the house. Mr. Knight ran the farm.

Dirksen's Blueprint of Issues

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN
(Chicago Daily News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Everett McK. Dirksen has provided some hints of the issues the Republicans are expected to use against the Democrats in the election campaign this year.

"To describe the condition of the country, I could probably have to say," the Senate Republican leader told fellow Republicans, "that there is great unhappiness." He said it was "unlike anything I have ever seen before."

The man from Illinois, who is expected to become chairman of the platform committee at this year's Republican National Convention, ticked off at a luncheon meeting of the Republican National Committee the reasons for the unhappiness" he has detected. Here is the list:

—The Vietnam war. "It is something of a stalemate," he said.

—Rioting in the streets. "In more than 200 cities last year there was mob anarchy and destruction of property that could almost be called a war." He branded the administration's warning that the nation is headed into another "hot violent summer" as a kind of "concession" that it is not equal to enforcement of the law. "If they can not do it," he declared, they should "move over and let somebody else have a chance."

—The mounting crime rate. "The nation's capital, which should be a paragon of virtue, fairly reeks with crime. And the same can be said of everywhere else in the country."

Dirksen's criticism of the administration's handling of law enforcement drew the warmest applause from party leaders who are attending a meeting here to plan their August convention in Miami Beach and the campaign that will follow it.

He also charged the administration with following a policy of "fiscal degeneracy" and declared that there would be an "unmanageable" deficit of either $18 billion or $28 billion, depending on whether President Johnson gets the tax increase he seeks. The budget deficit, he asserted, would be $10 billion more than the figure estimated by the President.

Decisive Women's Vote

With a vote potential of four million more than men, the women's vote can be decisive in the national election this fall. Richard M. Nixon has set out to capture it.

From Whittier, Calif., Nixon's home town, Mrs. Robert J. Hitt came to Washington last week to take charge of getting out the women's vote for Nixon. She comes with imposing credentials.

A former California Republican national committeewoman, Mrs. Hitt has been a Nixon campaigner since his first race for Congress. Her most recent accomplishment was as women's director of the California campaign in which Lieut. Gov. Robert H. Finch polled more votes than Ronald Reagan, the successful candidate for Governor. She said that Reagan conceded the women's campaign made the difference.

In the 1960 campaign, the women's vote was wooed by the John F. Kennedy and Nixon cohorts. The Kennedys, mother and sisters, were particularly effective as Mrs. Kennedy accompanied her husband on the campaign trail.

However, Mrs. Hitt claims that the women for Nixon campaigners brought in 51 per cent of the vote then. This year, she has set a goal of 54 to 55 per cent of the women's vote for Nixon. She will be disappointed if the ratio fell lower than that.

President Johnson had Lady Bird campaigning for him in 1964. His two daughters, Lynda and Lucy, were also a big help. No doubt all three will join the campaign this year with the President's movements circumscribed by his responsibility as commander-in-chief of the war.

Nixon's wife Pat is already on the trail with him. So are his daughters Patricia and Julie. And Julie's fiance, David Eisenhower, President Eisenhower's grandson, has even made an appearance with her.

Women outnumber men but their voting record is poorer. The party that gets them out to vote in greater numbers has a good chance of winning the election.

Half a Century of What?

The propaganda about Soviet Union's first 50 years has blinded men of reason. The blindfold's being lifted this week, as the Young Americans for Freedom conduct their trial of the Communists' "half century of crimes against humanity."

This belated trial is being held in Washington, before the court of public opinion. The allegations range over the murder of many millions in captive lands, imprisonment and enslavement of millions more, persecution and crushing of all religion, their own and those of captive nations—Jewish, Moslem, Orthodox, Roman Catholic and others—and the theft of scientific works and inventions of other nations.

The Young Americans for Freedom are bringing out the fact that Communism alone is responsible for the wars and disrupting of the peace everywhere on the globe since World War II; and, excepting for Hitler's, Tojo's and Mussolini's combined machinations in the 40s, since World War I.

These charges have been documented again and again in the last 50 years, but the Johnson and other likeminded Administrations have preferred to overlook them in the unrealistic hope that "keeping on good terms with the enemy" is the way to keep the peace. It has been the way to bring war.

The "golden years" of Communism have been bloody years for the world. They have brought nothing but sacrifice, agony, chaos and high taxes to maintain an active defense to meet them. The Young Americans for Freedom will have done us a great service if their trial accomplishes no more than to point the finger at the real evil which bedevils the world today.

The Need for Spying

Even if the United States and the Soviet Union agree on a completely effective disarmament treaty, there still will be need for intelligence "as a necessary check on Soviet veracity," says Allen W. Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Doubting that talks at Geneva will produce an arms inspection agreement — the stumbling block to all disarmament negotiations since the nuclear age began—Dulles nevertheless feels that an exchange of arms information "would mean we'd put ourselves in their hands."

For example, they would hand us a blueprint of their missile situation. How would we know that is correct? It could only be by testing it out, by finding out, that we would know whether any such disposition was true, any such showing was factual. To find that out will need intelligence.

Dulles recalled that the Soviet rejected President Eisenhower's open skies proposal. That would have permitted both the United States and the Soviet Union to look down and see what the other fellow is doing. Dulles favors the open skies idea over any other inspection agreement that might come out of Geneva. We must agree that reasons he gives are persuasive.

Era of Unrest Due To Lack of Courage

WASHINGTON — Missing hereabouts is something that can be expressed in a single word—courage. Politicians in the government have come to believe it is expedient to avoid dealing with the very factors which are producing the biggest era of unrest and fear in the nation's history.

For, as the summer approaches, the country is being told that more riots and civil disorders are to break out in many cities. But very little is being done about it. The President's Commission on Civil Disorders, which was appointed to make a thorough study of the whole problem and offer some recommendations, will issue its report next weekend. Already it is becoming known that, aside from the usual bromides about sociological inequities and injustices, the central issue isn't being tackled at all.

The simple truth is that the politically minded individuals who run the states and cities as well as the federal government, including the Congress, are aware that a large-sized Negro vote may be cast this year. Hence, many feel that any drastic measures which even remotely appear to be aimed at Negroes must be repressed.

Riots, however, are participated in by whites as well as Negroes, and anyone who creates a disorder is punishable by state law. There are persons who conspire to bring about disorders, but they go scot-free. Proposals are pending in Congress to amend the civil-rights statutes to provide for the punishment of those who cross state lines with the intent to instigate disorders. Many plots and conspiracies are planned outside the boundaries of a state where the riots break out.

But while such legislation would help, the federal government already has the power to punish anybody who incites any form of insurrection in this country. The newspaper dispatches have for several months now been telling of the plans of the leaders of "demonstrations," some of whom have used threatening language. Others have made speeches saying, in effect, that unless certain steps are taken, there will be trouble ahead as a result of a number of organized "demonstations" or "marches" in what are known as "target cities."

The President's commission in its forthcoming report is expected to explain the riots that occurred in Detroit last year. But already it is being intimated that there was no "conspiracy." In fact, the commission shortly after it began its study issued a statement quoting J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, as saying he had no evidence of a "conspiracy." This was undoubtedly intended in a technical sense. It was widely broadcast, however, as indicating that the riots were of spontaneous origin.

The leaders of the "demonstrations," on the other hand, came from outside the State of Michigan, and many of them were quoted in speeches which plainly indicated that they expected and looked for violence as a result of their rallies in different cities.

The U. S. Department of Justice, which has no difficulty finding a basis for prosecuting those who discriminate in housing or in restaurants—even though the individual involved may not have travelled in interstate commerce — appears to have abandoned any idea of bringing to court the persons who incite riots by their public speeches.

It is argued that this comes under the heading of "free speech," but, oddly enough, comments or statements that are made in various public discussions related to instances of racial discrimination are regularly offered in evidence in the courts.

The real question is whether public officials will have the courage to ask grand juries to indict individuals who make speeches that lead to riots when the flames of racial friction have been fanned in certain areas under previously arranged schedules of "demonstrations."

Someday perhaps the electorate will get an explanation of why there has been an absence of courage to use the nation's law enforcement apparatus to punish any individuals or organizations which deliberately incite disorder by their "demonstrations." Maybe many tragic occurrences will have to take place before the politically minded discover how accurate was the analysis of present conditions by the Republican governors when they said the other day that crime—and not the Vietnam War—is the principal issue before the American people.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

In the winter, I think summer. The winds sound like a pitchpipe and the white flakes whip into the corner of the windsills to hide. It's good to think warm...

Marty Knight had a farm in Piscataway Township. There was a white two-story house with a lot of escalloped gingerbread on the eaves and a front porch. The house was back off a red clay road which moved in two directions to nowhere. One day he had a photographer come and he got his little wife Katie and the whole family posed on the porch.

Katie is laughing and slapping her knees on the steps, and Marty is the tall thin one with the big Adam's apple with the secret smile. There is Bessie Cullen, a soft brown Indian of a girl with twin jet buns behind her ears, and Jennie Tier, plump and young in pince-nez glasses, and all the mop-haired kids, the boys tan and dopey in knickers and the girls bright and eager in their Sunday frocks.

Theyr'e all gone. The picture is chewed up but the faces are there. Everybody had a Marty Knight and a Katie long ago. They were never seen in winter. In the summer, city people came for a couple of weeks and helped with the chores.

Behind the house was an array of bee nests with old bricks on the top board. There was an orchard of apple trees, a few black cherries and a peach tree. Late August was the best time, because Mr. Knight allowed the kids to pick anything off the grass. Some of the green apples would break your teeth, among other things.

There was a long bungalow called the "Summer House." This is where everybody ate breakfast. Bessie cooked and you could have cereal and toast and a lot of bacon and eggs and a rasher of home fries. At dawn, blue smoke came out of the Summer House. The door was an alarm clock.

Further down the lane was the barn. It looked like it had a dislocated shoulder, but it was strong. There was a block and fall to bring the hay up to the loft. Inside was a placid brown horse named Dick. He minded his own business and made a noise swishing his tail against his flanks. There was a wonderful odor of hay and oats and a chunk of rock salt and manure and old leather harness.

Sometimes, when the afternoon sun filtered in, the bees came in and they made their busy sounds. Outside was a skinny hound dog named Leed. At night he would point his neck up to the sky and bark as though he was in mourning. Far off, the Lehigh Valley freight trains were rolling toward New York with the morning milk and the steam locomotives blew their whistles and made a lonely echo.

You could watch the corn grow, like sissy soldiers all in rows with their arms flapping at their sides. The black birds used to sit on the wires, watching Mr. Knight sweat over the beans. When he left, they worked the beans.

He never seemed to get angry. If you were a kid, he'd run that big skinny hand over your hair and he'd say: "Keep away from Reilly." Reilly was Leed's brother, and he was chained to the Summer House. Leed would let you wrestle him, but Reilly would see you coming and he would crouch and peel his upper lip back from his teeth and he sounded like he was gargling.

In the big house, they had feather beds and you had to climb up after you said your prayers and fall in. You went down, down, down in the feathers until you were lost. They had a white chamber pot under the bed with a pink rose on it. There was a bureau with a big pitcher filled with well water. A basin sat under it like a saucer. There were spiders on the ceiling.

Katie was strict. When the sun went down, she turned to all the children, no matter who they belonged to, and she clapped her hands together and said: "March!" That was bedtime. Some kids cried, but their mothers were helpless. Katie ran the house. Mr. Knight ran the farm.

SAIGON—Angry resentment is boiling up here against President Nguyen Van Thieu who, less than six months after his election, is in deep political trouble. The betting in this coup-conscious country is that he will never finish his four-year term.

The muttering against Thieu has been heightened by the jarring Viet Cong attacks on several key South Vietnamese cities right under the nose of his government. But there is also growing disillusion over his failure to carry out social reforms. The anti-Thieu talk comes from four general sources:

1. The Young Turks in the South Vietnamese army, most of them officers of middle rank, are restive under the leadership of commanders who continue to be selected more for their political connections than their military ability. A promised streamlining, which would reduce the power of the top generals, has never materialized. The army remains under the thumbs of the four top corps commanders who are virtual warlords in their areas. Together they form Thieu's political base.

2. The public also has become increasingly cynical over Thieu's failure to clean up corruption and introduce reforms. Many Vietnamese who voted for Thieu have given up hope that he will be any better than his predecessors who seized power. As one explained to this column: "The dung heap is the same. Only the flies are different."

3. American Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has pressed President Thieu to adopt a socio-political program that will present the Vietnamese people with an alternative to the revolution offered by the communists. But the results have been discouraging. Thieu seems more preoccupied with petty rivalries than with solving his country's problems.

4. Thieu has also lost the respect of other Asian leaders. I have talked to several of Free Asia's foremost statesmen, including three heads of state. For obvious diplomatic reasons, they will not speak for publication about the head of another nation. But, privately, almost all of them described Thieu as a "lightweight." One president, who has participated in international conferences with Thieu, called his "a procrastinator."

Thieu Talks But Doesn't Act

South Vietnam's officialdom increasingly is choosing sides between President Thieu and Vice President Ky. As front man for the four warlords, Thieu has become the defender of the present order. He gives lip service to reforms but never puts them into effect.

Ky's guarrel with Thieu is probably more personal than ideological Periodically he storms off in a pique over some presidential affront, real or imagined, sometimes staying away from his office for days at a time. As Thieu's leading opponent, however, Ky has suddenly become the champion of reform.

Inevitably, the top Americans in South Vietnam have become drawn into the feud. The American generals, having developed a close working relationship with the South Vietnamese generals, side with the Thieu clique. Behind the scenes, they have helped to sabotage reforms, particularly reforms that would alter the South Vietnamese military structure and curb the four warlords.

The U. S. generals, for example, are suspicious of Ky's efforts to shake up the South Vietnamese army. They are responsible, after all, for organizing and training the South Vietnamese army along conventional lines. Ky and the reformers contend that the army should be overhauled and whipped into a mobile, swift-striking, counter-insurgency force.

One skeptical American general, referring to Ky's background in the air force, dismissed his ideas with the gruff coment: "Ky has never commanded infantry."

No Match For Guerrillas

However, several top civilians in General William Westmoreland's command vigorously agree with the reformers. They point out that a conventional army, following the tactics taught at West Point, has been unable to cope with the elusive guerrilla style of warfare.

"We have assembled more firepower in Vietnam," one contended, "than we used to crush Germany in World War II. Yet the Viet Cong slipped around our great military compounds, crept in the back door, shot up Saigon and, for a few hours, occupied part of the American embassy."

This was evidence, he suggested, that we are "fighting the wrong war at the wrong time in the wrong place." He pleaded that mobility was more important than firepower in seeking out and destroying the guerrillas.

"The Special Forces," he said, "have learned how to fight the guerrillas, but they are treated like outcasts by our Army."

Defending the conventional strategy, a general insisted to this column that a small group of desperate men can shoot up any capital in the world, including Washington. This would not mean, he argued, that they could conquer the United States. It is more important to hold the centers and control the transportation. This takes a conventional military force, he said. He also contended that North Vietnam, not the ragtag Viet Cong guerrillas, poses the greatest threat to South Vietnam. Again, a conventional army is needed to hold off a possible invasion.

Whatever the merits of the opposing arguments, Thieu's failure to push reforms has caused widespread unrest, and whispers are spreading of a coup against his lackadaisical government.

TV, 3rd Parent, Key Crime Cause

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Our public's defense against the Neanderthal standards of the TV network fast-buck money - making machines known as NBC, CBS and ABC offers three powerful opportunities—if outraged people will use them.

TV is the third parent in your home. Millions of impressionable children spend more time at the feet of this third parent, TV, than they do listening to their actual parents. When you realize the repetition, repetition, repetition of the TV diet of murder, violence, mayhem, criminal action and dramatized filth, morning, noon and night, years on end, how can parents safely permit this third parent to take over?

How can conscientious mothers and fathers conceivably face this kind of competition in the upbringing of the children. Moreover, millions of these same children spend more time looking at the TV set than they spend in school.

Every parent knows children imitate what they see and hear. The third parent in the home is teaching them by repetition, repetition, repetition to expect violence and seek it. The FBI, the mayors of our major cities, juvenile delinquency judges from coast-to-coast and other such authorities agree that television is a prime cause of crime. And what's happened? The current FBI Crime Report officially states that 40 per cent of all serious crimes now involve boys and girls under 18.

The villainy TV is teaching them and they are performing— while the network fast-buck money machines pocket the cash.

The network moguls have the gall to claim that only unstable children will be adversely affected by TV. May I ask: What child is born "stable"? What, if not the frequent sights and sounds of violence, will make him unstable?

The first defense against NBC, CBS and ABC's Neanderthal standards, as this column has previously urged, is to switch off all violetnt TV—the third parent in your home—until the moguls of these fast-buck money machines show some conscience.

The children may fuss. The moguls make the programs of violence, the horror shows, etc., as dramatic and mind-gripping as possible. That's what makes the third parent so dangerous. But we parents who love our children are entitled to put up a fight for their minds and dreams. Keep murder out of your home.

Combined with this switch-off, the second defense is to write the sponsor of every program you see that teaches violence. Apparently the only way to lift the Neanderthal standards is to hit these networks where it hurts — in their pocketbooks.

Blessings be, the sponsors can and will change the TV picture if clearly told they are building bad will. Do you belong to a women's club, parent - teacher association, civic group or community service organization? Enlist the members to write the sponsors. The fast-buck moguls will get your protest message — and howl — from the sponsors who pay for the violence and vulgarity.

The public's third defense is not so much a defense as it is the achievement of long-overdue justice.

Why not tax the TV-radio networks for their use of the public airwaves?? The airwaves belong to the public. NBC, CBS and ABC are merely immensely profitable corporations riding — free — the biggest gravy chain in the history of the United States

Years ago land - grant abuses by some railroads, and the railroads' lobbies that protected the abuses, became a national scandal — once it was exposed. Public indignation can expose the scale and character of today's politicians inside tie-ups that allow TV- radio's free ride.

Shocking numbers of Representatives, Senators and White House people own, partly own or receive fees from TV-radio stations. Why does the government give the incredibly valuable licenses to the publi's air channels free?? What's the matter with the toll-bridge principle? Closing this loophole in the 1934 Federal Communications Act by a Congress that's talking about increasing people's taxes is all that is required.

Our public hasn't fallen helpless. The bamboozle only makes it look that way. If each outraged parent, along with disgusted groups everywhere, does his part the roaring writings to the sponsors can change NBC, CBS and ABC's Neanderthal standards and the same shout to Congress can also mean billions across the years to the benefit of us taxpaying peasants.

Dirksen's Blueprint of Issues

(Chicago Daily News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—Everett McK. Dirksen has provided some hints of the issues the Republicans are expected to use against the Democrats in the election campaign this year.

"To describe the condition of the country, I could probably have to say," the Senate Republican leader told fellow Republicans, "that there is great unhappiness." He said it was "unlike anything I have ever seen before."

The man from Illinois, who is expected to become chairman of the platform committee at this year's Republican National Convention, ticked off at a luncheon meeting of the Republican National Committee the reasons for the unhappiness" he has detected. Here is the list:

—The Vietnam war. "It is something of a stalemate," he said.

—Rioting in the streets. "In more than 200 cities last year there was mob anarchy and destruction of property that could almost be called a war." He branded the administration's warning that the nation is headed into another "hot violent summer" as a kind of "concession" that it is not equal to enforcement of the law. "If they can not do it," he declared, they should "move over and let somebody else have a chance."

—The mounting crime rate. "The nation's capital, which should be a paragon of virtue, fairly reeks with crime. And the same can be said of everywhere else in the country."

Dirksen's criticism of the administration's handling of law enforcement drew the warmest applause from party leaders who are attending a meeting here to plan their August convention in Miami Beach and the campaign that will follow it.

He also charged the administration with following a policy of "fiscal degeneracy" and declared that there would be an "unmanageable" deficit of either $18 billion or $28 billion, depending on whether President Johnson gets the tax increase he seeks. The budget deficit, he asserted, would be $10 billion more than the figure estimated by the President.

The War Against Poverty

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report from the front in another war — the war against poverty — makes cheerless reading.

During 1967, in the third year of President Johnson's anti-poverty program, with its avowed aim of helping people to help themselves, more people went on relief tnan ever before.

In the single program of aid to families with dependent children — by far the largest and most active of the aid programs — 686,000 people were added to the rolls last year compared with 319,000 during the previous year and an average annual increase of 220,000 over the past five years. The total number in the program is now at a record high 5.4 million.

And not only are families going on the rolls at a faster rate than ever, they are slower to get off. Last year the number of cases closed declined from the previous year.

Even so, there is this startling statistic from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare: Today, in the 34th year of the government's commitment to a welfare program, only half those eligible for child welfare benefits are getting them. The rest either don't know about it or won't sign up out of pride.

The department said the big increase was unanticipated, but in justifying a request for an emergency appropriations of $1.1 billion to keep the programs going, the department gave at least one reason that can hardly be called a new development.

This is the persistence of a high unemployment rate among the unskilled and uneducated. For Negroes among this group the unemployment rate is three to four times above the average.

Another reason for the increase is the long-continuing movement of rural poor to the cities where welfare benefits are easier to get and more generous. The states set their own benefits rates and eligibility standards, and contribute part of the money.

The wide discrepancy in the states' efforts to help their poor is seen in the level of benefits in the children's program: From a low of $8.35 per child per month in Mississippi to $57.20 in New Jersey. The national average is $38.15 per child or $157.70 per family.

Ironically, it is the administration's effort to improve the lot of the poor that has probably contributed most to the increase in the welfare load. A major activity of many community anti - poverty groups is reaching people who qualify for welfare benefits and helping them establish their eligibility. Civil rights groups and other private organizations are also active in this area.

Also, the new Medicaid program has turned up many families eligible for relief under the children's aid program.

In passing a Social Security and welfare bill last year, Congress put a freeze on the number of children who can receive federal funds and added other provisions designed to get people off relief.

But that was also a well-advertised feature of the last big overhaul of the program in 1962, and the rolls have increased steadily every since.

Hunt for 'Subversives' Now Will Include Black Power Advocates

By SAUL FRIEDMAN
(Chicago Daily News Service)

WASHINGTON — For the first time in a decade, Senate conservatives have launched a campaign to renew the hunt for "subversives." But now they aim to include blacks as well as Reds.

The campaign was begun by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), with the introduction of a 94-page bill "to strengthen the internal security of the United States."

Eastland said, in a Senate speech, that it was designed to shore up Communist-hunting laws, which have been eroded by decisions of the U .S. Supreme Court.

Liberals were slow to react to Eastland's bill, partly because it was introduced during the height of the civil rights debate in the Senate, and also because they give it little chance for passage.

The bill was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which Eastland is chairman. Liberals, who have a one-vote advantage on the committee, believe they can talk it to death.

But at least one of the men the liberals usually count on, Sen. Thomas H. Dodd (D-Conn.) is supporting the Eastland bill. And there is always the possibility that a summer of urban violence and unseemly peacenik demonstrations could spring the bill loose.

Hearings may begin in a few weeks.

In its present form the bill is a sweeping measure designed to patch the holes in anti-subversive laws passed during the more hysterical days of the cold war and the heyday of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Its targets include Communists, Black Power advocates, antiwar demonstrators, administration opponents of Red-hunting, labor unions, the Supreme Court, the State Department, and the United Nations.

The bill seeks to strengthen the 1940 Smith Act, which prohibits one from "teaching or advocationg" the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government. Until it was weakened by the Supreme Court, the Smith Act had been used to imprison Communist party leaders.

The Eastland Bill

Under the Eastland bill, the Smith Act could be used against black radicals as well as Communists.

For example, it would provide that any person or group violates the law if it "knowingly or willfully advocates, abets, advises, or teaches the duty, necessity, desirability, or propriety of overthrowing or destroying the government of the U. S. or the government of any state, territory . . . or the government of any political subdivision . . . by force or violence."

This could include radical black and white non-Communist organizations that now openly advocate revolutionary changes in the American system "by whatever means necessary."

The Eastland Bill also provides that guilt can be established "without regard to the immediate provable effect" of the acts which are prohibited.

Taking aim at antiwar demonstrators, the Eastland Bill would make it treasonous to give "aid or comfort to an adversary of the U. S." The maximum punishment would be a fine of $10,000 or 10 years in prison, or both.

The demotion of Otto Otepka, a State Department official who gave unauthorized information to Eastland's Internal Security Subcommittee, inspired a section to encourage government informants and protect them when they informed.

Eastland's bill seeks to prop up the Subversive Activities Control Board, which is on the brink of becoming extinct. It extends the board's power and limits the scope of an appeal made against the board's action.

This section of the bill rejects the criteria established by the Supreme Court for clamping down on dissent. The court has held that movements cannot be stopped by law unless they present "a clear and present danger."

Eastland's bill would provide that membership in a Communist or "Communist-action" organization is "per se a clear and present danger." Members of these groups, the bill provides, are automatically to be excluded from working in any installation performing any government contracts.

Labor Relations

Similarly, if it suspected that members of a Communist or Communist-action organization have infiltrated labor unions and are engaging in activities which "disrupt normal peaceful labor relations and limit or embarrass the choice of loyal citizens in affiliating with loyal labor organizations," an employer can discharge such employes. And any two members can bring suspected union leaders before the board.

The Eastland bill also seeks to oust from schools that take federal aid teachers or administrators who belong to Communist or Communist-action groups.

Although Eastland's bill does not specifically refer to any Black Power organizations that advocate radical and revolutionary goals, the term "Communist-action organization" could concievably be applied to them.

One section of the bill would make it a violation of the law to use the mails or travel interstate to incite a riot. And senators who support Eastland's bill repeatedly have sought to link urban riots and Black Power leaders with Communist movements here and abroad.

In response to controversy in the State Department's passport office between Liberals and hard-line anti-Communists, Eastland's bill would take from the State Depart ment the power to refuse, issue, and revoke visas and give it to the Justice Department.

It also would give more power to the Federal Government to deport aliens, revoke naturalized citizenships, lift passports, and limit the areas to which persons may travel abroad.

Eastland also wants to create a superpowerful security agency within government to check on federal and American United Nations employes, and put on special loyalty and security programs.

The War Against Poverty

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report from the front in another war — the war against poverty — makes cheerless reading.

During 1967, in the third year of President Johnson's anti-poverty program, with its avowed aim of helping people to help themselves, more people went on relief than ever before.

In the single program of aid to families with dependent children — by far the largest and most active of the aid programs — 686,000 people were added to the rolls last year compared with 319,000 during the previous year and an average annual increase of 220,000 over the past five years. The total number in the program is now at a record high 5.4 million.

And not only are families going on the rolls at a faster rate than ever, they are slower to get off. Last year the number of cases closed declined from the previous year.

Even so, there is this startling statistic from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare: Today, in the 34th year of the government's commitment to a welfare program, only half those eligible for child welfare benefits are getting them. The rest either don't know about it or won't sign up out of pride.

The department said the big increase was unanticipated, but in justifying a request for an emergency appropriations of $1.1 billion to keep the programs going, the department gave at least one reason that can hardly be called a new development.

This is the persistence of a high unemployment rate among the unskilled and uneducated. For Negroes among this group the unemployment rate is three to four times above the average.

Another reason for the increase is the long-continuing movement of rural poor to the cities where welfare benefits are easier to get and more generous. The states set their own benefits rates and eligibility standards, and contribute part of the money.

The wide discrepancy in the states' efforts to help their poor is seen in the level of benefits in the children's program: From a low of $8.35 per child per month in Mississippi to $57.20 in New Jersey. The national average is $38.15 per child or $157.70 per family.

Ironically, it is the administration's effort to improve the lot of the poor that has probably contributed most to the increase in the welfare load. A major activity of many community anti - poverty groups is reaching people who qualify for welfare benefits and helping them establish their eligibility. Civil rights groups and other private organizations are also active in this area.

Also, the new Medicaid program has turned up many families eligible for relief under the children's aid program.

In passing a Social Security and welfare bill last year, Congress put a freeze on the number of children who can receive federal funds and added other provisions designed to get people off relief.

But that was also a well-advertised feature of the last big overhaul of the program in 1962, and the rolls have increased steadily every since.

Hunt for 'Subversives' Now Will Include Black Power Advocates

By SAUL FRIEDMAN
(Chicago Daily News Service)

WASHINGTON — For the first time in a decade, Senate conservatives have launched a campaign to renew the hunt for "subversives." But now they aim to include blacks as well as Reds.

The campaign was begun by Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), with the introduction of a 94-page bill "to strengthen the internal security of the United States."

Eastland said, in a Senate speech, that it was designed to shore up Communist-hunting laws, which have been eroded by decisions of the U .S. Supreme Court.

Liberals were slow to react to Eastland's bill, partly because it was introduced during the height of the civil rights debate in the Senate, and also because they give it little chance for passage.

The bill was referred to the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which Eastland is chairman. Liberals, who have a one-vote advantage on the committee, believe they can talk it to death.

But at least one of the men the liberals usually count on, Sen. Thomas H. Dodd (D-Conn.) is supporting the Eastland bill. And there is always the possibility that a summer of urban violence and unseemly peacenik demonstrations could spring the bill loose.

Hearings may begin in a few weeks.

In its present form the bill is a sweeping measure designed to patch the holes in anti-subversive laws passed during the more hysterical days of the cold war and the heyday of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin.

Its targets include Communists, Black Power advocates, antiwar demonstrators, administration opponents of Red-hunting, labor unions, the Supreme Court, the State Department, and the United Nations.

The bill seeks to strengthen the 1940 Smith Act, which prohibits one from "teaching or advocationg" the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government. Until it was weakened by the Supreme Court, the Smith Act had been used to imprison Communist party leaders.

The Eastland Bill

Under the Eastland bill, the Smith Act could be used against black radicals as well as Communists.

For example, it would provide that any person or group violates the law if it "knowingly or willfully advocates, abets, advises, or teaches the duty, necessity, desirability, or propriety of overthrowing or destroying the government of the U. S. or the government of any state, territory . . . or the government of any political subdivision . . . by force or violence."

This could include radical black and white non-Communist organizations that now openly advocate revolutionary changes in the American system "by whatever means necessary."

The Eastland Bill also provides that guilt can be established "without regard to the immediate provable effect" of the acts which are prohibited.

Taking aim at antiwar demonstrators, the Eastland Bill would make it treasonous to give "aid or comfort to an adversary of the U. S." The maximum punishment would be a fine of $10,000 or 10 years in prison, or both.

The demotion of Otto Otepka, a State Department official who gave unauthorized information to Eastland's Internal Security Subcommittee, inspired a section to encourage government informants and protect them when they informed.

Eastland's bill seeks to prop up the Subversive Activities Control Board, which is on the brink of becoming extinct. It extends the board's power and limits the scope of an appeal made against the board's action.

This section of the bill rejects the criteria established by the Supreme Court for clamping down on dissent. The court has held that movements cannot be stopped by law unless they present "a clear and present danger."

Eastland's bill would provide that membership in a Communist or "Communist-action" organization is "per se a clear and present danger." Members of these groups, the bill provides, are automatically to be excluded from working in any installation performing any government contracts.

Labor Relations

Similarly, if it suspected that members of a Communist or Communist-action organization have infiltrated labor unions and are engaging in activities which "disrupt normal peaceful labor relations and limit or embarrass the choice of loyal citizens in affiliating with loyal labor organizations," an employer can discharge such employes. And any two members can bring suspected union leaders before the board.

The Eastland bill also seeks to oust from schools that take federal aid teachers or administrators who belong to Communist or Communist-action groups.

Although Eastland's bill does not specifically refer to any Black Power organizations that advocate radical and revolutionary goals, the term "Communist-action organization" could concievably be applied to them.

One section of the bill would make it a violation of the law to use the mails or travel interstate to incite a riot. And senators who support Eastland's bill repeatedly have sought to link urban riots and Black Power leaders with Communist movements here and abroad.

In response to controversy in the State Department's passport office between Liberals and hard-line anti-Communists, Eastland's bill would take from the State Department the power to refuse, issue, and revoke visas and give it to the Justice Department.

It also would give more power to the Federal Government to deport aliens, revoke naturalized citizenships, lift passports, and limit the areas to which persons may travel abroad.

Eastland also wants to create a superpowerful security agency within government to check on federal and American United Nations employes, and put on special loyalty and security programs.

Arrest Woodstock Man, Theft of Services Charge

Investigation by state police, the sheriff's office and New York Telephone Co., resulted in the arrest on Tuesday afternoon of Theodore Lennon, 31, who gave his address as 29 Millstream Road, Woodstock, on a charge of theft of services.

The arrest was made by Senior BCI Investigator Charles Teelon and County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of the sheriff's staff, with the cooperation of representatives of the telephone company.

Authorities said $1,500 was involved in the charge.

Lennon was arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten. Troopers said the defendant pleaded guilty and was released pending a presentencing investigation. The case adjourned until March 1.

According to Investigator Teelon, Lennon was charged with obtaining telephone service under assumed names, transferring charges for telephone calls to another number and obtaining service to his home under another name.

Pleads Innocent In Caldor Theft

Charged with petit larceny in connection with the alleged theft of merchandise valued at $1.87 from Caldor's store, Dorothy Mattera, 37, of Box 193, Saugerties, was arrested Tuesday by Security Officer Herbert O'Brien and Trooper R. O. Riesberg.

Arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten, the woman pleaded innocent to the shoplifting charge. She was released in $25 bail and hearing was adjourned until March 15 at 8 p. m. in the Woodstock Town Hall courtroom.

$1,582,164 Contract For Local Hercules

A $1,582,164 Army contract has been awarded Hercules Inc., according to announcement made today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

The contract calls for the production of 3,300,300 special electric blasting caps to be made at the company's Port Ewen plant.

The contract was awarded by the U.S. Army Ammunition and Supply Agency, Joliet, Ill. to the Hercules Inc., Wilmington, Del. office.

A spokesman at the Port Ewen facility said today that the contract is a continuation of work already being done by Hercules for the Army.

Some increased employment is expected in view of the new agreement, the spokesman said and applications are presently being accepted.

The amount of additional recruitment will depend to some extent upon delivery schedules.

Set Dedication, Vets Assistance Site in Gotham

The dedication of the U.S. Veterans Assistance Center, 10th Floor, VA Building, 252 Seventh Avenue, New York City, took place today, Feb. 26, at 2 p. m.

Both New York U.S. Senators have been invited as have all members of the New York City Congressional delegation. Invitations have also been extended to the Governor, New York City's Mayor, the directors of all Federal agencies, the Department Commanders of the service organizations and many others active in Federal, state, municipal and veterans affairs. Prominent civic organizations will be represented.

The USVAC has been in operation since last Monday as a 'one stop center" where veterans of the Vietnam era can find information of any benefit available to them, whether a VA benefit or not. Several Federal, state and city agencies are cooperating in the operation.

The New York center is one of 10 setup throughout the nation in accordance with the President's message to Congress on Jan. 30. A committee, under the chairmanship of Thomas V. Keefe, Manager, New York VA Regional Office, completed plans for the project, which has operated with decided success since its establishment.

FOUND DEAD—Frankie Lymon, 26-year-old rock 'n' roll singer who last year wrote a magazine article on how he overcame drug addiction, was found dead Tuesday of an apparent overdose of narcotics. Lymon, who was on leave from his Army post at Fort Gordon, Ga., was found dead in the apartment of a friend. Police said a hypodermic needle was found near the body. Lymon rose to fame as a teenaged singer during the 1950's with such hit records as "Why Do Fools Fall in Love" and "Goody, Goody." He was arrested in 1966 on charges of narcotics possession. Greene Jails New Englanders As Fugitives

Three New Englanders were in custody of Greene County jail today on charges of being fugitives in connection with the theft of a car in Hartford, Conn. on Monday.

Trooper E. E. Laplante of Leeds identified the trio as William Fuller, 20, of 44 Haynes Street, Hartford; Robert Natusch, 19, of Edgartown Road, Vineyard Haven, Mass. and James Scala, 19, of Springfield, Mass.

State Troopers A. J. Peterson and Albert Parker and Catskill village police apprehended the trio as they were riding through the village in a 1961 car which authorities said was a stolen vehicle. Arraigned before a committing magistrate the three were ordered held in jail pending extradition proceedings to be instituted by Connecticut authorities.

Puri said the four took $3,500 in Canadian currency, drugs and other goods, and planned to "escape to the United States."

What happened to the fourth man was not determined. Coast Guard sources speculated that he backed out at the last moment and released the captain and crew after his three companions took to the lifeboat.

Elkins said Puri told him the three defectors were back aboard the 26 de Julio, wet and cold but otherwise in good shape. However, Elkins said he did not see them.

The Coast Guard described the 26 de Julio as a cattle boat that plies between Canada and Cuba. However, in Havana the Cuban foreign minister described it as part of the national fishing fleet.

Elmer Brown, ITU Head, Dies

Brown, who had announced he would retire this year as head of the ITU, died at 10:35 a.m.

Dr. Eugene R. Griffith, chief of the hospital medical staff, declined to identify the illness, but he said Brown was admitted 10 days ago and his condition worsened over the weekend.

Brown was in Penrose Cancer Hospital from Dec. 6 to Jan. 10, hospital records showed.

He was named head of the ITU in 1958 after serving as vice president since 1944. As president, he headed more than 123,000 printers and mailers in the United States and Canada.

John J. Pilch, the ITU first vice president and a candidate for president in the July 15 election, has been acting president during Brown's illness.

Arrest Woodstock Man, Theft of Services Charge

Investigation by state police, the sheriff's office and New York Telephone Co., resulted in the arrest on Tuesday afternoon of Theodore Lennon, 31, who gave his address as 29 Millstream Road, Woodstock, on a charge of theft of services.

The arrest was made by Senior BCI Investigator Charles Teelon and County Investigator Harold T. Bowers of the sheriff's staff, with the cooperation of representatives of the telephone company.

Authorities said $1,500 was involved in the charge.

Lennon was arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten. Troopers said the defendant pleaded guilty and was released pending a presentencing investigation. The case adjourned until March 1.

According to Investigator Teelon, Lennon was charged with obtaining telephone service under assumed names, transferring charges for telephone calls to another number and obtaining service to his home under another name.

Pleads Innocent In Caldor Theft

Charged with petit larceny in connection with the alleged theft of merchandise valued at $1.87 from Caldor's store, Dorothy Mattera, 37, of Box 193, Saugerties, was arrested Tuesday by Security Officer Herbert O'Brien and Trooper R. O. Riesberg.

Arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Rudolf C. Baumgarten, the woman pleaded innocent to the shoplifting charge. She was released in $25 bail and hearing was adjourned until March 15 at 8 p. m. in the Woodstock Town Hall courtroom.

$1,582,164 Contract For Local Hercules

A $1,582,164 Army contract has been awarded Hercules Inc., according to announcement made today by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

The contract was awarded by the U.S. Army Ammunition and Supply Agency, Joliet, Ill. to the Hercules Inc., Wilmington, Del. office.

A spokesman at the Port Ewen facility said today that the contract is a continuation of work already being done by Hercules for the Army.

Some increased employment is expected in view of the new agreement, the spokesman said and applications are presently being accepted.

The amount of additional recruitment will depend to some extent upon delivery schedules.

Set Dedication, Vets Assistance Site in Gotham

Both New York U.S. Senators have been invited as have all members of the New York City Congressional delegation. Invitations have also been extended to the Governor, New York City's Mayor, the directors of all Federal agencies, the Department Commanders of the service organizations and many others active in Federal, state, municipal and veterans affairs. Prominent civic organizations will be represented.

The USVAC has been in operation since last Monday as a 'one stop center" where veterans of the Vietnam era can find information of any benefit available to them, whether a VA benefit or not. Several Federal, state and city agencies are cooperating in the operation.

The New York center is one of 10 setup throughout the nation in accordance with the President's message to Congress on Jan. 30. A committee, under the chairmanship of Thomas V. Keefe, Manager, New York VA Regional Office, completed plans for the project, which has operated with decided success since its establishment.

FOUND DEAD—Frankie Lymon, 26-year-old rock 'n' roll singer who last year wrote a magazine article on how he overcame drug addiction, was found dead Tuesday of an apparent overdose of narcotics. Lymon, who was on leave from his Army post at Fort Gordon, Ga., was found dead in the apartment of a friend. Police said a hypodermic needle was found near the body. Lymon rose to fame as a teenaged singer during the 1950's with such hit records as "Why Do Fools Fall in Love" and "Goody, Goody." He was arrested in 1966 on charges of narcotics possession. Greene Jails New Englanders As Fugitives

Three New Englanders were in custody of Greene County jail today on charges of being fugitives in connection with the theft of a car in Hartford, Conn. on Monday.

State Troopers A. J. Peterson and Albert Parker and Catskill village police apprehended the trio as they were riding through the village in a 1961 car which authorities said was a stolen vehicle. Arraigned before a committing magistrate the three were ordered held in jail pending extradition proceedings to be instituted by Connecticut authorities.

Puri said the four took $3,500 in Canadian currency, drugs and other goods, and planned to "escape to the United States."

What happened to the fourth man was not determined. Coast Guard sources speculated that he backed out at the last moment and released the captain and crew after his three companions took to the lifeboat.

Elkins said Puri told him the three defectors were back aboard the 26 de Julio, wet and cold but otherwise in good shape. However, Elkins said he did not see them.

The Coast Guard described the 26 de Julio as a cattle boat that plies between Canada and Cuba. However, in Havana the Cuban foreign minister described it as part of the national fishing fleet.

Elmer Brown, ITU Head, Dies

Brown, who had announced he would retire this year as head of the ITU, died at 10:35 a.m.

Dr. Eugene R. Griffith, chief of the hospital medical staff, declined to identify the illness, but he said Brown was admitted 10 days ago and his condition worsened over the weekend.

Brown was in Penrose Cancer Hospital from Dec. 6 to Jan. 10, hospital records showed.

He was named head of the ITU in 1958 after serving as vice president since 1944. As president, he headed more than 123,000 printers and mailers in the United States and Canada.

John J. Pilch, the ITU first vice president and a candidate for president in the July 15 election, has been acting president during Brown's illness.

South Africa on the Baby Population

By KENNETH L. WHITING

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) —More white babies and fewer black ones is the double-barreled aim of South Africa's government.

This country's 3.6 million whites are outnumbered by 12.7 termed Bantu. There also are 1.8 million persons of mixed blood, designed as colored, and 486,000 Asians.

Defined Riot

A riot was legally defined by the first Encyclopaedia Britannica in 1768 as any gathering of three or more persons to commit an act of force and violence which would disturb the peace.

Only 19 per cent of South Africa's population is white. If present trends continue whites will be down to 14 per cent of the total at the turn of the century and outnumbered 6 to 1 by nonwhites.

"Unless white couples give up birth control and restore the Afrikaner tradition of big families, white South Africa will commit suicide," said a memo submitted by an Afrikaans group to Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster.

Afrikaners are mostly of Dutch and French Hugenot stock descended from Boer pioneers who settled the interior of what is now South Africa. The ruling Nationalist party, which has been in power 20 years, "Our church and cultural leaders should also encourage people to have bigger families. Independently, we must warn all childless couples of the dangers of birth control," the memo from the Federal Council of Afrikaans Coordinating Committees said. The council has also urged subsidies for Afrikaner parents.

It is not the first time white South Africans have been urged to breed for their nation. The minister of Bantu administration, Michiel Botha, stirred controversy in 1965 when he proposed that all white couples have a baby to celebrate the country's fifth anniversary as a republic.

The birth rate indicates few whites followed his suggestion.

With appeals for larger white families being ignored, officials are increasingly turning toward control of the black birth rate.

In some quarters in South Africa the birth rates are viewed as a danger that whites will eventually be overwhelmed by nonwhites. This fear is seldom publicly expressed in political terms. Officials almost always cite economic reasons for controlling black births.

L'Enfant's Grave

When Pierre Charles L'Enfant, the architect who planned Washington, D.C., died in 1825, he was buried in Maryland. In 1909, his body was disinterred and was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Ellenville Barn Noted As Total Loss

Flames were raging through a large frame barn on the former Gordon farm near Ellenville Tuesday night before the fire was discovered, according to fire officials.

Ellenville fire units in command of Chief George Garrison and Deputy Chief Robert Madden responded to an alarm at about 7:30 p. m., and on arrival firefighters found the building engulfed in flames.

Firemen from Ellenville stood by until the arrival of Woodbourne fire companies. The barn, located in the Woodbourne fire district, had been used for storage of hay. It was a total loss, officials said.

A&P

(SOUP BUSINESS, THAT IS)

but there were only 3: Tomato, Tomato Rice and Cream of Mushroom.

For some time, we've been working on new varieties.
But you know fussy A&P.
If they are going to be called Ann Page,
there can't be better soups... and you can't rush perfection.
It's taken time but it was worth it.

And when you see the prices... you'll want to buy them all.
You should, because they just might be the best values in the store.

One more thing, all 7 have shiny new green, red and gold labels.

Now that A&P is really in the soup business,

By KENNETH L. WHITING

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) —More white babies and fewer black ones is the double-barreled aim of South Africa's government.

This country's 3.6 million whites are outnumbered by 12.7 termed Bantu. There also are 1.8 million persons of mixed blood, designed as colored, and 486,000 Asians.

Defined Riot

A riot was legally defined by the first Encyclopaedia Britannica in 1768 as any gathering of three or more persons to commit an act of force and violence which would disturb the peace.

Only 19 per cent of South Africa's population is white. If present trends continue whites will be down to 14 per cent of the total at the turn of the century and outnumbered 6 to 1 by nonwhites.

"Unless white couples give up birth control and restore the Afrikaner tradition of big families, white South Africa will commit suicide," said a memo submitted by an Afrikaans group to Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster.

Afrikaners are mostly of Dutch and French Hugenot stock descended from Boer pioneers who settled the interior of what is now South Africa. The ruling Nationalist party, which has been in power 20 years, "Our church and cultural leaders should also encourage people to have bigger families. Independently, we must warn all childless couples of the dangers of birth control," the memo from the Federal Council of Afrikaans Coordinating Committees said. The council has also urged subsidies for Afrikaner parents.

It is not the first time white South Africans have been urged to breed for their nation. The minister of Bantu administration, Michiel Botha, stirred controversy in 1965 when he proposed that all white couples have a baby to celebrate the country's fifth anniversary as a republic.

The birth rate indicates few whites followed his suggestion.

With appeals for larger white families being ignored, officials are increasingly turning toward control of the black birth rate.

In some quarters in South Africa the birth rates are viewed as a danger that whites will eventually be overwhelmed by nonwhites. This fear is seldom publicly expressed in political terms. Officials almost always cite economic reasons for controlling black births.

L'Enfant's Grave

When Pierre Charles L'Enfant, the architect who planned Washington, D.C., died in 1825, he was buried in Maryland. In 1909, his body was disinterred and was buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

Ellenville Barn Noted As Total Loss

Flames were raging through a large frame barn on the former Gordon farm near Ellenville Tuesday night before the fire was discovered, according to fire officials.

Ellenville fire units in command of Chief George Garrison and Deputy Chief Robert Madden responded to an alarm at about 7:30 p. m., and on arrival firefighters found the building engulfed in flames.

Firemen from Ellenville stood by until the arrival of Woodbourne fire companies. The barn, located in the Woodbourne fire district, had been used for storage of hay. It was a total loss, officials said.

A&P

(SOUP BUSINESS. THAT IS)

but there were only 3: Tomato, Tomato Rice and Cream of Mushroom.

For some time, we've been working on new varieties.
But you know fussy A&P.
If they are going to be called Ann Page,
there can't be better soups... and you can't rush perfection.
It's taken time but it was worth it.

And when you see the prices... you'll want to buy them all.
You should, because they just might be the best values in the store.

One more thing, all 7 have shiny new green, red and gold labels.

Now that A&P is really in the soup business,

DEAN HILL

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Hill of 29 Edith Avenue, Saugerties, has enlisted in the U.S. Army.

Dean Hill, a 1967 graduate of Saugerties High School, will leave Feb. 26 for Fort Dix, N.J.

Following his basic training he will complete the remainder of his four year term with the U.S. Army Security Agency.

Atkins in Viet

Army Specialist Four John J. Atkins, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Atkins, Western Ave., Marlboro, was assigned as a welder with the 98th Light Equipment Company near Qui Nhon, Vietnam, Jan. 24.

In the SERVICE

Woodvine Bombs

Captain Terry E. Woodvine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald M. Woodvine of 14 Lawrenceville Street., Kingston, is on temporary duty at Andersen AFB, Guam.

Captain Woodvine, a Strategic Air Command electronic warfare officer, flies almost daily B-52 Stratofortress bombing missions against Viet Cong targets in Vietnam.

A 1955 graduate of Kingston High School, Captain Woodvine studied at Pennsylvania State University.

Swart on Duty

Airman First Class Kenneth J. Swart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Swart of 101 Partition St., Saugerties, is on duty at Cam Ranh Bay AB, Vietnam.

The airman attended Saugerties High School.

Titone Graduates

Airman Michael F. Titone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent A. Titone of Highland, has been graduated at Chanute AFB., Ill., from the training course for U. S. Air Force aircraft instrument repairmen.

Airman Titone, an Air Force Reservist, is being assigned to Stewart AFB, N. Y., for duty with the Continental Air Command.

Decorate Manross

U.S. Air Force Master Sergeant Robert L. Manross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manley M. Manross of R. D. 2, Titusville, Pa., has been decorated with the Bronze Medal at Cannon AFB, N.M.

Sergeant Manross was cited for meritorious service during military operations against Viet Cong forces while assigned as an intelligence advisor to the Vietnamese Air Force at Binh Thuy AB, Vietnam.

He is now serving at Cannon in a unit of the Tactical Air Command.

Dutcher Promoted

Lowell R. Dutcher Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell R. Dutcher Sr., Shandaken, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Fort Dix, N.J., Feb 8.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

Bull Enlists

Eric H. Bull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis E. Bull, 2 Shady Lane, Saugerties, enlisted in the United States Air Force Feb. 8, according to Technical Sergeant Dave Pauly of the U. S. Air Force Recruiting Office in Kingston.

Shortly after the enlistment ceremony, Airman Bull departed for Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., where he will receive basic training. Upon completion of this initial training, he will either be assigned directly to an Air Force base or a technical school in the electronics area.

Airman Bull graduated from Saugerties High School in 1967.

Sutherland; thence, north fifty degrees and ten minutes east, two hundred and twenty three feet along westerly line of burying ground lot, passing between two hickory trees, near the south line of lane, to an iron pipe near gate, and place of beginning.

CONTAINING 51.20/100 acres to top of bank of Wallkill, and 1.57 acres along steep bank to water, CONTAINING 52.77/100 acres in all be the same more or less.

TOGETHER with a right of way over the lane of approximately 24 feet 10 inches in width which said lane extends from the New Paltz-Kingston State Highway westerly along the northerly boundary of other lands of the parties of the first part to property of David F. Jewett formerly Luther Hasbrouck. The lands upon which the said lane runs is now owned by Smith, formerly LeFever. In the event that the aforesaid lane is ever closed the parties of the first part hereby give and grant unto the party of the second part a right of way of the same width extending from the aforesaid, state highway westerly over other lands of the parties of the first part to the premises hereby conveyed such right of way to run as nearly as possible parallel to the existing lane and the road over said right of way is to be opened and constructed by the parties of the first part or their heirs or assigns. The said lands over which such right of way is to be constructed are described in two certain deeds one dated April 26, 1927 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 523 page 489 the other dated December 23, 1925 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 514 page 563 December 28, 1925 both of said deeds being from the Simon LeFever to the parties of the first part.

As the same is described in a certain deed of William W. Sutherland and Margaret A. Sutherland, to Louis L. Pokrass dated October 31, 1941 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Book 621 of deeds at page 367 in November 5, 1941.

ALSO CONVEYING ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Town of New Paltz, County of Ulster, State of New York, and being shown as Lot No. 4, on map of farm of J. P. LeFevre, made by O. J. Tillson in March 1953, and more particularly described as follows, as the magnetic needle points in November, 1941.

BEGINNING at a point in westerly line of concrete state road between New Paltz and Kingston at the intersection with the northerly line of land of William W. Sutherland; thence, north twenty five degrees east, five hundred and twelve feet along westerly line of state road; thence, north thirty four degrees east, one hundred and sixty one feet along same to a point in center of old road where the concrete road curves, toward the east, thence north sixty degrees west, thirteen hundred and forty five feet along southerly line of lot of James O. LeFevre to the easterly line of land, formerly of Huram Hasbrouck, now David F. Jewett, thence south forty five degrees west, five hundred and sixty feet along Jewett to the northerly line of lot conveyed by William W. Sutherland to Louis Pokrass; thence, south fifty four degrees east, eighty five feet along extension of southerly line of lane to northwest corner of William W. Sutherland's land; thence south fifty five degrees east, fourteen hundred and fifty one feet, along the southerly side of lane, which is a right of way, 25 feet wide, reserved for access to Sutherland's land, and a burying ground, to the westerly line of state road, and place of beginning.

CONTAINING 19.58/100 acres of land, be the same more or less.

ALSO CONVEYING ALL THAT OTHER LOT OF LAND, being parts of lots 5 and 6 as shown on map of farm of J. P. LeFevre, made in 1853, lying south of parts of said lots sold by Simon LeFevre to William W. Sutherland in 1925 and 1929.

BEGINNING in the westerly line of State road at intersection with northerly line of land of Camp St. Agnes, which is also the southerly line of land of Simon Le Fevre, now Smith; thence north fifty one degrees west, nineteen hundred and eight feet along Camp St. Agnes line, to easterly line of land sold by William W. Sutherland to Louis Pokrass; thence north fifty degrees and thirty minutes east, seven hundred feet along said easterly line of Pokrass to a pin oak tree; thence, south forty eight degrees and thirty minutes east, one hundred and twenty three and four tenths feet along southerly line of William W. Sutherland to the northwest corner of the burying ground, which is 50 x 50 feet; thence, south fifty five degrees east five hundred and thirty two and six tenths feet along southerly line of Sutherland; north thirty three degrees east eighty feet thence south fifty six degrees east, nine hundred feet to a point in westerly line of state road, and southeast corner of Sutherland; thence, south twenty five degrees west, nine hundred and eight feet along westerly line of state road, to place of beginning.

CONTAINING 30.8/10 acres of land, be the same more or less.

The last two above described parcels are a part of the premises conveyed by Simon LeFevre, widower to Elizabeth E. Smith, by deed dated July 31, 1941 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 619 of deeds page 168 August 2nd, 1941 and being all of the property described in said deed which lies on the westerly side of Highway No. 32.

ALL THAT CERTAIN RIGHT OF WAY situate in said Town of New Paltz, County of Ulster and State of New York, bounded and described as follows: viz:- The center line of said right of way begins at an iron pipe driven in the ground on the westerly side of the State Road leading from New Paltz to Kingston 212.5 feet on a bearing of south 20 degrees west (as the magnetic needle pointed November, 1921) from the center of a concrete culvert on the said State Road, thence through the lands of Simon LeFevre, north 57 degrees west 1465.5 feet 12 feet 4.5 inches northerly of two hickory trees and the lands of Isaac LeFevre. The width of said right of way is to be 24 feet 9 inches or 12 feet 4.5 inches on each side of said center line and to extend from the said State Road to the lands of Isaac LeFevre.

BEING the same as described in a deed from Simon LeFevre and Jane H. B. LeFevre, his wife, to Isaac LeFevre dated December 1, 1921, and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 501 of deeds at page 341 on January 17, 1924.

It being the intent to release from the aforesaid mortgage all of the lands belonging to Jack and Sonia Erman on the westerly side of Route 32 in the Town of New Paltz, County of Ulster and State of New York.

Health for All

INTER-GLOBAL HEALTH

It could be a little startling to think about, but that eight million dollar building complex now going up near Houston, Tex., is nothing but a reception center for astronauts checking in from a visit to the moon.

The installation, known somewhat futuristically as the Lunar Receiving Laboratory, will soon be ready to open its doors. Sort of brings the whole subject of moon travel right out of the sometime into the now. With a thump. And it makes you realize that the first manned moon voyage, scheduled to blast off by the end of 1969, is less than two swift years away.

The Lunar Receiving Laboratory will serve as a quarantine center for moon voyagers returning from their trips. Elaborate preparations are under way to isolate lunar astronauts and everything they wear, carry or bring back, for 21 days on the off chance that they may have picked up some unwelcome organism during their sojourn "up there."

Not that this is considered likely. Scientists generally agree that the existence of any life on the moon is highly improbable. But that doesn't add up to certainty. As one space medicine official put it, "if you can't prove there's no danger, you're constrained to take precautions . . ."

From the moment of splashdown, returning spacecraft and everything they contain, including their crews, will be sealed off from outside contact for the three-week period while medical tests and scientific observations are made. The testers and observers will also remain under quarantine. After their release from isolation, all hands will remain under medical supervision.

Whatever the space flyers bring back from the moon, it isn't likely to be an epidemic. Anyway, we're all entitled to hope for the best, and keep our antibiotics dry!

Arson Conviction

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gordon Lindenmuth, 27, of Rochester has been ordered to serve from 12½ to 37½ years in Attica State Prison for his second arson conviction.

Judge John Conway of Monroe County Court levied the sentence Monday on Lindenmuth's conviction of setting fire last May to the home here of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. De Berger.

In 1962, he received a two-to-five-year sentence for setting fire to another residence on the same street as the De Bergers' home.

Lindenmuth also is awaiting trial on a second 1962 indictment charging him with touching off a $300,000 fire that destroyed a business building here occupied by the George E. Hazard Co.

His address is 541 University Ave. The De Bergers live at 33 Coventry St. The earlier fire was at 100 Coventry. The Hazard building was at 755 Culver Road.

Get Life Terms

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two men convicted of beating a jewelry salesman to death in a downtown Buffalo alley must serve life terms in Attica State Prison.

Judge Frederick M. Marshall of Erie County Court imposed the sentences Monday on Wayne Trimmer, 24, of Depew and Ronald Babchak, 27, of no permanent address.

The two were convicted by a jury Feb. 2 of felony murder in the death Dec. 20, 1966 of Sidney H. Payne, 57, of Buffalo.

A third defendant, Martin J. Cleary, 21, was given a separate trial, which was ended last Nov. 29 with the jury unable to agree on a unanimous verdict. He is awaiting retrial.

After his sentencing, Babchak read a lengthy, self-composed statement charging that the prosecution had used inadmissible evidence. He also presented a notice of appeal to an assistant district attorney.

INTER-GLOBAL HEALTH

It could be a little startling to think about, but that eight million dollar building complex now going up near Houston, Tex., is nothing but a reception center for astronauts checking in from a visit to the moon.

The installation, known somewhat futuristically as the Lunar Receiving Laboratory, will soon be ready to open its doors. Sort of brings the whole subject of moon travel right out of the sometime into the now. With a thump. And it makes you realize that the first manned moon voyage, scheduled to blast off by the end of 1969, is less than two swift years away.

The Lunar Receiving Laboratory will serve as a quarantine center for moon voyagers returning from their trips. Elaborate preparations are under way to isolate lunar astronauts and everything they wear, carry or bring back, for 21 days on the off chance that they may have picked up some unwelcome organism during their sojourn "up there."

Not that this is considered likely. Scientists generally agree that the existence of any life on the moon is highly improbable. But that doesn't add up to certainty. As one space medicine official put it, "if you can't prove there's no danger, you're constrained to take precautions . . ."

From the moment of splashdown, returning spacecraft and everything they contain, including their crews, will be sealed off from outside contact for the three-week period while medical tests and scientific observations are made. The testers and observers will also remain under quarantine. After their release from isolation, all hands will remain under medical supervision.

Whatever the space flyers bring back from the moon, it isn't likely to be an epidemic. Anyway, we're all entitled to hope for the best, and keep our antibiotics dry!

Clintondale

CLINTONDALE — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sabarese Jr. are the parents of a daughter, born recently at St. Francis Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Coy and Louis LaFalce are on a tour of the western states. Mrs. Coy, who is president of the DUSO Horse Club, will attend the National Quarter Horse Show at Tucson, Ariz.

At the Clintondale Methodist Church both worship service and Sunday school start at 9:45 a.m. with the Rev. Purdy Halstead delivering the sermon.

Douglas Minard and Collie Brewer of this place were part of the contingent of musicians from Highland High School who took part in the Ulster County Band Festival held recently at Mariboro High School. The annual festival is sponsored by the Ulster County Music Educators Association. Appearing with the campus school band of New Paltz was Holly Hurd. Jane Brewer and Sue Capozzi played with the Highland senior band.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hurd who has been touring Australia is expected home next week.

Mt. Marion

MT. MARION—The Women's Guild for Christian Service met recently in the church hall. Mrs. Robert Brown, president, presided. Mrs. David Bogert led the devotions and Mrs. William S. Myer had the program for the evening. She read a paper on Japan. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

Mrs. Warren D. Myer was in Binghamton recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Coutant of Highland, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coutant, South Road, Mt. Marion.

Aubrey L. Berry of West Hurley called on Mrs. Fred S. Osterhoudt and Miss Sara E. Osterhoudt recently.

Peter Ferraro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ferraro, has returned home from a vacation trip to Hawaii.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coutant were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hansen, Glen Gardner, N. J.

At the Feb. 18 Sunday morning service of the Plattekill Reformed Church, the Rev. John Needham ordained and installed Conrad Hornbeck to the office of elder. L. Seaver was installed to the office of elder and George Felton and Harold Shortt to the office of deacons.

Arson Conviction

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Gordon Lindenmuth, 27, of Rochester has been ordered to serve from 12½ to 37½ years in Attica State Prison for his second arson conviction.

Judge John Conway of Monroe County Court levied the sentence Monday on Lindenmuth's conviction of setting fire last May to the home here of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard W. De Berger.

In 1962, he received a two-to-five-year sentence for setting fire to another residence on the same street as the De Bergers' home.

Lindenmuth also is awaiting trial on a second 1962 indictment charging him with touching off a $300,000 fire that destroyed a business building here occupied by the George E. Hazard Co.

His address is 541 University Ave. The De Bergers live at 23 Coventry St. The earlier fire was at 100 Coventry. The Hazard building was at 755 Culver Road.

Get Life Terms

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Two men convicted of beating a jewelry salesman to death in a downtown Buffalo alley must serve life terms in Attica State Prison.

Judge Frederick M. Marshall of Erie County Court imposed the sentences Monday on Wayne Trimmer, 24, of Depew and Ronald Babchak, 27, of no permanent address.

The two were convicted by a jury Feb. 2 of felony murder in the death Dec. 20, 1966 of Sidney H. Payne, 57, of Buffalo.

A third defendant, Martin J. Cleary, 21, was given a separate trial, which was ended last Nov. 29 with the jury unable to agree on a unanimous verdict. He is awaiting retrial.

After his sentencing, Babchak read a lengthy, self-composed statement charging that the prosecution had used inadmissible evidence. He also presented a notice of appeal to an assistant district attorney.

Personal Sale Preferences For Ailing Police Officer

Q—I am a retired police officer who had an open-heart operation last fall. I have a few stocks, and I will have to sell some of these to pay medical expenses. My stocks include Collins & Aikman; Fischbach & Moore; James Talcott; Swift & Co., Schenley pfd; Eagle Clothes. I don't know which ones to sell and would appreciate your advice.—A.B.

A—I should like to offer my sincere sympathy on your illness. You haven't told me the number of shares you own, so I will list my preferences for sale in the order in which I would dispose of them if they were my stocks. You will understand, of course, that such a listing is arbitary and purely personal.

I see little future for Schenley pfd, which sells well below its conversion value and has not acted particularly well. Next would come Talcott, a good company which—like other factors—has been hurt by high money rates. Collins & Aikman is in textiles, and the stock has made no price progress for years. I would dispose of this one as a third choice. Fischbach & Moore would be my next preference for sale, and if you have to go further I would let this one go. Finally, and only if necessary, I would sell Eagle Clothes and Swift which are, in some respects, your best holdings.

Q—I have $11,000 in savings and am considering going into a franchise business. I am concerned about the financial situation. Would I be wise to take on a franchise at such a doubtful time?—P.S.

A—I believe what you really need to worry about is the credit situation which already shows signs of tightening up again. Your capital appears to be quite limited, and if you need to borrow you may find it difficult and the rates pretty stiff. I just don't think you have sufficient capital to develop a franchise deal at present.

Saugerties Demos List Candidates

Three Democratic candidates for Saugerties Village trustee posts were named last night by the newly-formed Saugerties Village Democratic Committee.

They were: Nat A. Aaron, Mrs. Patricia Barkhuss and James Keefe, all residents of the village.

The committee, meeting at 83 Partition Street, under the chairmanship of Kenneth Blundell, made its selection "for the express purpose of providing the voter with a choice," according to Blundell. In past years, Democratic candidates for village seats did not run under the party banner.

Village Board elections will be held March 19.

Aaron, who resides at 382 Main Street, is a well-known civic leader who in 1962 was named Saugerties outstanding citizen. He served as president of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce for two terms, has been a member of the planning board and is presently a director of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Mrs. Barkhuss, who lives at 174 Washington Avenue, is a graduate of the University of New Hampshire and received her master degree in English from Bowling Green State University, Ohio. She is a teacher of English at Saugerties High School, is vice-president of the Saugerties Teachers Association and serves on the board of the Saugerties Public Library.

Keefe, a resident of 136 Washington Avenue, is a project manager at IBM and prominent on the Saugerties Democratic scene. A veteran of World War II, he served as a captain in the infantry and was awarded the silver star, two purple hearts and the French croix de guerre.

Case Asks Revision In Military Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., urges President Johnson to revise the system of military draft calls by substituting a lottery or random selection and inducting younger men first.

Case said he opposes the end of draft deferments for most college graduate students.

He commented in a speech prepared for Senate delivery today.

"The President's decision to end most graduate student deferments tackles only part of the problem," Case said.

The decision could result in discrimination against graduate students and disrupt educational institutions, said Case.

Noting that Johnson announced a year ago he would issue an executive order to draft younger eligibles first, Case said this has not been done.

Ending deferments for graduate students may result in filling all draft calls from the older youths, the New Jersey Republican said.

He said a random selection system "coupled with a system of calling younger men first, would give young men their maximum exposure to the draft at an early age and permit them to plan their lives subsequently without constant worry over the possibility of being drafted."

Although Congress did not approve a random-selection system last year when it extended the Selective Service Act, Case said, no objection to the presidential proposal was heard.

The random lottery idea also was endorsed by the Council of Graduate Schools in the United States.

The council, which speaks for many major universities, asked Congress to abolish all college draft deferments and turn instead to the random induction of 19-year-olds. It also expressed opposition to the designation of specific subjects to which students would be eligible for deferment.

Appoint Ex-Chief Murphy Burns Detective Manager

Robert F. Murphy, recently retired police chief of Kingston, has been named manager of the Poughkeepsie office of the William J. Burns Detective Agency, it was announced today by the agency president, Bruce Burns, at the company's New York office.

Murphy joined the Kingston Police in March 1936 and rose through civil service in the department receiving the top post in 1959. He is a member of the board of governors of the New York State Association of Police Chiefs and a director of the detective crime clinic and the organization of police administrators and business executives in the New York Metropolitan area.

Murphy served during World War II as a flight engineer on B24 and B17 bombers in the 8th Air Force. He won the air medal with three oak leaf clusters and the distinguished flying cross.

Liddy Critical of Joe On His Sicily Trip

Gordon Liddy, Republican candidate for Congress, today termed Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick's scheduled trip to Sicily Tuesday ". . . a political exploitation of the Sicilian people's misery."

Resnick, the 28th District's Democrat congressman, recently said the nature of his trip to Sicily was to visit the earthquake-stricken area that was torn by earthquakes several weeks ago. He is slated to depart today.

Liddy said, "I am amazed the Congressman would attempt to capitalize on the misery of these poor, homeless people. My own mother, whose maiden name was Maria Abbaticchio, is of Italian extraction, and all of us with relatives in Sicily feel very badly about the natural disaster."

"However," Liddy continued, "there is very little an American congressman can do to alleviate their misery. His visit is obviously a calculated political move and I resent Mr. Resnick gallavanting around the globe to drum up support when there are so many problems here in the district."

Liddy declared, "For instance, there is nothing that will bring back the Sicilians killed in that dreadful mishap, but something can be done about the disaster awaiting to happen at the end of the Resnick airport runway in Ellenville which launches aircraft, tanks filled with aviation gasoline, directly over an elementary school. God help those little children should the day arrive when they will be required to outrun flaming aviation gas."

Liddy said, "Instead of traveling to Sicily, I call upon the congressman to use his influence to have the runway relocated. Action now could very well prevent a tragedy tomorrow."

The controversial runway is part of a Channel Master construction plan. The firm, owned by Congressman Resnick's brothers, has been embroiled in a debate with local Ellenville citizens concerning the runway's path. Present construction will launch airplanes over a school.

E. ROBERT JOHNSON

E. Robert Johnson, executive director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association is participating in the New York State Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association's annual professional worker's institute Feb. 25-28 at the Hotel Thayer, West Point, with special professional focus on National Program Emphasis including Action for Clean Air, TB-RD Program Planning, and Respiratory Disease Program, service and patient work.

Johnson served on the Program Committee for the development of specific aspects of the institute's training program.

Air Pollution and Cigarette Smoking, a major point in National-to-local TB-RD Program Emphasis, will be pointed up in an Action-for-Clean Air session featuring Alexander Rihm Jr., Assistant Commissioner of Air Resources, New York State Department of Health.

Special emphasis also will be placed upon the establishment of program priorities and goals in Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease with focus on Program Emphasis involving Chemoprophlaxis, Laboratory Services in TB and RD, and the Changing Concept of the Infectiousness of TB.

In the growing program to meet Respiratory Disease needs, the Institute also will concentrate on the disease and RD patients.

Johnson participated Sunday in the executive committee session and at the Monday annual dinner-program conference to the conference of TB and RD Workers of New York State which presented Ronald A. Miller, president of the National Conference of Tuberculosis Workers. Johnson is past secretary of the New York State Conference, serving now as its first vice-president and a member of the executive committee.

$700 Is Taken At Store in W. Coxsackie

An intensive search was conducted Tuesday afternoon by State Police and local authorities for a masked armed robber who bound and gagged an employe in the Agway Store in West Coxsackie and made a getaway with about $700 in cash.

Trooper E. E. LaPlante of the Leeds substation said Charles Shaver, 22, of Mansion Street, West Coxsackie, was alone in the back office of the establishment shortly before 1:30 p. m. when he heard the front door close.

Shaver walked from the office and was confronted by a man wearing a stocking mask with eye holes cut in it. The robber was armed with a weapon that appeared to the victim as a .45 caliber automatic revolver. Shaver was forced into the back office where he was bound and gagged by the holdup man.

Troopers said the man fled from the store after taking about $650 from the safe and cash register and $50 from Shaver's wallet.

Sometime after the robber left the establishment, Shaver managed to free himself and he immediately notified authorities of the robbery. Road blocks were set up but no trace of the armed man was found. It was not known whether the robber had an accomplice or whether a car was used to make a getaway.

In charge of the investigation were Lt. R. F. Kilfeather, Senior BCI Investigator J. J. Buckley and other Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers and uniformed troopers from the Leeds substation.

The much-sought gunman was described as about five feet, two inches tall, weighing between 170 and 175 pounds. He was wearing a light blue stocking mask.

FRANK ANTALEK

After Top N. Y. Jaycee Post

A prominent Saugerties Jaycee this week announced his candidacy for the office of State Jaycee president. He is Frank Antalek, who has served with distinction in leadership posts at the state and local level.

Local District Leader

He served in virtually every local Jaycee office including president and district president for this area. During this past year he has been national director for an area which included locals in Greene, Columbia, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, Sullivan and Ulster Counties. Antalek is also a member of the executive board of both the State Jaycees and the National Jaycees.

Antalek has been employed with International Business Machines Corp., Kingston for the past 12 years and is currently a programmer in the information system development division.

He has been assured of much support from Jaycee locals in the area and will be traveling extensively during the next three months to gather support throughout the state, according to his campaign manager, George Leombruno.

May 17-18 Convention

The election convention will be held in Albany May 17 and 18. It is expected that delegates from all 25 locals in the Hudson Valley will be converging on Albany to support Antalek become the next State Jaycee president.

Antalek and his wife, Diana and their three children reside at Kings Village, Barclay Heights. He and his wife originally came from Schenectady nine years ago.

DA to Moderate Law Workshop

Moderator for the March 13 workshop on Law Enforcement and Rehabilitation of Young People will be District Attorney Joseph Torraca.

The session is being sponsored by the Ulster County Association for Mental Health. Enrollment is now underway and those interested may contact the Mental Health office at 27 East O'Reilly Street, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for further information.

The workshop will be from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing and will feature as speakers Milton Luger, director of the New York State Division for Youth and Robert D. Quick, training officer for the New York State Police.

Panel members will be Frederick S. Appleton, superintendent of Highland Training School; Charles L. McKendrick, warden of Wallkill State Prison; Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin and Charles E. Schultz, director of the Ulster County Probation Department.

Pros and Cons

County Bounty System

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

There is a campaign going on to eliminate the bounty on fox and bobcat in Ulster County and the main argument of the campaigners is that the fox is almost extinct and should be protected.

Now any hunter who has trudged through the woods and fields during the past year can tell you that signs in the wilds disputes this arbitrary judgment. But this is not documentary evidence.

Evidence in the Offices

The evidence can be found in any town clerk's office in towns which have open lands for recreation.

In the Town of Saugerties which has a total of 37,603 acres, 30 foxes, 17 reds and 13 grays have been shot and checked in the past year at the clerk's office for bounty. A red pays $2 and gray $3. Now this tells only half the story. These are the foxes that have been killed.

No one can have an accurate count of those predators that are still at large. As the fox is a very crafty animal and is wary of humans it would be a good guess to estimate that there could be more than 1,000 foxes still at large.

You can rarely meet an avid sportsman at a fish and game club meeting who has not seen a fox during the past hunting or fishing season.

The Town of Ulster has had a similar experience with foxes filed for bounty. Ulster registered a total of 28 for the past year and one bobcat was brought in on Jan. 20, 1967 for which a bounty of $5 was paid. The breakdown for Ulster was 17 red and 11 gray foxes. The Town of Ulster has 15,077 acres.

The Town of Woodstock comprised of 36,957 acres recorded a total of 12 foxes, 8 red and 4 grays for the past year and has also approved bounty for 3 bobcats.

Other Figures

The 67,811 acres in the Town of Shandaken produced an annual kill of 23 foxes, 16 red and 7 gray.

Town of Hurley with acreage of 20,849 reported 15 foxes taken since last February, 10 red and 5 grays.

The county auditor's records for 1967 show bounties have been paid for 139 red foxes, 71 grays and 10 bobcats for a county total of $541.

Marguerite Isaacs of this city and formerly of Woodstock has been lobbying in the Board of Supervisors and now in the County Legislature for elimination of the county bounty system. The county board each year appropriates $1,100 to pay bounties on red and gray fox and bobcats.

At the February meeting of the County Legislature, it was reported that Legislator Samuel Perry, R-Kingston, said he would prepare a resolution to remove the bounty on these predators in the county.

There is also the possibility that rabies may again break out in the fox population even though no cases of rabid foxes have been reported to the County Health Department since 1958. In 1950 during a rabies epidemic in the county 72 foxes were found rabid of those suspected and checked by the Health Department.

If the bounty is removed on foxes thus diminishing the number shot by farmers and hunters the possibility of testing a dead fox for rabies becomes rare. An epidemic could break out and the disease could be passed on to domestic animals before preventative action could be organized.

View of Nimrods

Sportsmen who belong to fish and game clubs that distribute rabbits and pheasants will also take a dim view of removing the bounty. Foxes are known predators and like to feast on small game.

Should Legislator Perry draft a resolution designed to kill the bounty system in Ulster it must still be cleared by the Propogation of Game Committee before it can be presented to the floor of the County Legislature.

Miles Named To 1968 List Of 'Top Men'

Lt. and Mrs. Joseph J. Miles of 144 West O'Reilly Street have received word that their son, Tom, has been selected for inclusion in the 1968 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America." He was nominated by the Dover Chapter Jaycees and selected for publication.

Tom Miles is commercial manager of Radio Station WDOV, Dover, Del. and attended Kingston schools. He is a graduate of Union College, Schenectady. He also served as a navigator in the air force while stationed at Dover Air Force in Dover. Miles and his wife, Virginia, make their home in Dover.

County Alumni Of Syracuse Meets March 19

JAMES SHREVE

The Ulster County Alumni Association of Syracuse University will meet Tuesday evening, March 19, at the Saugerties Junior-Senior High School, Room 201, at 8 o'clock. Greene County alumni and students interested in attending Syracuse University may attend.

The guest speaker will be James Shreve, freshman football coach at SU, who has achieved a 28-5-1 record for his team since taking the post in 1959. Also on the program will be a film of the 1967 Syracuse-UCLA football game. The Orange victory was the high point of last season's grid campaign.

Shreve will be accompanied by Allen Martin, director of Alumni Activities. Donald S. Fellows of Saugerties is president of the county unit.

Javits Discloses He Will Run Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R—N.Y., announced Tuesday he will seek reelection to a third term. His renomination by the Republican State Committee, which meets March 26 in Albany, is a foregone conclusion.

The Democrats have not agreed on a candidate. Two congressmen, Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville and Otis G. Pike of Riverhead, have been campaigning for the Democratic bid, which may be forced to a primary election.

Backers of Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy for the presidency have indicated they would field a "peace candidate" against either Resnick or Pike. It might be Rep John G. Dow of Grand View.

Resnick has said he will withdraw if United Nations Ambassador Arthur Goldberg enters the race. Goldberg has said he is not interested.

Under a new state law, the state committee's candidate can be challenged by anybody who gets 25 per cent of the committee vote, or who collects 10,000 signatures of registered party members from throughout the state.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has said Javits would make a good vice presidential candidate on a ticket headed by Gov. George Romney of Michigan, said he was "delighted" at Javits announcement that he would seek re-election.

New York law forbids a person from running for two statewide offices at the same time, but a GOP spokesman said he did not believe it would prevent Javits from running for both the vice presidency and the Senate this year.

Javits told a news conference he believed the big issues of the campaign will be Vietnam and the "crisis of the cities."

"We cannot continue to escalate the war in pursuit of an illusory military victory," Javits said in a statement.

Javits also was endorsed by Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay, who called him "a practical progressive in the liberal tradition of Norris, La-Follette, Wagner and Lehman."

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

On this date:

In 1808, French forces captured Barcelona, Spain.

In 1827, a charter was granted for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

In 1844, U.S. Secretary of State Abel P. Upshur and Secretary of the Navy Thomas W. Gilmer and three others were killed when a gun exploded on a Navy ship during an excursion down the Potomac River.

In 1933, a Nazi decree suppressed civil liberties in Germany.

In 1952, Vincent Massey was sworn in as the first native-born governor-general of Canada.

Ten years ago—A school bus plunged into a river near Prestonsburg, Ky., drowning 27 children and the driver.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy sent Congress a civil rights message saying Negroes still were victims of racial discrimination, 100 years after the Emancipation Proclamation.

"Novel Factory"

Alexandre Dumas has been accused of setting up a "novel factory." About 300 novels were written under Dumas' name. He only sketched the plots or revised many of them, however, and they were written by young assistants he hired.

Zena School Appeal Of Contractor Affirmed

State Education Commissioner Dr. James E. Allen has affirmed a contractor's appeal in a contract dispute which has delayed the start of construction on the new $1.3 million Zena Elementary School, according to word received today by Kingston School District Consolidated officials.

Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover said he had been notified of Dr. Allen's decision by the State Education Department Legal Division. Dr. Allen is expected to immediately forward a copy of his decision and opinion.

Meanwhile, it was not known whether it will be necessary to rebid on all phases of work for the new school, or whether rebidding will be called for on general construction and plumbing. Those two categories were involved in the dispute.

The decision by Dr. Allen to affirm the appeal indicates that the bidding on the new school was improper and rebidding will be necessary.

The Board of Education was prepared to award the contracts in January, but an appeal made by William Forrest of Poughkeepsie resulted in a stay order by Dr. Allen. Since then suporting briefs were submitted to the State Education Department and have been under review by the legal department.

The appellant contended that two pumps included in the specifications for general construction should have been entered in the plumbing contract.

Forrest submitted the second low bid for the general contract in the amount of $823,000. The low bid was filed by Stanley R. Benjamin, Inc. of Long Beach That estimate was $819,940.

Faces Hearing

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A 25-year-old woman faces a preliminary hearing Wednesday on a manslaughter charge growing out of the stabbing last Aug. 27 of a male acquaintance.

Mrs. Barbara Evans of Buffalo was accused of first-degree manslaughter Monday in the death of Isiah Jackson, 34, also of Buffalo, who succumbed to complications Feb. 19 in Sisters Hospital.

At the time of the incident, police said, Mrs. Evans told them she slashed Jackson on the neck with a butcher knife when he tried to force his way into her home.

The woman was arraigned in City Court before Judge Ann T. Mikoll, who set bail at $5,000.

Mrs. Evans lives at 318 Mortimer St. Jackson's home was on Alexander Place, the same street as the woman's former residence.

Jewish Music Month Program on Friday

Dr. John Park, organist and choirmaster, will conduct a program of liturgical music at Temple Emanuel, Albany Avenue, Friday, March 1. A prayer service at 7:30 will precede the 8 p.m. concert. The program is presented in celebration of Jewish Music Month. Oboe and English horn soloist for the concert, in addition to Dr. Park, will be Leonard Zimet.

Other soloists will be Cecelia Keehn, soprano; Margaret Roosa, contralto; Geraldine Nathan; Thomas Keehn, tenor; Leroy Davis, baritone; Anthony Hummel, bass; Barbara Zimet, piano.

Among the compositions to be presented are "The Lord is My Shepherd;" "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hills;" "Kaddish;" "Sonatina;" "Adonoy Eyl Rachum;" "Etz Chayim;" "Shofar Service;" "Liturgy for the Third Sabbath."

Leonard Zimet, a faculty member at Kingston High School, will play the late Dr. Isadore Freed's "Sonatina for Oboe" from the manuscript copy, accompanied by his wife, Barbara Zimet. Mr. Zimet has been oboist with the Indianapolis, Norfolk, Richmond Symphonies and the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. The Sonatina was premiered in New Jersey by Mr. Zimet in 1962.

The public is invited to attend.

B'nai B'rith Women Will Meet Tonight

Brotherhood of Man will be the theme of the B'nai B'rith Women's meeting tonight at 8:30 in the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane. Mrs. Harvey Kronick, president, has announced the membership will be asked to preview a film to determine whether the organization will sponsor the program for use in local schools.

New members to be welcomed at the meeting include the Mmes. Gilbert Adin, William Eisen, Aaron Eldridge, Murray Fletcher, Nathan Katatsky, Harry Katzoff, Louis Klein, Benjamin Werbalowsky and Morton Werbalowsky.

These women will be presented with a newly designed pin by membership chairman Mrs. Edwin Kalish.

A proposed slate of officers for next year will be presented by the nominating committee which includes the Mmes. Edwin Kalish, Harvey Kronick, Robert Ronder, Seymour Semilof and Harry Speigel.

Plans for the annual Career Day to be held at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School on March 27 will be presented by chairman Mrs. Ira Shaw. On her committee are Mrs. Aaron Eldridge, co-chairman, Mrs. David Gally, publicity, Mrs. William Helmrich and Mrs. Alvin Motzkin, correspondence. The programming will be directed by Mrs. Nancy Grimm, Stephen Hyatt and Donald Germain of the Bailey School staff.

A delegate to represent Zephaniah Chapter at the National B'nai B'rith Women's Triennial Convention in Washington, D. C., will be appointed. The meetings will be held at the Shoreham Hotel from March 24-27.

Arrangements have been made for B'nai B'rith Women from Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Ellenville, Wallkill, Middletown and Kingston to visit the veterans at Castle Point Hospital on March 31. Polaroid pictures of each of the 350 patients will be taken and entertainment and refreshments will be provided for their enjoyment.

Hospitality for the meeting is under the direction of Mrs. C. Ross Ellis and Mrs. David Weinstein.

Y-Wives Plan Fashion Show

Mrs. Frank DiPietro, chairman of the Y-Wives fashion show, has announced final plans for the show which is scheduled for Tuesday, Mar. 5, at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church. The spring showing will be conducted by Sears Roebuck Company and will feature clothing for all ages.

Refreshment committee chairman, Mrs. Carl Nordstrom, has announced the following committee: the Mmes. Robert Finger Jr., Vernon Outwater, Terry Read.

Mrs. William Schrieber, ticket chairman, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Port, reports that tickets are on sale at the Y office and will also be sold at the door.

Publicity chairman, Mrs. Donald Simmons, has announced that posters have been displayed throughout the area.

Secretarial Group to Sponsor Seminar

Mrs. Christopher Starling, president of the local Colonial Valley Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International), has announced that the chapter will sponsor an evening seminar for all area secretaries on Monday, Mar. 18. Simultaneously, she also announced that Miss Lillian Styles, secretary to Dr. William B. Ittner III, manager of the local IBM-SDD laboratory, has been appointed as chairman for this program.

The seminar, "Flight to Secretarial Success," will feature two guest speakers who will discuss the role of today's secretaries in the business office as a member of the managerial team, the opportunities that are envisioned in the years to come, and the preparation required for these potential positions. In addition, there will be a portion devoted to the basic electronic data processing understanding and an "educational jet" session which will feature an informal, brief review of selected secretarial, office connected subjects.

Speakers for the seminar and additional information will be announced as plans progress.

Campaigning Wives Working Hard for Their Candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE—They're not running for president, but they are campaigning as hard as the candidates. They are the candidates' wives—Lenore Romney, Abigail McCarthy, Pat Nixon. All are out in New Hampshire now, shaking hands, making speeches, and kissing babies in dedicated, wifely campaigns for the Granite State primary March 12.

Whether there's a new Richard Nixon as some claim, mellowed and more relaxed, the women kept talking about the new Mrs. Nixon.

In the 1960 compaign, they agreed she frequently looked tense and sharp-featured, and although she put her heart and soul in to her handshaking, she seemed timid about making a misstep.

Eight years later she looks 10 years younger and prettier than she's been for a long time. Her face is fuller, her tawny hair more bouffant, her manner lighthearted.

Most Indefatigable

The most indefatigable campaigner on the New Hampshire primary circuit, including the candidates, is probably Lenore Romney, wife of Michigan's Republican governor and mother of four, grandmother of nine. She maintains a punishing pace six days a week, then flies home to Michigan to teach her Mormon Sunday School class.

She says: "By Saturday night I never want to talk to anyone again, but by Monday I'm ready to go."

Mrs. Romney starts out as early in the morning as she can, often at 8 a.m., and drives hard all day, from home coffee party to high school assembly to coffee hour at a general store to meeting skiers at a lodge. Sometimes she doesn't see her husband for days.

Mrs. Romney is a pretty, reddish-brown-haired, almost fragile looking woman with laugh wrinkles around her eyes. She is adept at putting nervous hotesses and their guests at ease at the six or so home coffee parties she attends in a day. She never drinks coffee herself, but sometimes sips hot water to soothe her throat.

Often there are not more than 200 women gathered in the living room to hear her, but each time she puts everything she's got into her speech.

She never uses notes, but begins talking quietly, taking her cue from her surroundings. Standing beside an American flag at the Newfields Town Hall she told about 25 women, which is 50 per cent of the registered women voters there, about the great moral crisis she believed was threatening the nation.

Won Teenager's Attention

In the Concord High School auditorium she won attention from 700 teen-agers by telling them: "You have the right to rebel, but make sure what you're rebelling for is greater than what you're rebelling against."

Through all her speeches runs her deep belief in her husband, who, she says has never had a hint of scandal in business, or his personal or political life "and the worst thing they can say about him is that he is a square. Well, I think this country is ready for a straight arrow."

An equally articulate, but much more low-key, speaker is Mrs. Eugene J. McCarthy, wife of the Minnesota senator who is challenging President Johnson in the primary, principally on his Vietnam policy.

Recently the attractive, former schoolteacher made her first political foray into New Hampshire, mostly, she said, to meet with the volunteers and offer her services, "and not so much to reach out to the uncommitted at this time. That comes later."

At a volunteer workers luncheon she told them frankly that she was not a glamor girl and that she thought she could be more effective in situations where she could talk for a period of time about issues and about what the senator thought.

Like Mrs. Romney, Mrs. McCarthy is up to the minute in her knowledge of what is going on in the world and how her husband feels about every issue. When Abigail McCarthy says — on a live call-in radio show in Keene, or in question-and-answer periods following talks in Nashua and Manchester—that "Gene feels we should. . . ." it's as authoritative as though it came from the man himself.

Mrs. McCarthy says she likes campaigning. "It's physically tiring, but the great interchange of ideas is stimulating. You get fresh insights. Sitting in Washington you can get frustrated."

In the crowded reception room of the Peterborough Historical Society, backed up against a table of coffee and doughnuts, Mrs. McCarthy greeted hundreds of her husband's supporters with a firm handshake and a warm smile. "Twenty years ago, when he started, I had to learn to steel myself to six people showing up," she mused at one point.

Beside her was 18-year-old Mary McCarthy, who dropped-out of Radcliffe for a semester to campaign for her father. Small, freckled, brunette Mary is one of McCarthy's motivating factors in running, says her mother.

"She kept saying to him: 'What are you going to do this year? Are you going to let this go on?'

"We're proud of Mary. But we're proud of all four children —Ellen, Margaret, Michael. All the family is helping."

A new social activity, thought up by the New Hampshire volunteers, is a series of evening receptions which the McCarthys visit in tandem. Usually the senator arrives first, socializes, makes a small speech. His wife arrives. More socializing. The senator leaves for the next reception and Mrs. McCarthy stays awhile to do what she calls "cleaning up after him." People, she says, will ask her questions they fell shy about putting to him.

Jewish Music Month Program on Friday

Dr. John Park, organist and choirmaster, will conduct a program of liturgical music at Temple Emanuel, Albany Avenue, Friday, March 1. A prayer service at 7:30 will precede the 8 p.m. concert. The program is presented in celebration of Jewish Music Month. Oboe and English horn soloist for the concert, in addition to Dr. Park, will be Leonard Zimet.

Other soloists will be Cecelia Keehn, soprano; Margaret Roosa, contralto; Geraldine Nathan; Thomas Keehn, tenor; Leroy Davis, baritone; Anthony Hummel, bass; Barbara Zimet, piano.

Among the compositions to be presented are "The Lord is My Shepherd;" "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes Unto the Hills;" "Kaddish;" "Sonatina;" "Adonoy Eyl Rachum;" "Etz Chayim;" "Shofar Service;" "Liturgy for the Third Sabbath."

Leonard Zimet, a faculty member at Kingston High School, will play the late Dr. Isadore Freed's "Sonatina for Oboe" from the manuscript copy, accompanied by his wife, Barbara Zimet. Mr. Zimet has been oboist with the Indianapolis, Norfolk, Richmond Symphonies and the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. The Sonatina was premiered in New Jersey by Mr. Zimet in 1962.

The public is invited to attend.

B'nai B'rith Women Will Meet Tonight

Brotherhood of Man will be the theme of the B'nai B'rith Women's meeting tonight at 8:30 in the Jewish Community Center, 96 Maiden Lane. Mrs. Harvey Kronick, president, has announced the membership will be asked to preview a film to determine whether the organization will sponsor the program for use in local schools.

New members to be welcomed at the meeting include the Mmes. Gilbert Adin, William Eisen, Aaron Eldridge, Murray Fletcher, Nathan Katatsky, Harry Katzoff, Louis Klein, Benjamin Werbalowsky and Morton Werbalowsky.

These women will be presented with a newly designed pin by membership chairman Mrs. Edwin Kalish.

A proposed slate of officers for next year will be presented by the nominating committee which includes the Mmes. Edwin Kalish, Harvey Kronick, Robert Ronder, Seymour Semilof and Harry Speigel.

Plans for the annual Career Day to be held at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School on March 27 will be presented by chairman Mrs. Ira Shaw. On her committee are Mrs. Aaron Eldridge, co-chairman, Mrs. David Gally, publicity, Mrs. William Helmrich and Mrs. Alvin Motzkin, correspondence. The programming will be directed by Mrs. Nancy Grimm, Stephen Hyatt and Donald Germain of the Bailey School staff.

A delegate to represent Zephaniah Chapter at the National B'nai B'rith Women's Triennial Convention in Washington, D. C., will be appointed. The meetings will be held at the Shoreham Hotel from March 24-27.

Arrangements have been made for B'nai B'rith Women from Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Ellenville, Wallkill, Middletown and Kingston to visit the veterans at Castle Point Hospital on March 31. Polaroid pictures of each of the 350 patients will be taken and entertainment and refreshments will be provided for their enjoyment.

Hospitality for the meeting is under the direction of Mrs. C. Ross Ellis and Mrs. David Weinstein.

Y-Wives Plan Fashion Show

Mrs. Frank DiPietro, chairman of the Y-Wives fashion show, has announced final plans for the show which is scheduled for Tuesday, Mar. 5, at Bethany Hall, Old Dutch Church. The spring showing will be conducted by Sears Roebuck Company and will feature clothing for all ages.

Refreshment committee chairman, Mrs. Carl Nordstrom, has announced the following committee: the Mmes. Robert Finger Jr., Vernon Outwater, Terry Read.

Mrs. William Schrieber, ticket chairman, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Port, reports that tickets are on sale at the Y office and will also be sold at the door.

Publicity chairman, Mrs. Donald Simmons, has announced that posters have been displayed throughout the area.

Secretarial Group to Sponsor Seminar

Mrs. Christopher Starling, president of the local Colonial Valley Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International), has announced that the chapter will sponsor an evening seminar for all area secretaries on Monday, Mar. 18. Simultaneously, she also announced that Miss Lillian Styles, secretary to Dr. William B. Ittner III, manager of the local IBM-SDD laboratory, has been appointed as chairman for this program.

The seminar, "Flight to Secretarial Success," will feature two guest speakers who will discuss the role of today's secretaries in the business office as a member of the managerial team, the opportunities that are envisioned in the years to come, and the preparation required for these potential positions. In addition, there will be a portion devoted to the basic electronic data processing understanding and an "educational jet" session which will feature an informal, brief review of selected secretarial, office connected subjects.

Speakers for the seminar and additional information will be announced as plans progress.

Campaigning Wives Working Hard for Their Candidates

EDITOR'S NOTE—They're not running for president, but they are campaigning as hard as the candidates. They are the candidates' wives—Lenore Romney, Abigail McCarthy, Pat Nixon. All are out in New Hampshire now, shaking hands, making speeches, and kissing babies in dedicated, wifely campaigns for the Granite State primary March 12.

Whether there's a new Richard Nixon as some claim, mellowed and more relaxed, the women kept talking about the new Mrs. Nixon.

In the 1960 compaign, they agreed she frequently looked tense and sharp-featured, and although she put her heart and soul in to her handshaking, she seemed timid about making a misstep.

Eight years later she looks 10 years younger and prettier than she's been for a long time. Her face is fuller, her tawny hair more bouffant, her manner lighthearted.

Most Indefatigable

The most indefatigable campaigner on the New Hampshire primary circuit, including the candidates, is probably Lenore Romney, wife of Michigan's Republican governor and mother of four, grandmother of nine. She maintains a punishing pace six days a week, then flies home to Michigan to teach her Mormon Sunday School class.

Comfortable Springtime Shoes

Active living with the emphasis on comfort is the fashion byword for Spring 1968. And for Spring 1968, women across the nation, and especially in Kingston, anxiously await the fashionable new Penaljo's. This season they're styled for on-the-go active life.

It is a concluded fact that if a woman's feet hurt, her face bears the hard lines of anguish thus ruining her beauty. But you can be comfortable and still have foot beauty

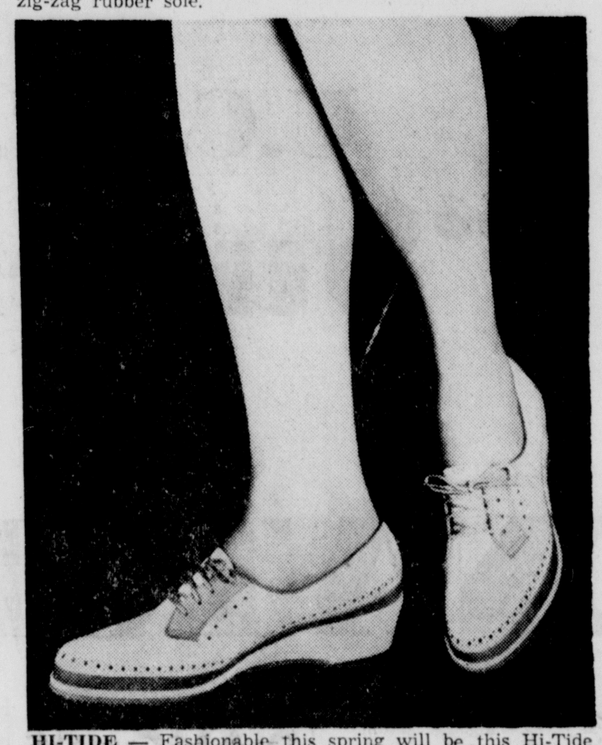
CHAMP — The winner for whatever spring brings. These shoes bring fashion-ease to pop art collecting or restaurant hopping. The styling blends fashion and comfort and carries it off on a smooth demi-wedge heel.



HI-TIDE — Fashionable this spring will be this Hi-Tide style complete with subtle zig-zag sole which makes it the most copied shoe. This is fashion comfort pay-off for spring.

Garden Clubs Plan Luncheon Meeting

The business meeting will open at 10 a.m. with reports of officers and district directors. During this session consideration will be given to proposed changes in the federation by-laws. The call letter states that names of club delegates and alternates must be received by the recording secretary at the federation office in New York City no later than March 1st.

Mrs. Lee R. Tompkins of Liberty, chairman of the meeting has announced that the theme for decorations and exhibits is to be "Spring Fever." Exhibits of special interest to garden club members will include Junior Garden Clubs and District Projects.

Luncheon awards for outstanding achievement will be presented to individuals and to garden clubs. Included will be recognition of excellence in garden therapy, horticulture and conservation work as well as flower shows. Mrs. Paul E. Cottrell of Buffalo is chairman of awards. Winners in the Civic Beautification Contest sponsored by Sears Roebuck and Company and the federation will be announced by Mrs. George T. Manuel of Garden City, chairman of the contest.

Andy Pauker on TV

Andy Pauker, son of Bernard Pauker of Kingston, was chosen to be one of three students representing his high school in Kew Gardens, N. Y., on a national television program.

The quiz show, "It's Academic," will be seen March 2 at 6 p.m. on NBC, Channel 4.

Legal Secretaries Hear Tax Talk

Miss Vera Wood, a field agent for the Internal Revenue Service, conducted a question and answer session concerning Income Tax Returns at the dinner-meeting of the Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association, a recently chartered local chapter of National Association of Legal Secretaries. The meeting was held Wednesday, Feb. 21, in the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. Miss Wood discussed the way to claim interest and deductions, auditing of tax returns, the new computer system used by the Internal Revenue Service, and Fiduciary Estate Tax Returns. Miss Wood was introduced by Mrs. Michael Maxson, program chairman.

The dinner began at 7 p.m., after which reports of the officers and discussion among the members took place. The group heard a report from Miss LaVerne Banach, corresponding secretary of the association and newly elected governor, covering the recent meeting of the New York State Association of Legal Secretaries which was held on January 27, at the Sheraton Tenny Inn in East Elmhurst, and which was attended by the following officers and members of the local association, Mrs. Christine Gallop, Mrs. Michael Maxson, Miss LaVerne Banach, Mrs. Audrey Gregorio and Mrs. Pat Vernooy.

Attending the meeting were 26 secretaries representing legal offices throughout Ulster County, including the officers of the Association, Mrs. Christine Gallop, president; Mrs. Vera Elliott, vice-president; Miss Frances Nitsche, recording secretary; Miss LaVerne Banach, corresponding secretary and governor; Mrs. Beatrice Zebree, treasurer and Mrs. Michael Maxson, NALS representative.

The Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association hold their dinner-meetings on the third Wednesday of each month. Any individual connected with the legal field is eligible for membership and is invited to attend the dinner-meetings, or if so desired, attend just the meetings, which begin at 8 p.m. Further information may be obtained from any of the officers or members of the association.

Dick Leibert Will Give Organ Recital

The Saugerties Organ Fund Committee will present an organ concert by Dick Leibert on Tuesday, Apr. 30, for the benefit of the organ fund.

Leibert, chief arganist at Radio City Music Hall since its opening, will be presented in a recital at 8 p.m. at Saugerties High School. He is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, and the American Guild of Organists, and is known from coast to coast as an organist and entertainer of genuine appeal to all tastes.

Persons interested in obtaining preferential seating are urged to contact Mrs. Harry Hoffman of Saugerties before March 1 for patron tickets. General admission tickets are available at Smith's Hardware, Saugerties, and the Kingston Music Center, Kingston.

Comfortable Springtime Shoes

Active living with the emphasis on comfort is the fashion byword for Spring 1968. And for Spring 1968, women across the nation, and especially in Kingston, anxiously await the fashionable new Penaljo's. This season they're styled for on-the-go active life.

It is a concluded fact that if a woman's feet hurt, her face bears the hard lines of anguish thus ruining her beauty. But you can be comfortable and still have foot beauty

There is lots of comfort around for milady's feet this spring—just make a choice!

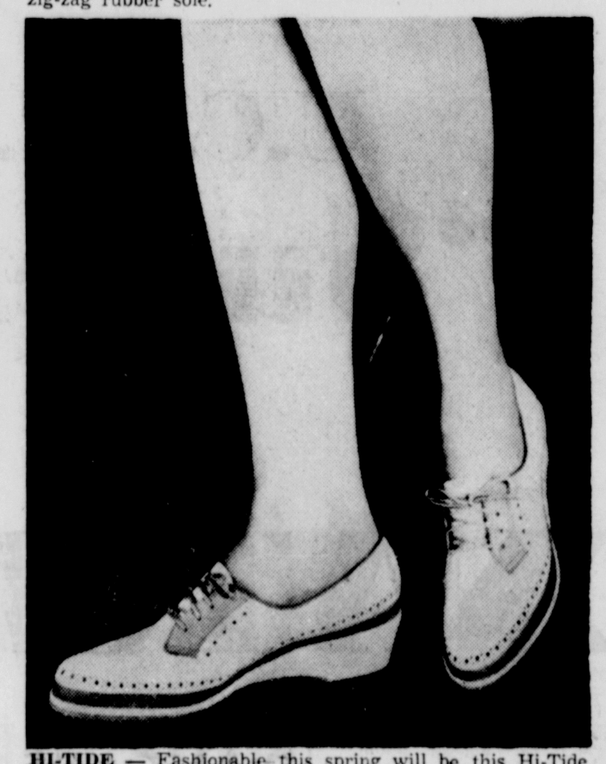
CHAMP — The winner for whatever spring brings. These shoes bring fashion-ease to pop art collecting or restaurant hopping. The styling blends fashion and comfort and carries it off on a smooth demi-wedge heel.



HI-TIDE — Fashionable this spring will be this Hi-Tide style complete with subtle zig-zag sole which makes it the most copied shoe. This is fashion comfort pay-off for spring.

Garden Clubs Plan Luncheon Meeting

The business meeting will open at 10 a.m. with reports of officers and district directors. During this session consideration will be given to proposed changes in the federation by-laws. The call letter states that names of club delegates and alternates must be received by the recording secretary at the federation office in New York City no later than March 1st.

Mrs. Lee R. Tompkins of Liberty, chairman of the meeting has announced that the theme for decorations and exhibits is to be "Spring Fever." Exhibits of special interest to garden club members will include Junior Garden Clubs and District Projects.

Luncheon awards for outstanding achievement will be presented to individuals and to garden clubs. Included will be recognition of excellence in garden therapy, horticulture and conservation work as well as flower shows. Mrs. Paul E. Cottrell of Buffalo is chairman of awards. Winners in the Civic Beautification Contest sponsored by Sears Roebuck and Company and the federation will be announced by Mrs. George T. Manuel of Garden City, chairman of the contest.

Andy Pauker on TV

Andy Pauker, son of Bernard Pauker of Kingston, was chosen to be one of three students representing his high school in Kew Gardens, N. Y., on a national television program.

The quiz show, "It's Academic," will be seen March 2 at 6 p.m. on NBC, Channel 4.

Legal Secretaries Hear Tax Talk

Miss Vera Wood, a field agent for the Internal Revenue Service, conducted a question and answer session concerning Income Tax Returns at the dinner-meeting of the Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association, a recently chartered local chapter of National Association of Legal Secretaries. The meeting was held Wednesday, Feb. 21, in the Governor Clinton Hotel in Kingston. Miss Wood discussed the way to claim interest and deductions, auditing of tax returns, the new computer system used by the Internal Revenue Service, and Fiduciary Estate Tax Returns. Miss Wood was introduced by Mrs. Michael Maxson, program chairman.

The dinner began at 7 p.m., after which reports of the officers and discussion among the members took place. The group heard a report from Miss LaVerne Banach, corresponding secretary of the association and newly elected governor, covering the recent meeting of the New York State Association of Legal Secretaries which was held on January 27, at the Sheraton Tenny Inn in East Elmhurst, and which was attended by the following officers and members of the local association, Mrs. Christine Gallop, Mrs. Michael Maxson, Miss LaVerne Banach, Mrs. Audrey Gregorio and Mrs. Pat Vernooy.

Attending the meeting were 26 secretaries representing legal offices throughout Ulster County, including the officers of the Association, Mrs. Christine Gallop, president; Mrs. Vera Elliott, vice-president; Miss Frances Nitsche, recording secretary; Miss LaVerne Banach, corresponding secretary and governor; Mrs. Beatrice Zebree, treasurer and Mrs. Michael Maxson, NALS representative.

The Ulster County Legal Secretaries Association hold their dinner-meetings on the third Wednesday of each month. Any individual connected with the legal field is eligible for membership and is invited to attend the dinner-meetings, or if so desired, attend just the meetings, which begin at 8 p.m. Further information may be obtained from any of the officers or members of the association.

Dick Leibert Will Give Organ Recital

The Saugerties Organ Fund Committee will present an organ concert by Dick Leibert on Tuesday, Apr. 30, for the benefit of the organ fund.

Leibert, chief arganist at Radio City Music Hall since its opening, will be presented in a recital at 8 p.m. at Saugerties High School. He is a member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, and the American Guild of Organists, and is known from coast to coast as an organist and entertainer of genuine appeal to all tastes.

Persons interested in obtaining preferential seating are urged to contact Mrs. Harry Hoffman of Saugerties before March 1 for patron tickets. General admission tickets are available at Smith's Hardware, Saugerties, and the Kingston Music Center, Kingston.

PROCESSED VEGETABLES

Supplies of canned and frozen vegetables are larger this season than last. Special sale reductions are likely on many items in the weeks ahead, says Louise M. Kakargo. February and March are good times to stock the pantry shelf and freezer with canned and frozen vegetables.

Total supplies of canned vegetables are moderately larger than the tight supplies of last season. Packs generally were much larger in 1967 than in 1966, but carryover stocks were relatively light. A review of some of the major canned vegetable items follows:

Snap beans: A record large supply of canned snap beans will be marketed this year. Top quality canned snap beans are one of the best vegetable buys today. Prices have come down somewhat, especially on cut green beans, making them the leading canned vegetable choice.

Corn: This year supplies are substantially larger than last, when they were short. In the East, supplies are double a year ago. Watch for price specials during February.

Peas: Supplies are much larger than year earlier. On January 1 stocks were 26 per cent heavier than last year. Watch for specials on canned peas.

Tomatoes and tomato products: The supply of canned tomatoes is the best in a number of years, up 11 per cent from last year. Stocks are much larger than the short supplies last year. Tomato juice is also much more abundant. The catsup supply is record large, 11 per cent more than the previous year. Our use of catsup has shown a tremendous growth in volume during the past 10 years. Consumers are buying catsup in larger bottles now. More family size bottles that hold 18 to 26 ounces are sold than any other size.

Other vegetables: Supplies of beets are up, as well as carrots, spinach, and sauerkraut. Sauerkraut was in very short supply last year, the prices are still relatively high for this vegetable despite the larger amount packed this year.

Frozen vegetable supplies reach new record. Frozen vegetable supplies are much larger than last season with sizable increases reported for all the fried potatoes. Supplies of major frozen vegetables, according to cold storage holdings as of January 1, are as follows:

French fried potatoes: Stocks of frozen French fries are down 6 per cent from a year ago. Consumption of this popular vegetable continues to rise each year, and processors are not packing enough to keep up with the growing demand. Prices for frozen French fries are holding steady.

Snap beans: Supplies of snap beans are the largest of all the frozen vegetables, up 27 per cent from last year. Stocks of regular cut green beans are one-third greater than the year likely on frozen snap beans.

Peas: Supplies of frozen peas are much larger than last year, with freezer holdings up 21 per cent. Consumption of frozen peas has been rising each year.

Lima beans: Supplies of frozen lima beans are up substantially, 12 per cent more than last year. The increase for baby limas is much greater than for the Fordhooks.

Other frozen vegetables: Stocks of frozen spinach are up 17 per cent. Spinach is an outstanding frozen vegetable buy. Supplies of frozen broccoli and carrots are also higher.

Helpful Hints

A frozen ice is usually made from sweetened fruit juice; a sherbet is an ice that ha segg white or gelatin added—and sometimes milk is used for part of the fruit juice.

If your cake has a coarse texture, you may have added too much leavening. Insufficient creaming of fat and sugar may also be to blame.

Go Get 'em!

Supplies of canned and frozen vegetables are larger this season than last. Special sale reductions are likely on many items in the weeks ahead, says Louise M. Kakargo. February and March are good times to stock the pantry shelf and freezer with canned and frozen vegetables.

Total supplies of canned vegetables are moderately larger than the tight supplies of last season. Packs generally were much larger in 1967 than in 1966, but carryover stocks were relatively light. A review of some of the major canned vegetable items follows:

Snap beans: A record large supply of canned snap beans will be marketed this year. Top quality canned snap beans are one of the best vegetable buys today. Prices have come down somewhat, especially on cut green beans, making them the leading canned vegetable choice.

Corn: This year supplies are substantially larger than last, when they were short. In the East, supplies are double a year ago. Watch for price specials during February.

Peas: Supplies are much larger than year earlier. On January 1 stocks were 26 per cent heavier than last year. Watch for specials on canned peas.

Tomatoes and tomato products: The supply of canned tomatoes is the best in a number of years, up 11 per cent from last year. Stocks are much larger than the short supplies last year. Tomato juice is also much more abundant. The catsup supply is record large, 11 per cent more than the previous year. Our use of catsup has shown a tremendous growth in volume during the past 10 years. Consumers are buying catsup in larger bottles now. More family size bottles that hold 18 to 26 ounces are sold than any other size.

Other vegetables: Supplies of beets are up, as well as carrots, spinach, and sauerkraut. Sauerkraut was in very short supply last year, the prices are still relatively high for this vegetable despite the larger amount packed this year.

Frozen vegetable supplies reach new record. Frozen vegetable supplies are much larger than last season with sizable increases reported for all the fried potatoes. Supplies of major frozen vegetables, according to cold storage holdings as of January 1, are as follows:

French fried potatoes: Stocks of frozen French fries are down 6 per cent from a year ago. Consumption of this popular vegetable continues to rise each year, and processors are not packing enough to keep up with the growing demand. Prices for frozen French fries are holding steady.

Snap beans: Supplies of snap beans are the largest of all the frozen vegetables, up 27 per cent from last year. Stocks of regular cut green beans are one-third greater than the year likely on frozen snap beans.

Peas: Supplies of frozen peas are much larger than last year, with freezer holdings up 21 per cent. Consumption of frozen peas has been rising each year.

Lima beans: Supplies of frozen lima beans are up substantially, 12 per cent more than last year. The increase for baby limas is much greater than for the Fordhooks.

Other frozen vegetables: Stocks of frozen spinach are up 17 per cent. Spinach is an outstanding frozen vegetable buy. Supplies of frozen broccoli and carrots are also higher.

By THOMAS A. REEDY

LONDON (AP) — The witching age to start thinking about retirement—and doing something about it—is 55, a panel of British experts has concluded.

According to the panel, at 55, man should regard the old carcass as something like an automobile which needs checking from time to time for "preventive maintenance."

If facilities for this would be available in hospitals and clinics, a man reaching retirement at 65 would by then have nipped all sorts of things in the bud. He would be in the habit of periodic checkups and would really have learned how to loaf.

The recommendations came from the Pre-Retirement Association, an organization of doctors, social workers and similarly interested community leaders who contend it is a lot easier to learn how to work than to learn how to quit.

Opinions were culled from medical circles, sociologists and the government's Ministry of Health which summed up their conclusions into this broad proposal:

Government ministries of health, labor and social security should take the lead in setting up a group of management, trade union and medical interests for a pilot plan. Family doctors would play a key role but would have the immediate advise of special consultants on both health and welfare problems.

Thus the working population, at age 55, would gradually be fed into a system that would gear Dad to view his retirement from a higher plane than a wheelchair.

The association's report commented:

"There is a great deal of emphasis placed today on learning how to grow healthily and happily from childhood through adolescence to adult life. The same emphasis must be put on the needs and demands of development from middle life to the full maturity of age."

Regular checkups would help the aging man to recognize the aches and pains he ought to expect and put them in their proper perspective. At the same time any serious ailments that may have otherwise gone undetected, would be disclosed.

Modern man is achieving longevity at such a pace, the panel warned, that Britain will have 10 million men over 65 in retirement—between one-fifth and one-sixth of the population—20 years from now. This calls for action now.

Illness and Injuries Plague Our Trenton-Bound Senators

When Ulster County Community College basketball coach Mike Perry led the UCCC contingent out of Kingston at 2:30 this afternoon, he was a troubled man.

Perry's 24-2 Senators departed Kingston's municipal auditorium en route to Trenton, N.J. where the Senators are the third-ranked team in the Region XV basketball Tournament.

Entering a post-season tourney for the very first time is troublesome enough for a coach. Compound that with concern over the health of three starting players, (the top scorer and the best rebounder are two of them) and you can readily sympathize with the problem-burdened Perry.

UCCC's top scorer, Joe Uhl, worked out last night for the first time in five days. A boil on the side of his right foot kept the Blond Bomber away. Perry says it has been troublesome all year. Lanced twice previously, the boil refused to disappear. It was lanced again Monday night and Perry reports that it looks better now than any time before.

Although Uhl participated lightly in the workout at Kate Walton Field House (it has the same dimensions as Steinert High school's gym—the tourney court), Perry thought Uhl's shooting was very good.

Concerned About Hanna

Perry's most concerned about the possible loss of center Leon Hanna, a 6-foot-3 jumping jack who is listed as a "doubtful starter."

Hanna managed to overcome cuts (stitches required) over both eyes, a deeply slashed thumb and split lip, only to sprain an ankle.

Perry's pivot man missed UCCC's final game against Rockland. Perry will not make a decision on Hanna's status until he watches Leon in tonight's workout on the Steinert gym (scheduled from 7-8).

If no improvement is shown, Mike will hold off a decision until game time. Should Leon be unable to start at that time, Perry can call on Stan (Bertie—pronounced Bert Tee) Henderson, who goes 6-foot-2. Also in reserve is Howie Mayfield, another leaper, although Mayfield is three inches shorter than Hanna.

The final casualty is Bill Zilliox, Perry's 6-1 forward. Zilliox had to bypass the Rockland encounter with the flu, returning to action just yesterday.

Zilliox's strength and endurance are the question mark—causing Perry to wonder if Bill can go a full 40 minutes if necessary.

Ulster's schedule calls for a 5:30 check-in at the Motor Inn Motel to stash away the baggage. At 6:30, Perry plans a trip to Steinert to dress for the one-hour practice.

Off-Duty Schedule

After the workout, it's back to the motel and manning the television sets. Perry wants the squad to watch either the pro game or the LIU-St. Peter's contest, hoping to keep the players concentration on basketball. A midnight curfew is in store.

Game-day, tomorrow, has the Senators up and out by 10 a. m. Free to see the city until 4 in the afternoon, Perry will reassemble his charges, returning to the motel to shower and/or relax.

At five, it's back to Steinert to catch some of the Sullivan-FIT game (Sullivan just did get by Dutchess last night, (71-70) before suiting up for the round clash at 6:15 p. m.

Perry wants to stay for the two games that follow. Wesley and Robert Morris meet at 8:15 (UCCC, if it wins, must play the winner Friday) while the Mercer-Manhattan tilt debuts at 10:15.

Ulster will stay for the two games, win or lose. A Senator win (they are favored) moves them into the semi-finals Friday. Perry said that if Brandywine won out, he and his squad would return to Kingston Friday morning.

Perry has one more decision to make besides determining Hanna's status.

Pawling's two-one-two zone proved 100 per cent effective Tuesday night, stopping favored Red Hook 64-53, and giving Pawling the Small School Championship of the DCSL.

Bill Dalskein, Pawling coach, feared the tremendous balance in Red Hook's starting lineup. Realizing he had to come up with a stopper, Dalskein went to the chalk board and figured out that the 2-1-2 would be most effective against a team like the Hookers.

Red Hook boasted five starters averaging more than 10 a game. Although the Hookers held a small edge as far as team records go, (16-1 against Pawling's 15-3), Dalskein figured he could checkmate Red Hook's offensive drive with the zone.

The Hookers faced tremendous pressure, with the superior record, Red Hook figured romp and with a win, take down its third Small School title in as many years.

Pawling, vying for its first crown, jumped out to a 15-10 opening period lead. The zone encased Red Hook tightly, cutting off the offensive power.

The teams played to an 11-apiece standoff in the second period. Pawling, still up by five, trooped off at halftime leading 26-21.

Trying a box-and-one, a one-three-one and nearly everything else in an effort to stop Kevin, Red Hook fell behind, having to concentrate its efforts on defense.

Caring not, Kevin once raced down the lane, took three Hookers with him, and slipped the ball inside the rim for a two-point layup.

With Aiken drawing the majority of defenders, Guy Capalbo and Jim Cunningham found themselves open and hit for 11 between them, pacing a Pawling 17-11 third period edge.

Heading into the closing stanza, Pawling held a nine-point edge, 43-34. Dalskein, knowing the explosive power of Red Hook's offense, was prepared to change defenses, if necessary, for the showdown quarter.

Red Hook did not make a single offensive change, so Dalskein stayed with the 2-1-2. Red Hook made its greatest penetration in the final period, (19 markers) but now the Hookers had to forget about holding Kevin. He responded with a 10-point effort. Pawling completed the mastery, meshing two more than RH's 19.

Outscoring the Hooker's in all four periods, Pawling coasted home with a final 11-point margin despite having to win it at the foul line (20-9 as both scored 22 field goals).

Rolling for UCCC will be John Schatzel, Lou Kolano, Don Gregorius, Joe Mannello and John Whitaker. The locals were invited on the basis of the Metropolitan CC league championship and second place in the Region XV tournament of the NJCAA.

Jayvees Notch Tenth Victory

Kingston High Jayvees led all the way to trounce Port Jervis Jayvees, 60-42, for their 10th win in 16 starts in the 1967-68 basketball season which ended last night at Port Jervis.

Jerry Barber potted 19 points and Bill Brady and Rocky Johnson had 14 apiece, as Coach Mike Rienzo's Maroons jumped to a 17-7 first period lead and were never threatened.

The Maroon Victory: Toughie to the End

Kingston High School wound up one of its most successful seasons in 20 years Tuesday night, dumping a surprisingly stubborn Port Jervis team, 76-69, to complete a perfect 10-0 DUSO League record. It marked the end of a sparkling 17-1 overall year.

It was the Maroon's 13th straight win after dropping a non-league contest to White Plains. Yet they had a difficult time against the resurgent Red Raiders, having to win its seventh game this year at the foul line.

KHS, behind Bruce Gilligan's two field goals, opened an 18-14 first period lead. Bruce's brother, Ken, also had four—on a field goal and two foul shots—as did center Ray Lindhorst (a pair of free throws around a bucket).

Ken and Bruce were most of KHS' second quarter attack Bruce dumped in seven and Ken six. Add to this Ed Byman's four fouls and the four markers chalked up by Jerry Corrado, KHS thus tallied 23 while Port's balanced scoring netted 22, giving Kingston a five point halftime edge, 41-36.

The Maroon garnered 20 in the third, usually their strongest period. On the other end, Port could only get 14—as a result, KHS went into the final period with an 11-point bulge, 61-50.

Within Three Points

Hauber tossed in four buckets, Tom McCooey three and Joe Wilson two. The explosion chipped away at the KHS lead. With the final minute rapidly approaching, Port trailed 71-69.

Kingston refused to fold, despite the tremendous pressure applied by the 1-9 Raiders. Ed Byman, who wound up with 13, jumped inside from his guard position for one play. The 5-foot-10 guard picked off a rebound, went back up, shot, and scored. This made the score, 73-69, but Byman wasn't through.

Fouled on the play, he calmly stepped to the charity stripe. Handed the ball, Byman bounced it a few times, brought it chest high and let fly. Swish, in it went and KHS was up by five, 74-69.

Port, battling desperately, tried to score but missed. KHS moved quickly downcourt off the rebound. The pass went to Ken Gilligan and Ken promptly drilled a 20-foot jumper.

Kingston stole a Port pass. The zone press coach Jack Gilligan installed proved worthy, forcing the bad throw. With KHS in possession, it was all over for Port. The Maroon shifted into the stall; Port couldn't get the ball; and the 76-69 score stood up as the final.

Both squads shot 28-69 from the floor for 41%. The Kingston difference was at the foul line. Converting 20 of 29 fouls, KHS won it as Port only tallied tallied 13, taking 20 chances from the free throw line. KHS

Another KHS factor was rebounding. Kingston controlled the boards, 49-29, a huge margin. It was an unusually high number of KHS turnovers that helped Port stay alive. The Maroon committed 23. Port just 18.

In other games, Middletown stopped Liberty 75-66 and Poughkeepsie downed Newburgh, 56-47.

Illness and Injuries Plague Our Trenton-Bound Senators

When Ulster County Community College basketball coach Mike Perry led the UCCC contingent out of Kingston at 2:30 this afternoon, he was a troubled man.

Perry's 24-2 Senators departed Kingston's municipal auditorium en route to Trenton, N.J. where the Senators are the third-ranked team in the Region XV basketball Tournament.

Entering a post-season tourney for the very first time is troublesome enough for a coach. Compound that with concern over the health of three starting players, (the top scorer and the best rebounder are two of them) and you can readily sympathize with the problem-burdened Perry.

UCCC's top scorer, Joe Uhl, worked out last night for the first time in five days. A boil on the side of his right foot kept the Blond Bomber away. Perry says it has been troublesome all year. Lanced twice previously, the boil refused to disappear. It was lanced again Monday night and Perry reports that it looks better now than any time before.

Although Uhl participated lightly in the workout at Kate Walton Field House (it has the same dimensions as Steinert High school's gym—the tourney court), Perry thought Uhl's shooting was very good.

Concerned About Hanna

Perry's most concerned about the possible loss of center Leon Hanna, a 6-foot-3 jumping jack who is listed as a "doubtful starter."

Hanna managed to overcome cuts (stitches required) over both eyes, a deeply slashed thumb and split lip, only to sprain an ankle.

Perry's pivot man missed UCCC's final game against Rockland. Perry will not make a decision on Hanna's status until he watches Leon in tonight's workout on the Steinert gym (scheduled from 7-8).

If no improvement is shown, Mike will hold off a decision until game time. Should Leon be unable to start at that time, Perry can call on Stan (Bertie—pronounced Bert Tee) Henderson, who goes 6-foot-2. Also in reserve is Howie Mayfield, another leaper, although Mayfield is three inches shorter than Hanna.

The final casualty is Bill Zilliox, Perry's 6-1 forward. Zilliox had to bypass the Rockland encounter with the flu, returning to action just yesterday.

Zilliox's strength and endurance are the question mark—causing Perry to wonder if Bill can go a full 40 minutes if necessary.

Ulster's schedule calls for a 5:30 check-in at the Motor Inn Motel to stash away the baggage. At 6:30, Perry plans a trip to Steinert to dress for the one-hour practice.

Off-Duty Schedule

After the workout, it's back to the motel and manning the television sets. Perry wants the squad to watch either the pro game or the LIU-St. Peter's contest, hoping to keep the players concentration on basketball. A midnight curfew is in store.

Game-day, tomorrow, has the Senators up and out by 10 a. m. Free to see the city until 4 in the afternoon, Perry will reassemble his charges, returning to the motel to shower and/or relax.

At five, it's back to Steinert to catch some of the Sullivan-FIT game (Sullivan just did get by Dutchess last night, (71-70) before suiting up for the round clash at 6:15 p. m.

Perry wants to stay for the two games that follow. Wesley and Robert Morris meet at 8:15 (UCCC, if it wins, must play the winner Friday) while the Mercer-Manhattan tilt debuts at 10:15.

Ulster will stay for the two games, win or lose. A Senator win (they are favored) moves them into the semi-finals Friday. Perry said that if Brandywine won out, he and his squad would return to Kingston Friday morning.

Perry has one more decision to make besides determining Hanna's status.

Pawling's two-one-two zone proved 100 per cent effective Tuesday night, stopping favored Red Hook 64-53, and giving Pawling the Small School Championship of the DCSL.

Bill Dalskein, Pawling coach, feared the tremendous balance in Red Hook's starting lineup. Realizing he had to come up with a stopper, Dalskein went to the chalk board and figured out that the 2-1-2 would be most effective against a team like the Hookers.

Red Hook boasted five starters averaging more than 10 a game. Although the Hookers held a small edge as far as team records go, (16-1 against Pawling's 15-3), Dalskein figured he could checkmate Red Hook's offensive drive with the zone.

The Hookers faced tremendous pressure, with the superior record, Red Hook figured romp and with a win, take down its third Small School title in as many years.

Pawling, vying for its first crown, jumped out to a 15-10 opening period lead. The zone encased Red Hook tightly, cutting off the offensive power.

The teams played to an 11-apiece standoff in the second period. Pawling, still up by five, trooped off at halftime leading 26-21.

Trying a box-and-one, a one-three-one and nearly everything else in an effort to stop Kevin, Red Hook fell behind, having to concentrate its efforts on defense.

Caring not, Kevin once raced down the lane, took three Hookers with him, and slipped the ball inside the rim for a two-point layup.

With Aiken drawing the majority of defenders, Guy Capalbo and Jim Cunningham found themselves open and hit for 11 between them, pacing a Pawling 17-11 third period edge.

Heading into the closing stanza, Pawling held a nine-point edge, 43-34. Dalskein, knowing the explosive power of Red Hook's offense, was prepared to change defenses, if necessary, for the showdown quarter.

Red Hook did not make a single offensive change, so Dalskein stayed with the 2-1-2. Red Hook made its greatest penetration in the final period, (19 markers) but now the Hookers had to forget about holding Kevin. He responded with a 10-point effort, meshing two more than RH's 19.

Outscoring the Hooker's in all four periods, Pawling coasted home with a final 11-point margin despite having to win it at the foul line (20-9 as both scored 22 field goals).

The Maroon Victory: Toughie to the End

Kingston High School wound up one of its most successful seasons in 20 years Tuesday night, dumping a surprisingly stubborn Port Jervis team, 76-69, to complete a perfect 10-0 DUSO League record. It marked the end of a sparkling 17-1 overall year.

It was the Maroon's 13th straight win after dropping a non-league contest to White Plains. Yet they had a difficult time against the resurgent Red Raiders, having to win its seventh game this year at the foul line.

KHS, behind Bruce Gilligan's two field goals, opened an 18-14 first period lead. Bruce's brother, Ken, also had four—on a field goal and two foul shots—as did center Ray Lindhorst (a pair of free throws around a bucket).

Ken and Bruce were most of KHS' second quarter attack Bruce dumped in seven and Ken six. Add to this Ed Byman's four fouls and the four markers chalked up by Jerry Corrado, KHS thus tallied 23 while Port's balanced scoring netted 22, giving Kingston a five point halftime edge, 41-36.

The Maroon garnered 20 in the third, usually their strongest period. On the other end, Port could only get 14—as a result, KHS went into the final period with an 11-point bulge, 61-50.

Within Three Points

Hauber tossed in four buckets, Tom McCooey three and Joe Wilson two. The explosion chipped away at the KHS lead. With the final minute rapidly approaching, Port trailed 71-69.

Kingston refused to fold, despite the tremendous pressure applied by the 1-9 Raiders. Ed Byman, who wound up with 13, jumped inside from his guard position for one play. The 5-foot-10 guard picked off a rebound, went back up, shot, and scored. This made the score, 73-69, but Byman wasn't through.

Fouled on the play, he calmly stepped to the charity stripe. Handed the ball, Byman bounced it a few times, brought it chest high and let fly. Swish, in it went and KHS was up by five, 74-69.

Port, battling desperately, tried to score but missed. KHS moved quickly downcourt off the rebound. The pass went to Ken Gilligan and Ken promptly drilled a 20-foot jumper.

Kingston stole a Port pass. The zone press coach Jack Gilligan installed proved worthy, forcing the bad throw. With KHS in possession, it was all over for Port. The Maroon shifted into the stall; Port couldn't get the ball; and the 76-69 score stood up as the final.

Both squads shot 28-69 from the floor for 41%. The Kingston difference was at the foul line. Converting 20 of 29 fouls, KHS won it as Port only tallied tallied 13, taking 20 chances from the free throw line. KHS

Another KHS factor was rebounding. Kingston controlled the boards, 49-29, a huge margin. It was an unusually high number of KHS turnovers that helped Port stay alive. The Maroon committed 23. Port just 18.

In other games, Middletown stopped Liberty 75-66 and Poughkeepsie downed Newburgh, 56-47.

Pete Koola Leads Ganders With 26

Rondout Valley Sweeps Past OCS for UCAL Title

By MIKE HELFNER
(Freeman Sports Staff)

"I think it took him some time to find himself in the first half. I would have to say that in the second, he grew up and became the ballplayer we felt he is and will be."

That's coach John Meehan, Sr.'s quote about Pete Koola, the sophomore who sparked Rondout Valley to the UCAL championship Tuesday night. The contest was a special playoff against Onteora—necessitated by the teams identical 10-2 UCAL records.

Koola, at 6-foot-4, was the tallest player on the court. He used that height to dump in 15 fourth-quarter points, bringing his total of 26. He helped RV rally from a first-half deficit to win by what sounds like a lopsided 18-point margin.

Koola garnered a total of five in the opening two periods. He added six in the third stanza, but the big 15 in the finale (including four buckets in a row) was the telling blow. It was Rondout's first title in 10 years.

Jump to 7-1 Lead

Koola tallied a pair of deuces in the second quarter, combining with teammate Gordy Taylor's six to keep the Ganders within six of OCS.

Mickey Bush (five) and Paul Pettinato (four) paced OCS' attack. The teams were even 14-14, as OCS took at 27-21 edge into the dressing room.

Rondout experienced turnover trouble in the first half. Combined with that was Koola's reluctance to shoot, thus RV was down.

During intermission, coach Meehan made some changes. He added what he calls the "Turnover Defensive Pattern," and shifted from the 2-3 to a 3-2 by moving Taylor outside as the third guard.

Pettinato led off with a bucket for OCS, so the lead jumped to eight, 29-21 within one minute. That was OCS' lone field goal of the period. The Indians went dry until 6:30 of the fourth —an 8:30 span.

Builds Momentum

Rondout built momentum despite failing to register on its first three shots. In the meantime, OCS seemed to be losing its first-half confidence.

OCS sent shot after shot up, all going astray. Now forcing, OCS made costly mistakes in an effort to offset the inspired Ganders.

Koola took charge, driving for a layup, and chipping another duece off the lead. OCS, shooting long, continued miss against the 2-1-2 zone. Samms clicked at 4:29 and RV trailed by just two, 29-27.

John Meehan Jr. followed with a foul to slice it by one more. As RV took command, Koola canned a layup and foul for a three point play with 3:39 left. It gave RV the lead for the first time, 31-29.

Rondout kept the pressure on in the fourth. Meehan Jr. popped from 20-feet, upping the new-found lead to 34-30 in the first seven seconds.

Koola Takes Over

Onteora, still battling, went down when Koola took matters into his hands. Performing what looked like magic, Koola netted four straight layups. At the 5:08 mark, RV led 42-33.

Koola led all scorers by a healthy margin. The runner-up, Taylor, finished 10 back at 16. OCS marked three double figure players. Patrick and Pettinato tossed in 12 apiece while Bush ended with 10.

Koola's ankle hurt so much, he had difficulty walking on it. He feels, however, that it will be all right by the time the Section Nine Tournament rolls around.

Koola's Version

Koola felt the key to the second half surge was RV's ability to move the ball. He helped twice by leading the fast break — something he rarely does — throwing off OCS's defensive alignment.

The coach, beaming over the triumph, felt RV's second half aggressiveness combined with Onteora's defensive shift set up the victory.

"They gave us a little more room to shoot. We looked for better shots, got them and, as a result, took over control—something I had hoped we would do earlier," Coach Meehan said.

"They (OCS) attempted to match our second-half momentum. In the first half, they worked for the better shots—the mark of a good team—but did the opposite in the second," the coach said.

Meehan Pleased

"It was a very satisfying win — a championship came with it," coach Meehan added. "Winning a title is your goal anytime you undertake a new season. The game brought forth some shining stars, each contributing to the championship season."

"I think," he continued, "that the turning point in the season was the second Marlboro game —that's when we had Marlboro at home. We had an unusually hot hand against them. This game gave us a little momentum. We met Onteora under the same ('Must Win') terms on our home court and did the same kind of job. These were the two teams to beat in our league, I felt."

His final statement perhaps summed up the crown-winning season best: "I feel this (RV) club is a little better. I told them this from the beginning of the year. I told them from the very first ball game that the only thing they had to watch out for—and be aware of—is the fact that they tended to be a little afraid when put in a tight spot. If you're going to play ball, you should look for ball games where there's a lot of pressure—you play your best in these games."

Coleman Trips Kennedy in Finale, 62-52

John A. Coleman School cagers thumped arch rival John F. Kennedy School, 62-52, Tuesday to conclude its 1967-68 season with an impressive 12-6 record.

The Statesmen are now looking forward to the first jump ball of the 1968-69 season which will mark their elevation to full varsity status.

A 24-10 margin in the second half set the pattern for the contest. Coleman's led 11-9 at the quarter and walked into the locker room for the halftime recess with a 35-19 bulge.

Coleman piled up a 52-32 lead going into the stretch when Kennedy made its best showing with a 20-10 edge.

The trio of Pat Harder, Craig Renn and Hank Harder dominated the boards, pulling down 16, 14 and 11, respectively. The same trio were th offensive leaders, with Harder hitting 18, brother Hank 15 and Renn 11.

The efforts of the Harder brothers enabled Coleman to hold its lead in the fourth quarter. John Fitzgerald and Chris Seche were high in assists, with 6 and 5, respectively. Their timely passes to Hank and Pat Harder enabled Coleman to score several key baskets that gave them the push they needed to launch several scoring sprees.

The 36-year-old first baseman, who switched from center field last year, will be starting his 18th season with the Yanks. He batted .245 with 22 home runs in 144 games in 1967.

Mantle, a three-time American League Most Valuable Player, has 518 lifetime homers. He needs only four more homers to overhaul the retired Ted Williams, who is fourth on the all-time list.

Mantle's signing was announced at a morning press conference. He arrived in camp Monday night.

Magic Number Is '9' For Knicks and 76ers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Philadelphia drew its nine Tuesday night by drubbing San Francisco 127-107. The Knicks kept their nine by losing 108-102 to St. Louis.

The 9s are the won-lost combinations Philadelphia needs for its third straight Eastern Division title and New York needs to grab third in the East for its highest finish since the 1958-59 season when the Knicks were second.

Any combination of Philadelphia victories and or Boston losses would give the 76ers the championship. In New York's case, the combination involves Baltimore, which is fourth, the final playoff spot.

Wilt Scores 33

Wilt Chamberlain, who is becoming accustomed to the winner's share of regular-season bonus money, led Philadelphia by pouring in 33 points, grabbing 31 rebounds and handing out five assists. Chet Walker contributed 30 points and 16 rebounds for the 76ers who increased their lead to 5½ games over second-place Boston. Fred Hetzel scored 30 points for San Francisco, third in the Western Division.

St. Louis, first in the West, got off the 9 kick, reducing its magic number to eight with its victory, which at first looked easy but turned out to be anything but easy.

The Hawks, with Len Wilkens getting 13 points, outscored New York 35-17 in the second period for a 62-45 lead. But New York, with Cazzie Russell hitting 18 of his 19 points in the second half, rallied to tie at 97-97 on Dick Barnett's basket.

Then, Don Ohl sandwiched a pair of free throws and a basket around a foul shot by New York's Balt Bellamy and Lou Hudson followed Ohl's field goal with one of his own to clinch it for the Hawks.

Wilkens and teammate Zelmo Beatty each scored 26 points. Barnett led New York with 22 and Willis Reed added 21.

Elgin Baylor kept Los Angeles six games behind St. Louis and knocked Cincinnati out of a tie with Baltimore by scoring 40 points. Jerry Lucas led Cincinnati with 31.

Los Angeles once again played without injured Jerry West, and the Royals had to use a sub-par Oscar Robertson. The Big O, hampered by an injury to his right side, scored only 11.

Pete Koola Leads Ganders With 26

Rondout Valley Sweeps Past OCS for UCAL Title

(Freeman Sports Staff)

"I think it took him some time to find himself in the first half. I would have to say that in the second, he grew up and became the ballplayer we felt he is and will be."

That's coach John Meehan, Sr.'s quote about Pete Koola, the sophomore who sparked Rondout Valley to the UCAL championship Tuesday night. The contest was a special playoff against Onteora—necessitated by the teams identical 10-2 UCAL records.

Koola, at 6-foot-4, was the tallest player on the court. He used that height to dump in 15 fourth-quarter points, bringing his total of 26. He helped RV rally from a first-half deficit to win by what sounds like a lopsided 18-point margin.

The contest was much closer than the final tally indicates. A tremendous second half — a complete reversal from the first —gave RV the title.

Koola garnered a total of five in the opening two periods. He added six in the third stanza, but the big 15 in the finale (including four buckets in a row) was the telling blow. It was Rondout's first title in 10 years.

Jump to 7-1 Lead

Koola tallied a pair of deuces in the second quarter, combining with teammate Gordy Taylor's six to keep the Ganders within six of OCS.

Mickey Bush (five) and Paul Pettinato (four) paced OCS' attack. The teams were even 14-14, as OCS took at 27-21 edge into the dressing room.

Rondout experienced turnover trouble in the first half. Combined with that was Koola's reluctance to shoot, thus RV was down.

During intermission, coach Meehan made some changes. He added what he calls the "Turnover Defensive Pattern," and shifted from the 2-3 to a 3-2 by moving Taylor outside as the third guard.

Pettinato led off with a bucket for OCS, so the lead jumped to eight, 29-21 within one minute. That was OCS' lone field goal of the period. The Indians went dry until 6:30 of the fourth —an 8:30 span.

Builds Momentum

Rondout built momentum despite failing to register on its first three shots. In the meantime, OCS seemed to be losing its first-half confidence.

OCS sent shot after shot up, all going astray. Now forcing, OCS made costly mistakes in an effort to offset the inspired Ganders.

Koola took charge, driving for a layup, and chipping another duece off the lead. OCS, shooting long, continued miss against the 2-1-2 zone. Samms clicked at 4:29 and RV trailed by just two, 29-27.

John Meehan Jr. followed with a foul to slice it by one more. As RV took command, Koola canned a layup and foul for a three point play with 3:39 left. It gave RV the lead for the first time, 31-29.

For all intents and purposes, OCS, unable to find the inside of the hoop, was done.

RV won the period battle, 11-3, as OCS took seven (15 total) more shots, failing to cash any. They did get a foul by Patrick at the 1:05 mark.

Rondout kept the pressure on in the fourth. Meehan Jr. popped from 20-feet, upping the new-found lead to 34-30 in the first seven seconds.

Koola Takes Over

Onteora, still battling, went down when Koola took matters into his hands. Performing what looked like magic, Koola netted four straight layups. At the 5:08 mark, RV led 42-33.

Koola led all scorers by a healthy margin. The runner-up, Taylor, finished 10 back at 16. OCS marked three double figure players. Patrick and Pettinato tossed in 12 apiece while Bush ended with 10.

Koola's ankle hurt so much, he had difficulty walking on it. He feels, however, that it will be all right by the time the Section Nine Tournament rolls around.

Koola's Version

Koola felt the key to the second half surge was RV's ability to move the ball. He helped twice by leading the fast break — something he rarely does — throwing off OCS's defensive alignment.

The coach, beaming over the triumph, felt RV's second half aggressiveness combined with Onteora's defensive shift set up the victory.

"They gave us a little more room to shoot. We looked for better shots, got them and, as a result, took over control—something I had hoped we would do earlier," Coach Meehan said.

"They (OCS) attempted to match our second-half momentum. In the first half, they worked for the better shots—the mark of a good team—but did the opposite in the second," the coach said.

"We played skittish—scared pool—unsure ball in the first half. My players asserted themselves after halftime look at the result," he added.

Meehan Pleased

"It was a very satisfying win — a championship came with it," coach Meehan added. "Winning a title is your goal anytime you undertake a new season. The game brought forth some shining stars, each contributing to the championship season."

"I think," he continued, "that the turning point in the season was the second Marlboro game —that's when we had Marlboro at home. We had an unusually hot hand against them. This game gave us a little momentum. We met Onteora under the same ('Must Win') terms on our home court and did the same kind of job. These were the two teams to beat in our league, I felt."

His final statement perhaps summed up the crown-winning season best: "I feel this (RV) club is a little better. I told them this from the beginning of the year. I told them from the very first ball game that the only thing they had to watch out for—and be aware of—is the fact that they tended to be a little afraid when put in a tight spot. If you're going to play ball, you should look for ball games where there's a lot of pressure—you play your best in these games."

John A. Coleman School cagers thumped arch rival John F. Kennedy School, 62-52, Tuesday to conclude its 1967-68 season with an impressive 12-6 record.

The Statesmen are now looking forward to the first jump ball of the 1968-69 season which will mark their elevation to full varsity status.

A 24-10 margin in the second half set the pattern for the contest. Coleman's led 11-9 at the quarter and walked into the locker room for the halftime recess with a 35-19 bulge.

Coleman piled up a 52-32 lead going into the stretch when Kennedy made its best showing with a 20-10 edge.

The trio of Pat Harder, Craig Renn and Hank Harder dominated the boards, pulling down 16, 14 and 11, respectively. The same trio were th offensive leaders, with Harder hitting 18, brother Hank 15 and Renn 11.

The efforts of the Harder brothers enabled Coleman to hold its lead in the fourth quarter. John Fitzgerald and Chris Seche were high in assists, with 6 and 5, respectively. Their timely passes to Hank and Pat Harder enabled Coleman to score several key baskets that gave them the push they needed to launch several scoring sprees.

Coleman (62)	FG	FP	T	Kennedy (52)	FG	FP	T

Magic Number Is '9' For Knicks and 76ers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a pair of 9s for the Philadelphia 76ers and the New York Knickerbockers. In the pot are playoff positions and money based on the final National Basketball Association regular-season standings.

Philadelphia drew its nine Tuesday night by drubbing San Francisco 127-107. The Knicks kept their nine by losing 108-102 to St. Louis.

The 9s are the won-lost combinations Philadelphia needs for its third straight Eastern Division title and New York needs to grab third in the East for its highest finish since the 1958-59 season when the Knicks were second.

Any combination of Philadelphia victories and or Boston losses would give the 76ers the championship. In New York's case, the combination involves Baltimore, which is fourth, the final playoff spot.

Wilt Scores 33

Wilt Chamberlain, who is becoming accustomed to the winner's share of regular-season bonus money, led Philadelphia by pouring in 33 points, grabbing 31 rebounds and handing out five assists. Chet Walker contributed 30 points and 16 rebounds for the 76ers who increased their lead to 5½ games over second-place Boston. Fred Hetzel scored 30 points for San Francisco, third in the Western Division.

St. Louis, first in the West, got off the 9 kick, reducing its magic number to eight with its victory, which at first looked easy but turned out to be anything but easy.

The Hawks, with Len Wilkens getting 13 points, outscored New York 35-17 in the second period for a 62-45 lead. But New York, with Cazzie Russell hitting 18 of his 19 points in the second half, rallied to tie at 97-97 on Dick Barnett's basket.

Then, Don Ohl sandwiched a pair of free throws and a basket around a foul shot by New York's Balt Bellamy and Lou Hudson followed Ohl's field goal with one of his own to clinch it for the Hawks.

Wilkens and teammate Zelmo Beatty each scored 26 points. Barnett led New York with 22 and Willis Reed added 21.

Elgin Baylor kept Los Angeles six games behind St. Louis and knocked Cincinnati out of a tie with Baltimore by scoring 40 points. Jerry Lucas led Cincinnati with 31.

Los Angeles once again played without injured Jerry West, and the Royals had to use a sub-par Oscar Robertson. The Big O, hampered by an injury to his right side, scored only 11.

Founded four years ago, the chapter is headed by Don Warren of Shokan as president. Clifford Schwarz of Poughkeepsie is vice president and Mrs. Vera Warren serves as secretary-treasurer. Other chapters are located at Clearwater, Binghamton and Congers, part of the nationwide organization.

Contrary to the belief held by many trout fishermen they are not strictly a fly-fishing group. Many of its members, however, are some of the finest purists in the area. Their main goal may be summed up briefly: Stand up tall, for cool, clear water—for tomorrow's trout fishing and recreation.

They are in constant touch and work with the Conservation Department in trying to keep the waters in our area free of pollution. They attend state water quality hearings and participate in the stream improvement program. They are always willing to cooperate with local clubs in bringing about better trout fishing.

A dinner meeting of the club is scheduled March 14 at the Retreat on Route 28 and all trout fishermen are invited. This is a fine organization and deserves the support of everyone interested in preserving the excellent trout streams we have in this area.

FROM OUR CONTACT: Ernie Beesmer of Olive Bridge, Jim Markle and Buzzy Lockwood of Marbletown, all members of the Vly Sportsman Club, are three sportsmen who get a lot of mileage from their hunting and fishing licenses.

Starting with trout fishing and following it up with bass fishing helps them round out the spring and summer months. Then it's a hectic experience sandwiching in goose hunting from field blinds in quest of the Canadian honkers when they fly to and from the Ashokan reservoir to their favorite feeding grounds. Then there is jump shooting at mallards and blacks on local water holes and still trying to find enough time to stalk a buck during those overlapping seasons.

When things return to normal, they are satisfied to run their dogs after a few cottontails and snowshoes there in the foothills. Follow all this activity by getting out the tipups and try for some pickerel, perch and crappies.

On a recent Sunday, with the temperature at zero, while chasing some 'flags', one of the trio was heard to remark that he didn't know what he would do in the month of March except get ready for a brand new trout season. Would you believe that these fellows even found time to race stock cars when the Onteora Speedway track was in operation.?

SOME SHORT TAKES: Don Keator, an employe of the New York City Department of Water Supply at Ashokan spotted a wild turkey on Feb. 15 on the city property at Brodhead.

Can spring be far behind? The excellent trap shooting facilities in nearby St. Remy seem to be attracting large numbers of enthusiastic local business, professional men and women. Latest to join the group is uptown lawyer Harry Gold, who has expressed a strong desire to get his eye back in shape busting the clay birds

Everett Short of High Woods, Bill Reynolds of Mt. Marion and Charlie Shader of Centerville had a fine finish to the rabbit season Saturday in Albany county. Now, Old Rip and Mrs. Rip are looking forward to spaghetti and rabbit from Mrs. Shader's fine cooking.

Tommy Maines and our own Sherwood Lasher had a nice, invigorating walk Sunday in the Stone Ridge area, they ended their rabbit season without a single bang.

OLD RIP WONDERS: Why go ice fishing when there's plenty in the refrigerator? A corny question by a Saugerties reader—Art Sharret. Oh, well, it looks like we have another 'character' in our midst.

It's All Real Crazy Atop Cage Standings

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Any resemblance between the Big Ten, Big Eight and Southwest Conference basketball standings of Tuesday and Wednesday is purely accidental.

The Big Ten, which had a two-way tie, now has Iowa all alone at the top. The Big Eight, which also had a two-way tie, shows Kansas State in the lead but four teams bunched within one game of each other. And Texas, which had been the Southwest leader, slipped into a three-way deadlock with Baylor and Texas Christian.

While those three leagues were trying to determine their representatives in the NCAA tournament, two tourney-bound teams were in action Tuesday night. All Top Ten clubs in the Associated Press Poll were idle.

At New York, NCAA-bound St. John's jolted National Invitation Tournament hopeful Holy Cross 83-67 in a sloppily-played game, despite 31 points by the losers Keith Hochstein.

At South Bend, Ind., Bob Arnzen and Bob Whitemore combined for 63 points and led NIT-bound Notre Dame past Valpa-87-75. The 6-foot-5 Arnzen scored a season's high 35 points while 6-7 Whitmore had 28 and pushed his two-year total to 1,-023.

Three other teams continued their efforts to impress the NIT selection committee. Villanova, with Johnny Jones sinking eight straight shots in the first half and scoring 30 points, edged Toledo 71-69, but almost blew a seven-point lead in the last two minutes in its own field house.

Sophomore Chad Calabria, a 6-1 guard, scored 11 quick points as Iowa took a 14-3 lead over Michigan State and rolled to a 76-58 victory at Iowa City. Calabria finished with 25 points and Sam Williams added 22 as the Hawkeyes took a half-game lead over idle Ohio State and a full game over Purdue, which lost to Michigan 104-94.

A 52.4 per cent shooting mark and Rick Mount's 35 points were not enough for Purdue. The Boilermakers made only six of 12 free throws while Michigan connected on 20 of 31. Rudy Tomjanovich scored 30 points as the Wolverines dedicated their new University Events Arena.

Kansas State took over the Big Eight lead by whipping Missouri 70-63, while Kansas bowed to Nebraska 76-69 and Iowa State was idle. The standings show Kansas State at 8-3, Iowa State 7-3, Nebraska 8-4 and Kansas 7-4.

Steve Honeycutt scored 27 points and 7-1 Nick Pino grabbed 16 rebounds to spark Kansas State past Missouri. The Wildcats are at Iowa State next Monday in a key battle.

Stu Lantz scored 22 points as Nebraska dropped Kansas from its share of the lead. But the big surprise was Bob Gratopp, a 6-4 sophomore, who netted 21 points and hauled down 13 rebounds against the taller Jayhawks.

The three-way tie in the Southwest's annual rodeo came about when Texas Christian beat Texas 71-65 and Baylor defeated Arkansas 71-64. The three leaders have 8-5 records. Texas A&M missed a chance to make it a four-way deadlock by dropping an 83-81 double overtime game to Texas Tech.

Other scores:

Founded four years ago, the chapter is headed by Don Warren of Shokan as president. Clifford Schwarz of Poughkeepsie is vice president and Mrs. Vera Warren serves as secretary-treasurer. Other chapters are located at Clearwater, Binghamton and Congers, part of the nationwide organization.

Contrary to the belief held by many trout fishermen they are not strictly a fly-fishing group. Many of its members, however, are some of the finest purists in the area. Their main goal may be summed up briefly: Stand up tall, for cool, clear water—for tomorrow's trout fishing and recreation.

They are in constant touch and work with the Conservation Department in trying to keep the waters in our area free of pollution. They attend state water quality hearings and participate in the stream improvement program. They are always willing to cooperate with local clubs in bringing about better trout fishing.

A dinner meeting of the club is scheduled March 14 at the Retreat on Route 28 and all trout fishermen are invited. This is a fine organization and deserves the support of everyone interested in preserving the excellent trout streams we have in this area.

FROM OUR CONTACT: Ernie Beesmer of Olive Bridge, Jim Markle and Buzzy Lockwood of Marbletown, all members of the Vly Sportsman Club, are three sportsmen who get a lot of mileage from their hunting and fishing licenses.

Starting with trout fishing and following it up with bass fishing helps them round out the spring and summer months. Then it's a hectic experience sandwiching in goose hunting from field blinds in quest of the Canadian honkers when they fly to and from the Ashokan reservoir to their favorite feeding grounds. Then there is jump shooting at mallards and blacks on local water holes and still trying to find enough time to stalk a buck during those overlapping seasons.

When things return to normal, they are satisfied to run their dogs after a few cottontails and snowshoes there in the foothills. Follow all this activity by getting out the tipups and try for some pickerel, perch and crappies.

On a recent Sunday, with the temperature at zero, while chasing some 'flags', one of the trio was heard to remark that he didn't know what he would do in the month of March except get ready for a brand new trout season. Would you believe that these fellows even found time to race stock cars when the Onteora Speedway track was in operation?

SOME SHORT TAKES: Don Keator, an employe of the New York City Department of Water Supply at Ashokan spotted a wild turkey on Feb. 15 on the city property at Brodhead.

Can spring be far behind? The excellent trap shooting facilities in nearby St. Remy seem to be attracting large numbers of enthusiastic local business, professional men and women. Latest to join the group is uptown lawyer Harry Gold, who has expressed a strong desire to get his eye back in shape busting the clay birds

Everett Short of High Woods, Bill Reynolds of Mt. Marion and Charlie Shader of Centerville had a fine finish to the rabbit season Saturday in Albany county. Now, Old Rip and Mrs. Rip are looking forward to spaghetti and rabbit from Mrs. Shader's fine cooking.

Tommy Maines and our own Sherwood Lasher had a nice, invigorating walk Sunday in the Stone Ridge area, they ended their rabbit season without a single bang.

OLD RIP WONDERS: Why go ice fishing when there's plenty in the refrigerator? A corny question by a Saugerties reader—Art Sharret. Oh, well, it looks like we have another 'character' in our midst.

It's All Real Crazy Atop Cage Standings

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Any resemblance between the Big Ten, Big Eight and Southwest Conference basketball standings of Tuesday and Wednesday is purely accidental.

The Big Ten, which had a two-way tie, now has Iowa all alone at the top. The Big Eight, which also had a two-way tie, shows Kansas State in the lead but four teams bunched within one game of each other. And Texas, which had been the Southwest leader, slipped into a three-way deadlock with Baylor and Texas Christian.

While those three leagues were trying to determine their representatives in the NCAA tournament, two tourney-bound teams were in action Tuesday night. All Top Ten clubs in the Associated Press Poll were idle.

At New York, NCAA-bound St. John's jolted National Invitation Tournament hopeful Holy Cross 83-67 in a sloppily-played game, despite 31 points by the losers' Keith Hochstein.

At South Bend, Ind., Bob Arnzen and Bob Whitemore combined for 63 points and led NIT-bound Notre Dame past Valpa-87-75. The 6-foot-5 Arnzen scored a season's high 35 points while 6-7 Whitmore had 28 and pushed his two-year total to 1,023.

Three other teams continued their efforts to impress the NIT selection committee. Villanova, with Johnny Jones sinking eight straight shots in the first half and scoring 30 points, edged Toledo 71-69, but almost blew a seven-point lead in the last two minutes in its own field house.

Sophomore Chad Calabria, a 6-1 guard, scored 11 quick points as Iowa took a 14-3 lead over Michigan State and rolled to a 76-58 victory at Iowa City. Calabria finished with 25 points and Sam Williams added 22 as the Hawkeyes took a half-game lead over idle Ohio State and a full game over Purdue, which lost to Michigan 104-94.

A 52.4 per cent shooting mark and Rick Mount's 35 points were not enough for Purdue. The Boilermakers made only six of 12 free throws while Michigan connected on 20 of 31. Rudy Tomjanovich scored 30 points as the Wolverines dedicated their new University Events Arena.

Kansas State took over the Big Eight lead by whipping Missouri 70-63, while Kansas bowed to Nebraska 76-69 and Iowa State was idle. The standings show Kansas State at 8-3, Iowa State 7-3, Nebraska 8-4 and Kansas 7-4.

Steve Honeycutt scored 27 points and 7-1 Nick Pino grabbed 16 rebounds to spark Kansas State past Missouri. The Wildcats are at Iowa State next Monday in a key battle.

Stu Lantz scored 22 points as Nebraska dropped Kansas from its share of the lead. But the big surprise was Bob Gratopp, a 6-4 sophomore, who netted 21 points and hauled down 13 rebounds against the taller Jayhawks.

The three-way tie in the Southwest's annual rodeo came about when Texas Christian beat Texas 71-65 and Baylor defeated Arkansas 71-64. The three leaders have 8-5 records. Texas A&M missed a chance to make it a four-way deadlock by dropping an 83-81 double overtime game to Texas Tech.

Other scores:

KWBA's Opener Saturday

Kingston Woman's Bowling Association launches its 27th annual tournament Saturday at Ferraro's Bowlerama. Team events are scheduled March 2 and March 9, with singles and doubles, March 3 and March 10.

Pop Singer Campbell Heading for Fame

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To the outsider, the pop music field seems to offer ample opportunity to get rich in a hurry. Glen Campbell, a handsome six-footer from Delight, Ark., knows better.

For five years, Campbell played guitar for record artists like Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin and for movie scores such as "Cool Hand Luke" and "In the Heat of the Night." Meanwhile he tried to establish himself as a singer, but met with scant success. Finally last December he hit with a haunting lament, "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

New Year's Resoultion

"That's when I made a New Year's resolution," he recalls. "I vowed to give up accompanying other singers and devote full time to my own career."

The resolve was fiscally more brave than it seems. Campbell was turning his back on a career that earned him a handsome $50,000 a year and was embarking on the chancey life of a pop singer.

"Believe me, I know how tough it can be," he remarked. "I've played for recording sessions of some of these teen-age sensations, and I've seen them come and go. Nothing can be less permanent than a singer who hits with one smash record. Where is Chubby Checker right now?"

Campbell's career seems to be on firmer ground. He has followed up the "Phoenix" hit by playing concert dates all over the country. His most promising opportunity will come this summer when he takes over as a host of the Smothers Brothers replacement show. Tommy Smothers, one of Glen's most enthusiastic supporters, will produce the show.

Successful Qualifications

Campbell has the qualifications for success: a clear and expressive style that compensates for what he lacks in timbre; an ingratiating manner unspoiled by false humility; superb musicianship.

He started playing guitar back in Arkansas when he was 6, and by the time he was 8 he had his own radio show—"no pay, just cards and letters." The seventh son of a family that included eight sons and four daughters, Glen joined an uncle's band in Albuquerque as a teen-ager, then toured with his own outfit. After traveling 105,000 miles in a station wagon for 11 months, he decided to settle down in Hollywood. His skill with the guitar made him much in demand for record sessions.

Oil Burner Blamed for Fire in City

A faulty oil burner brought Kingston firefighters from Central, Wiltwyck and the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company to a two-story house at 219 Downs Street early this morning to combat a small blaze but a great deal of smoke.

The call was received at the Central Fire House at about 6:08 a. m. from an E. Buboltz, a tenent at the Downs Street address.

Two engines and two trucks arrived from the Central and Wiltwyck stations along with an engine and salvage truck from Wicks.

According to a Fire Department spokesman, there was smoke damage to the first and second floors of the house and the cause of the blaze was listed as a faulty oil burner.

Camp-o-rama Plans Finalized

Plans for the Ulster County Camp-o-rama were finalized at a meeting of the three Ulster County Chapters of National Campers and Hikers Assn. which was held at the New Paltz Branch of the Highland National Bank, New Paltz recently.

The Camp-o-rama, the largest in Ulster County, will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at the Ulster County Fair Grounds, New Paltz. This event will be the first event held at the Ulster County Fair Grounds other than the Ulster County Fair and shows connected with the 4-H Club extension service.

As previously announced, camping will be available to the National Campers and Hikers Assn. only, but the display of commercial exhibitors, camping equipment, and the individually owned units will be open to the public, free of charge between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Saturday, April 27, and between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Killed in Collision

NAPIERVILLE, Que. (AP) — A 19 - year - old boy was killed Tuesday when his snowmobile and a Delaware & Hudson passenger train collided near this community 15 miles north of the New York border.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To the outsider, the pop music field seems to offer ample opportunity to get rich in a hurry. Glen Campbell, a handsome six-footer from Delight, Ark., knows better.

For five years, Campbell played guitar for record artists like Frank Sinatra and Dean Martin and for movie scores such as "Cool Hand Luke" and "In the Heat of the Night." Meanwhile he tried to establish himself as a singer, but met with scant success. Finally last December he hit with a haunting lament, "By the Time I Get to Phoenix."

New Year's Resoultion

"That's when I made a New Year's resolution," he recalls. "I vowed to give up accompanying other singers and devote full time to my own career."

The resolve was fiscally more brave than it seems. Campbell was turning his back on a career that earned him a handsome $50,000 a year and was embarking on the chancey life of a pop singer.

"Believe me, I know how tough it can be," he remarked. "I've played for recording sessions of some of these teen-age sensations, and I've seen them come and go. Nothing can be less permanent than a singer who hits with one smash record. Where is Chubby Checker right now?"

Campbell's career seems to be on firmer ground. He has followed up the "Phoenix" hit by playing concert dates all over the country. His most promising opportunity will come this summer when he takes over as a host of the Smothers Brothers replacement show. Tommy Smothers, one of Glen's most enthusiastic supporters, will produce the show.

Successful Qualifications

Campbell has the qualifications for success: a clear and expressive style that compensates for what he lacks in timbre; an ingratiating manner unspoiled by false humility; superb musicianship.

He started playing guitar back in Arkansas when he was 6, and by the time he was 8 he had his own radio show—"no pay, just cards and letters." The seventh son of a family that included eight sons and four daughters, Glen joined an uncle's band in Albuquerque as a teen-ager, then toured with his own outfit. After traveling 105,000 miles in a station wagon for 11 months, he decided to settle down in Hollywood. His skill with the guitar made him much in demand for record sessions.

Oil Burner Blamed for Fire in City

A faulty oil burner brought Kingston firefighters from Central, Wiltwyck and the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company to a two-story house at 219 Downs Street early this morning to combat a small blaze but a great deal of smoke.

The call was received at the Central Fire House at about 6:08 a. m. from an E. Buboltz, a tenent at the Downs Street address.

Two engines and two trucks arrived from the Central and Wiltwyck stations along with an engine and salvage truck from Wicks.

Upon arrival, firemen, under the direction of Captain Robert Schatzel, found it was the oil burner that was at the center of the fire.

According to a Fire Department spokesman, there was smoke damage to the first and second floors of the house and the cause of the blaze was listed as a faulty oil burner.

Camp-o-rama Plans Finalized

Plans for the Ulster County Camp-o-rama were finalized at a meeting of the three Ulster County Chapters of National Campers and Hikers Assn. which was held at the New Paltz Branch of the Highland National Bank, New Paltz recently.

The Camp-o-rama, the largest in Ulster County, will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at the Ulster County Fair Grounds, New Paltz. This event will be the first event held at the Ulster County Fair Grounds other than the Ulster County Fair and shows connected with the 4-H Club extension service.

As previously announced, camping will be available to the National Campers and Hikers Assn. only, but the display of commercial exhibitors, camping equipment, and the individually owned units will be open to the public, free of charge between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Saturday, April 27, and between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Killed in Collision

NAPIERVILLE, Que. (AP) — A 19 - year - old boy was killed Tuesday when his snowmobile and a Delaware & Hudson passenger train collided near this community 15 miles north of the New York border.

Dear Abby

Please Come to Rescue

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR BBY: When we have a priest to dinner, as we frequently do, we always ask him to say the blessings before the meals. Now, after much thought on the subject, we are wondering if this isn't a little presumptuous of us.

I don't want to disrupt tradition, but I would like to know how priests, ministers, and rabbis feel about this?

Should the host say the blessing at his own table as he always does even when a clergyman is present? Or out of courtesy to the clergyman, should he be offered the opportunity to say the grace?

I guess what I really want to know is this: How does the clergyman feel about this? Does he resent being 'put to work" by being asked to say the blessing when he is a guest? Or would he feel slighted if the man of the house treated him as any other guest, and said the blessing himself? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Here's a letter for priests, ministers, and rabbis to answer. I'll publish their replies because I'm sure that many other readers are also puzzled.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an age old one. My husband and I are in our early forties, and up to now I have always thought we had a good marriage. (We have five wonderful children.)

Recently while going thru his pants pockets before sending his suit to the cleaners, I came across a half-finished letter he had written to some woman. In it he thanked God for giving him such a person to love. My world came crashing down. I knew something was not quite right, but I put it down to job pressure.

I have thought of committing suicide, but who will take care of my children?

I pray my husband will soon come to his senses before our lives are ruined. Please print this letter, Abby. He may read it and realize what he is doing to all of us.

HEARTSICK IN HAWAII

DEAR HEARTSICK: And what if he doesn't see it? The only solution to your problem is to tell your husband you saw that letter. The next move will be his.

DEAR ABBY: The 15-year-old girl who was "in trouble" could have been my "twin." The only difference between us was that I listened to my mother (for once in my life) and decided to go to a home for unwed mothers and give THE (not MY) baby up for adoption.

During my pregnancy I had lots of time to think. I learned a lot about life as it really is, not the way it's pictured in books and magazines, and from the junk you see on TV and in the movies, and hear on records. I acquired a good set of morals—something I never had before. While a new life grew inside me, a new and better ME grew, too.

I am 17, back in school and plan on going on to college. I am going with a very nice boy now. We like each other a lot, but I keep our relations restricted.

I hope that girl listens to you and her mother, Abby. This is not the end of the world for her. It is only the beginning and she can make it beautiful if she tries. Thank you for letting me say this.

BEEN THERE AND BACK

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote in complaining because she attended a golden wedding reception and was served home-baked cake instead of the beautiful baker's creation on the buffet table.

I'll bet that cake was one of those plastic beauties they rent out for centerpieces. I once saw a woman try to scrape a bit of "frosting" off one of those cakes with her finger. Boy, was she surprised!

How to Avoid Slam Pitfalls

Before pursuing our discussion of Blackwood we want to start with the warning that the Blackwood convention should only be used when you intend definitely to bid a slam and merely wish to make sure that you have enough aces. In other words it's really for the purpose of keeping you out of impossible slams, not to get you to bad ones.

The next thing to remember about the convention is that there are plenty of slams that should be bid without recourse to Blackwood at all.

Specifically, you avoid Blackwood anytime you have a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit. The reason for this is that if your partner's response shows that there is exactly one ace held against you, you won't know whether or not to bid the slam.

We cover this by the following rule: We never use Blackwood unless we plan to bid a small slam any time our partner's response shows that our side holds three of the four aces.

How do you invite or bid a slam without using Blackwood? Easy! You use cue bids.

The bidding in the box shows how the winning pair in a team match stayed out of trouble. South was really interested in a slam after his partner jumped to four hearts. He was even interested in a grand slam but saw no reason to bid Blackwood. He merely bid five clubs.

Alliance: In international politics the union of two thieves who have their hands so deeply in each other's pockets that they cannot separately plunder a third.

Dr. Boles, preparing to give a neighborhood lad an aptitude test, put a pitchfork, a wrench, and a hammer on the desk and told his pretty young nurse,

Doctor Boles—If he grabs the pitchfork, he'll be a farmer. If he grabs the wrench, he'll be a mechanic. If he grabs the hammer, he'll be a carpenter.

But the lad crossed up Dr. Boles completely.

He grabbed the nurse.

Enrico Caruso—No man is so well known as he thinks he is. While motoring in New York down and I sought refuge in a farmhouse while the car was being repaired. I became friendly with the farmer, who asked me my name and I told him it was Caruso.

The farmer leaped to his feet and seized me by the hand.

Skelton's One-Man Delights

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Once a year Red Skelton treats the television audience to a one-man show in which the performer does what he does best—pantomime. His Tuesday night CBS hour for this season was a taped program of a pantomime performance he recently gave on a New York stage for an audience drawn from the United Nations.

Skelton, a master of the silent art, was by turns funny and sad, gay and wistful, staggeringly drunk and shaking with old age. He moved from one characterization to another with ease, used few props in most of his sketches and delighted his audience.

Can't Resist Slappstick

Although there were announcers on hand to give the names of Skelton's numbers—"A Girl Dressing in the Morning," "Man at a Drive-in Movie"—in English and French—the veteran clown had no problems of communication with anybody.

One of the most moving of his sketches was an old man watching a parade. And he apparently can not resist slapstick. Perhaps the least effective number in the show was the one in which he had some help, playing a raffish old man conducting a courtship with the agile little old lady next door.

The first part of the program was a sort of illustrated briefing on the Tet offnsive by the North Vietnamese, some interviews with military men and experts, with emphasis on the breakdown of the pacification program. Most interesting was presented his "personal, subjective" thoughts about the situation. His impression, generally, is that the conflict is mired in stalemate, that the character of the conflict has changed now that the North Vietnamese have switched from guerrilla tactics to "a more Western style of war."

It was not an optimistic report, and Cronkite gave it in cautious language.

Diahann in NBC Fold

NBC, announcing what it called "a firm schedule" for next season, says it has included a half-hour comedy-drama series starring Diahann Carroll, the Negro singing star of Broadway's "No Strings," and frequently a TV variety performer. The program is called "Julia."

The network also said that the variety show it has planned for late Sunday nights starting in September will be hosted by Phyllis Diller. The comedienne will work with guest stars.

Other new programs scheduled include "Adam 12," a police series; "The Outsider," a private-eye show; "The Name of the Game," action-adventure; "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," comedy.

Recommended tonight: "Present Laughter," ABC, 9-11 EST, adaptation of Noel Coward's 25-year-old comedy, with Peter O'Toole and Honor Blackman.

Skelton's One-Man Delights

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Once a year Red Skelton treats the television audience to a one-man show in which the performer does what he does best—pantomime. His Tuesday night CBS hour for this season was a taped program of a pantomime performance he recently gave on a New York stage for an audience drawn from the United Nations.

Skelton, a master of the silent art, was by turns funny and sad, gay and wistful, staggeringly drunk and shaking with old age. He moved from one characterization to another with ease, used few props in most of his sketches and delighted his audience.

Can't Resist Slapstick

Although there were announcers on hand to give the names of Skelton's numbers—"A Girl Dressing in the Morning," "Man at a Drive-in Movie"—in English and French—the veteran clown had no problems of communication with anybody.

One of the most moving of his sketches was an old man watching a parade. And he apparently can not resist slapstick. Perhaps the least effective number in the show was the one in which he had some help, playing a raffish old man conducting a courtship with the agile little old lady next door.

The first part of the program was a sort of illustrated briefing on the Tet offnsive by the North Vietnamese, some interviews with military men and experts, with emphasis on the breakdown of the pacification program. Most interesting was presented his "personal, subjective" thoughts about the situation. His impression, generally, is that the conflict is mired in stalemate, that the character of the conflict has changed now that the North Vietnamese have switched from guerrilla tactics to "a more Western style of war."

It was not an optimistic report, and Cronkite gave it in cautious language.

Diahann in NBC Fold

NBC, announcing what it called "a firm schedule" for next season, says it has included a half-hour comedy-drama series starring Diahann Carroll, the Negro singing star of Broadway's "No Strings," and frequently a TV variety performer. The program is called "Julia."

The network also said that the variety show it has planned for late Sunday nights starting in September will be hosted by Phyllis Diller. The comedienne will work with guest stars.

Other new programs scheduled include "Adam 12," a police series; "The Outsider," a private-eye show; "The Name of the Game," action-adventure; "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," comedy.

Rocky Looks for Slum Plan Backing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller looked for rank-and-file support in the legislature today for his "revolutionary" plan to assign a giant, billion-dollar superagency for the job of rebuilding city slums, even where local authorities object.

The Republican governor had all the top legislative leaders behind him Tuesday when he advanced his proposal to attack urban blight by various bold means, including one to strip communities of their most coveted home-rule powers.

Key Rockefeller aides said he fully expected howls of protest from local authorities but was bent on pushing his program through, on the ground that localities have failed to cope adequately with urban decay.

"We're sliding backward," the governor told a news conference, in reference to improving slum areas. "Drastic measures are needed."

"Nothing risked, nothing gained," Rockefeller remarked when reporters pressed him on whether he was certain his approach had adequate safeguards to protect local sovereignty.

Rockefeller, who is rated a possibility for the Republican presidential nomination despite his avowals of uninterest, projected his ideas from a nationwide perspective. When asked whether he would recommend his plan as a model for the nation, he smiled and said, "I certainly would."

Among the big questions being asked today was whether the legislative leaders pledged to back him can round up enough rank-and-file votes amid almost inevitable cries of rage from municipal authorities.

At the heart of the sweeping program is a proposal to set up an Urban Development Corporation, empowered to borrow $1 billion to help carry out its work, working either as a financial agent for private interests, or, if necessary, as a developer itself of large-scale building projects.

The corporation, to be administered by a nine-member board of directors representing the public and state government, would:

— Have power to condemn blighted property to clear the ground for housing, industrial and related construction.

—Pay no local real-estate taxes. But the state would reimburse localities for 50 per cent of the tax loss.

—Be empowered to ignore local zoning and building code regulations in planning its work. Rockefeller said the agency would apply the state building code standards.

—Have the authority to move into a community without the consent of local authorities and begin tearing down buildings.

When a reporter late rasked whether Rockefeller foresaw corporation inspection teams roving the state to find and outline prospective target areas for reconstruciotn, the governor said, "Yes, certainly. What's so difficult about that?"

And, the newsman asked, for example, if the inspection team determined a housuing project should be built in White Plains, "Would it be done?"

"Sure," Rockefeller said, "Why not?"

During the news conference, Rockefeller voiced hope that the program would encourage private interests to put up at least $5 for every $1 the corporation put into slum-renewal projects. That could mean a total investment of $6 billion, but the governor added, "It could go higher than that."

Companion bills introduced Tuesday would set up two other corporations to perform allied functions.

One, the Corporation for Urban Development and Research in New York, would strive to acquire property for industrial and residential development, emphasizing work on one-to-four family homes.

It would be financed through private gifts and grants and from the sale of its own revenue bonds.

The development and research agency also would do research aimed at finding new techniques for design, cost-cutting and rapid construction. It would not, however, have the power to condemn property, and housing built by its subsidiaries would not be exempt from local real-estate taxes. However, its industrial projects would be exempt from such taxes.

The third agency, the proposed Urban Development Guarantee Fund, would guarantee loans to home - owners and small businessmen who could show they were unable to obtain credit from normal sources.

The fund would obtain its capital from private gifts and grants and from loan-insurance premiums paid by the borrowers.

No More on Tonkin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee reportedly plans no further hearings on the disputed Gulf of Tonkin incidents.

It will push instead, a committee source says, for asserting a congressional iron hand over U.S. military commitments.

In questioning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara last week the committee chairman, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated he might want to call more witnesses. But the sources said the senator had changed his mind.

"Unless the administration trots out more celebrities to be interviewed, the committee won't go any further," the sources said, referring to interviews granted recently by Capt. John J. Herrick, who commanded the two destroyers involved in the Tonkin incidents.

"Sen. Fulbright is quite satisfied that the committee has made its point. That was to make clear that the Gulf of Tonkin incident lifted from Congress and the public the right to debate the issues in Vietnam."

Congress, with Fulbright leading the way, passed a resolution empowering the President "to take all necessary measures" to prevent further aggression after the two destroyers reported they were attacked in the gulf by North Vietnamese boats.

President Johnson and top aides have frequently cited the 1964 resolution as authority for subsequently increasing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Pained at this interpretation, the Foreign Relations Committee last November passed a national commitments resolution. Fulbright will take it to the Senate floor next month.

Joint resolutions such as those pertaining to Formosa, the Middle East and the Gulf of Tonkin are a proper method of granting authority, provided that they are precise as to what is to be done and for what period of time, and provided that they do in fact grant authority and not merely express approval of undefined action to be taken by says.

It would require that Congress, in considering resolutions "involving the use or possible use of the armed forces":
